

Is the AES/ SDG&E battery storage facility safe for Fallbrook?

Julie Reeder
Publisher

This is in response to concerns on social media Sunday morning, May 21, from Friends of Fallbrook community members addressing the 40-megawatt battery storage facility on a 4.22-acre site in the 1400 block of East Mission Road.

The controversy stems from the misunderstanding that the Fallbrook battery storage facility is designed the same as other larger battery storage facilities that have had accidents in the last few years. Such as the one in Surprise, Arizona, where eight firemen were injured.

The Village News has been writing about this facility for years. See the link below for more complete information. The Fallbrook facility is built differently. It's built with 8' by 8' cubes. They are isolated from each other. If they burn, they have deflagration panels on the roof that allow the pressure of the container to release through the roof. The Surprise, Arizona BESS facility did not have deflagration panels, according to North County Fire Protection District PIO Capt. John Choi.

"If they burn, they have deflagration panels on the roof which will open up and the pressure will be released," Choi said. "There's no explosion hazard because of the design of the cubes. The one in Surprise, Arizona was a bigger container without deflagration panels. Fallbrook has a smaller design concept."

Choi believes there is no inherent hazard to our community. If there is an incident, the fire department is prepared to mitigate it.

"We would use HAZMAT and plume monitoring and evacuate if necessary," said Choi.

The 40-megawatt battery storage facility, built by AES Energy Storage and to be sold to SDG&E, is the largest battery storage facility in the San Diego region. The county's Planning

SD County Superintendent orders special election for FUHS vacancies

Village News Staff

The San Diego County Superintendent of Schools has issued an executive order calling for a special election to be held on September 19, 2023, to fill vacancies on the Governing Board of the Fallbrook Union High School District. The election will determine new board members for Trustee Areas 1 and 2.

The need for the special election arose when Board member Courtney Hilborn resigned on January 3, 2023, creating a vacancy in Trustee Area 1. On February 13, 2023, the remaining board members appointed Jim Dooley to temporarily fill the position. However, on March 14, 2023, a petition for a special election was submitted and deemed legally sufficient, resulting in the automatic termination of the new Board member's provisional appointment.

The Superintendent, in accordance with Education Code section 5091(c)(2), has ordered the special election to take place within 88 to 125 days following

Deadline nears for residential weed abatement

Hannah Hanford
Village News Intern

Fallbrook Village News met with North County Fire Protection District (NCFPD) Communications Specialist Dani Vargas and Fire Prevention Specialist Lars Beeghley to discuss upcoming deadlines for weed abatement in the greater Fallbrook area. Ordinance deadlines for cutting back trees and weeds are coming up. Also, Chipping Day, sponsored by the Fallbrook FireSafe Council, is being held June 3 at no cost to residents.

Chipping Day is Saturday, June 3 from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the corner of Alturas and Aviation roads behind Albertson's. Chipping Day is primarily for homeowners and not landscapers. "NCFPD does not want landscapers, but rather homeowners. So many people have a huge issue. They are willing to do the work, but trying to dispose of the trimmings can be quite costly. So this is one way we can help try to alleviate some of that cost," says Beeghley.

A house on Live Oak Road has a yard full of weeds and low branches on April 27.

Vargas said, "The requirements are no branch trimmings larger than 6 inches; must be free of dirt and rocks; no construction materials; no grass or stumps, or poison oak. And they do ask to not have any commercial landscapers. This is supposed to be a program for residents of Fallbrook and surrounding areas to be able to

IN GOD WE TRUST

On the occasion of Memorial Day, let us remember and honour the fallen heroes and thank them for their sacrifices.

Warm greetings on this special day. With blessing to you all,

— Ken Follis & Sharon Robinson Group

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

I am naive to think I understand the meaning of the word sacrifice. It means “a giving up of something for something else”. I have often sacrificed my time, my money, and many a desire, but to risk your life and safety for the freedom of others is by far a greater sacrifice. I have never seen death on the battlefield nor the loss of a loved one serving our country, yet I reap the benefits on a daily basis.

Freedom is my norm and I take it for granted. I open my Bible without fear of persecution. I speak my mind with no concern for punishment. I do not fear living my life. No words can express the depth of our gratitude towards those who have risked their life or lost loved ones to protect our own, but I think it is important we try.

We celebrate Memorial Day not only to remember those who have fallen, but also to reflect on the cause for which they gave their lives. Those we honor on Memorial Day have sacrificed it all so that we can enjoy the safety and freedom we so often take for granted — and one of the greatest ways to pay our respects to the fallen is to appreciate these gifts. So when you and your friends are talking politics and religion at your Memorial Day barbecue, remember the many men and women who fought to protect this freedom.

“As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter the words, but to live by them.”

— John. F. Kennedy

San Diego County is Wine Country

Assemblymember Marie Waldron
75th District

Last week was Wine Week in San Diego County, a celebration of the contributions our local vintners make to our economy and lifestyle. As a member of the Assembly Select Committee on Wine, I do all I can to support this vital part of San Diego’s agricultural industry, sustaining San Diego County’s position as the 19th largest farm economy in the United States.

San Diego County has a well-established history in the wine industry. The first vineyards in California were planted by the Friars at Mission San Diego de Alcalá in 1769. In 2022, county wineries generated about $49.1 million in gross sales, which represented an 11% jump over 2021, a new all-time high.

San Diego’s operational and planned wineries rose to 166 last year, almost twice the total number of wineries in nearby Riverside County. Winery employment also continued to expand, growing by 6% last year.

Wineries are recovering from pandemic-induced shutdowns, with 45% reporting that business has returned to normal levels. Overall, our wine industry is flourishing, despite increasing challenges like rising inflation and dramatic increases in fire insurance costs, along with higher interest rates.

Wineries and tasting rooms are scattered throughout most of the county. The entire region lies within the federally recognized South Coast American Viticultural Area (AVA), with two local AVAs in the San Pasqual and Ramona Valleys.

San Diego County contributes greatly to California’s position as the nation’s leading agricultural state, and our wine industry plays a big part in that. California is the fourth largest wine producing region in the world – 95% of the nation’s wine exports are from California.

The industry is vital to our state and regional economies, and I will continue my efforts to ensure our vineyards thrive.

Broken immigration

Supervisor Jim Desmond
5th District

Last week, I visited the Southern United States Border before the expiration of Title 42. Witnessing hundreds of desperate individuals huddled together, seeking entry into the country, was heartbreaking. It is unsettling to recognize that this entire debacle could have been prevented, yet it has now been left at our doorstep by both the federal government and the state.

In response to this situation, our county, particularly North County, has taken proactive measures. The county has been collaborating with our nonprofit partners and organizations, reaching out for their support.

When groups of asylum seekers are dropped off at the transit center, dedicated individuals from these groups will be present to assist them. This helps the migrants make necessary phone calls, facilitate ticket purchases, and guide them through the process in San Diego County, aiming to expedite their journey through San Diego to their destination as efficiently as possible.

One of the most tragic realities of this influx is the vulnerability of unaccompanied minors to human trafficking. Our hospitals, homeless shelters, law enforcement agencies, public health departments, and social services are already strained, operating at or beyond capacity. It is unfair to burden San Diegans with the responsibility of chasing after the actions of the federal government to protect the well-being of our region.

I am determined to continue seeking help and support. I implore everyone to join me in the fight against the federal government's disregard for border security and adequate processes and resources for safe, legal entry. We must come together to address this pressing issue to protect the safety and welfare of the individual’s seeking asylum and our local communities.

Re: “The story behind the Fallbrook Special Election and ‘Fallbrook Freedom Fighters’” [Village News, Letter, 5/18/23]

The “Fallbrook Freedom Fighters” mentioned by Lindsay Jones in her editorial should have a new name. “Fallbrook Philistines” is more accurate. If you are unfamiliar with Biblical names or history, you can Google the term. I will save your time; just go with “Fallbrook Phonies.”

You, Ms. Jones, presented a lengthy and irrelevant discourse entitled, “The story behind the Fallbrook Special Election...” I don’t care why your group formed or what they did during the Covid epidemic and its consequences.

I do care about Fallbrook High School, its students, and the outrageous expense of an election to select a trustee who will only serve about a year before the next general election.

Aren’t you and your group proud of throwing away at least $100,000 to $250,000 of FUHS money?

According to Jones in her article, Courtney Hilborn was chosen to run for the FUHS board after many “town hall meetings, conferences, Instagram interviews...and we worked with other grassroots groups to try to find the best representatives possible and advocated for... Courtney Hilborn...Courtney assured us that she wanted to run.” Congratulations on the election of your candidate who resigned her position after the first meeting!

FUHS trustees proceeded to follow the established board policy and name a new trustee to fill the vacancy for Area 1. The Feb. 13 special meeting time was published in advance and was scheduled to take place before the already-scheduled meeting. I was there – along with people who spoke in favor of both candidates, Mr. Dooley and Mrs. Hansen.

“Two parents of high school students tried to get to the meeting early to speak on behalf of Kelly and were turned away.” You infer that they were excluded on purpose. Nope. Everyone else got there on time, including several speakers in favor of Kelly. Many people even sent emails beforehand to board members in support of both candidates; supporters of Mr. Dooley outnumbered those for Mrs. Hansen by a margin of two to one. Again, I was there, and the numbers were announced.

Mr. Dooley and his supporters listed his many contributions to local boards in addition to his lengthy record of service to many agencies. Mrs. Hansen and her group focused on the fact that she is a female, and that the all-male board needed a woman’s presence and perspective. Wait... What? That’s the only reason?

Immediately after the selection of Mr. Dooley, Mrs. Hansen and others whined about their disappointment that a female was not selected. Aren’t public positions and jobs supposed to be on the basis of qualifications and merit rather than sexual discrimination? FYI: the FUHS superintendent and principal are females as are many other administrators there. As a female, I feel well represented.

Here is where it gets really good. Lindsay Jones revealed at the conclusion of her tale that Mrs. Hansen isn’t even going to be on the ballot! Her husband is running instead. Seriously? What about all that blather of the board needing a “woman’s perspective?” You cannot make up this stuff! Fallbrook Phonies for sure.

Remember that this very expensive election is for someone who will only serve about a year before it is time for a general election. Lindsay Jones and her selfish group should be held accountable for every dollar cut from the FUHS budget to pay for the special election. I challenge the Village News to publish the budget cuts and every service or position eliminated at the high school in order to pay for the special election.

Now the good news: If you believe that a female is needed on the FUHS board, you can still get your wish! Vote for Tauna Rodarte instead of Mister Hansen. If you want a qualified, dedicated trustee for Area 1, definitely vote for Tauna Rodarte. Win, win for everybody.

Re: 5/18/23 issue

Great issue Julie, from the front page about the scammers to the letters. I highlighted most of the propaganda phrases in Leticia Maldonado's letter and it looks like a DOJ redacted confession about Trump prosecutions. Wondering where all of that racism etc. has been hiding in Fallbrook since we took up residence in 1987.

I have learned to be suspicious of anybody or organization that spouts the DEI line etc. Glad to see the reasonable and non-hate-filled Lindsay Jones rebuttal. Wish I was in the right district to support their effort to purge the school’s library shelves.

Had planned to attend your 25th get together on the 18th but had family visiting and they wanted to get fish and chips by the ocean in Carlsbad.

Thank you for keeping up the effort to put out a great weekly paper.

“KINGDOM”

Where are you getting your water from?
Are you still thirsty?

“ Jesus answered her, “If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that is saying to you, ‘Give me a drink,’ you would have asked him, and he would have given you living water.”

The woman said to him, “Sir, you have nothing to draw water with, and the well is deep. Where do you get that living water?

Are you greater than our father Jacob?

He gave us the well and drank from it himself, as did his sons and his livestock.”

Jesus said to her, “Everyone who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks of the water that I will give him will never be thirsty again.

The water that I will give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life.

I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me shall not hunger, and whoever believes in me shall never thirst.” ”

Finally! Someone is challenging collusive censorship!

Julie Reeder
Publisher

In a landmark legal move, Children's Health Defense (CHD) is challenging the powerful 'Trusted News Initiative' (TNI) through an antitrust lawsuit. By targeting major news organizations like the BBC, The Washington Post, the Associated Press, and Reuters, CHD aims to address concerns surrounding collusive censorship and champion the principles of freedom of speech and press.

This lawsuit not only seeks to hold the TNI accountable but also provides an opportunity to reevaluate the balance between responsible news reporting and stifling alternative viewpoints.

Defending pluralism and accountability: At the heart of CHD's legal action lies the need to safeguard the principles of democracy and ensure a diverse range of voices in the media landscape. The TNI, a consortium of legacy news organizations and tech giants, has been accused of engaging in a concerted effort to suppress alternative news reporting by dubbing it as "misinformation." By doing so, the TNI effectively chokes off access to the dominant social media platforms for publishers whose narratives challenge their established orthodoxy.

Antitrust laws: Protecting rivals and consumer interests: The foundation of CHD's lawsuit rests on federal antitrust laws, which prohibit collusion among industry players to deny critical facilities or market access to rivals. Such agreements, commonly known as "group boycotts," are unequivocally illegal. The TNI's actions fall under the purview of a massive group boycott, as it has consistently denied market facilities to non-mainstream news publishers whose reporting competes with the TNI's narrative.

Championing the right to alternative perspectives: While combating misinformation is crucial, it is equally important to protect the freedom of the press and allow for a plurality of perspectives. The TNI's actions, as alleged in CHD's lawsuit, raise concerns about monopolistic control over the dissemination of news.

This litigation presents an opportunity to reestablish the balance between responsible journalism and the suppression of dissenting voices. By challenging the TNI's stranglehold on online news reporting, CHD aims to promote the right of the public to access diverse sources of information.

By suppressing accurate reporting on critical topics such as COVID-19, elections, Hunter Biden's Laptop, the Russia Collusion, etc. the TNI potentially limited public access to information necessary for informed decision-making and voting.

Issues such as early COVID-19 treatments, immunity, the lab leak theory, vaccine injuries, and lockdowns/mandates, masking, should have been subjects of rigorous debate rather than being unilaterally labeled as misinformation. CHD's lawsuit highlights the importance of allowing dissenting voices and fostering a transparent information environment.

CHD's antitrust lawsuit against the Trusted News Initiative signifies a crucial step towards safeguarding freedom of speech, press, and diverse news reporting. It is vital for a pluralistic society to reassess the balance between combating misinformation and protecting democratic values, ensuring that the power to shape public discourse is not concentrated in the hands of a few.

Vallecitos files for waiver to fill vacant Trustee Area 5 seat

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

The Vallecitos School District has a vacant trustee seat which according to state law would be filled by an election unless a waiver from the State Board of Education is granted, and on May 9 the Vallecitos School District board requested the waiver.

The 4-0 board vote authorized the submission of a waiver request to the State Board of Education. The waiver, which is expected to be granted, will allow the school district to fill the vacant seat by appointment rather than by an election. The vacant seat is for Trustee Area 5, which is in the western part of the district, and an applicant must be a registered voter in that trustee area.

"We are still actively recruiting," said Vallecitos School District superintendent Meliton Sanchez.

Melissa Cox had been the Trustee Area 5 board member since October 2021, but she resigned March 9 for family reasons. The March 14 Vallecitos School District board meeting included a 4-0 vote to approve the provisional appointment process to fill the vacancy.

Section 5091 of the California Education Code stipulates that if the vacancy is not filled within 60 days, the County Office of Education superintendent shall call an election to be held within 130 days after the election is ordered, so the seat needed to be filled by May 8 in the absence of a waiver of that deadline.

"We were unable to find a replacement within that 60-day window, so we just want to extend that time," Sanchez said.

The waiver is intended for situations such as a lack of applicants rather than for a deadlock in which no applicant receives the necessary board majority to be appointed. Calling an election when no residents previously applied could also create the possibility of no candidates filing for that election.

Applications to fill the vacancy are available in the Vallecitos School District office. The other Vallecitos School District board members will conduct interviews of the candidates at a future board meeting before selecting the new trustee.

The term of the seat is from December 2020 to December 2024, and the appointed board member is eligible to run for a full term in the November 2024 election.

Commission approved the project June 26, 2020, according to a Village News story in July 2020.

Under state law, an electricity company must deploy energy storage as part of its system. Battery-based energy storage provides flexibility to the electrical grid by storing energy produced during periods when supply would exceed capacity and discharging energy to the grid during periods of high demand.

For individuals looking to get more information on weed abatement, there are resources on the North County Fire website (<https://www.ncfire.org/weed-abatement>). For seniors who need help with weed abatement, they can reach out to the Fire Safe Council.

For weed abatement concerns, there is a form individuals can fill out on the NCfire.org website. When clicking on the form, it states that you can submit a concern about a property in Fallbrook, Bonsall or Rainbow. After you complete the form, a fire prevention specialist will be out to inspect the property in question.

If the property is deemed to be a fire hazard, he or she will issue a notice to correct the hazard. Please allow for 60-90 days for any visible progress, as occasionally, property owners are unresponsive.

Ultimately, if the property owner is unresponsive, the property will be abated by the district [and the owner charged].

Also, it is stated on North County Fire's website that, "When filling out the weed abatement concern form, you must pinpoint on the map where the hazard is so that we can locate the appropriate address."

When it comes to having a defensible space, visit the Cal Fire website, <https://www.fire.ca.gov/dspace> for more information.

Beeghley addressed the AB38 Defensible Space Inspection "that is particularly for homeowners that are looking to sell their homes."

Beeghley said, "For about a year and a half, residents have been required to have a defensible space inspection if they fall into the high and very high severity zones for the state of California, and that can be found on Cal Fire's website. They can quickly find out if they are going to have to have that [inspection], but most real estate agents know about it and I will go out there."

Beeghley said once they put in a request, he will go out and do a regular defensible space inspection and either pass the property or not. He said if he fails the property, he will typically communicate with photos what needs to be done and give them a chance to take care of it before he officially fails the property. "But as of June 1st or possibly the 15th of June, I'll write a notice for the property."

Vargas added, "Lars is really good about working with residents, he is very understanding. If a resident receives a notice call, communicate with us and Lars will definitely help them get through that notice so that we don't have to get to that forced abatement point."

Schlumpberger has also served as a youth worship pastor for North Coast Church and attended a citizenship leadership seminar.

the order, or on an established election date within 180 days. As no established election date falls within the timeframe, the special election will be held on September 19, 2023.

In addition to the vacancy in Trustee Area 1, Trustee Area 2 also requires a special election. During the November 2022 election, no community member ran for the Trustee Area 2 seat, leaving a vacancy. The District initially applied for a waiver to appoint a new board member, but due to the lack of action by the State Board of Education, the District Board withdrew the application on May 11, 2023, necessitating a special election.

The Registrar of Voters for the County of San Diego estimates the cost of an in-person special election in Trustee Area 1 to range between $100,000 and $230,000. The District will bear the entire cost. However, utilizing an all-mail ballot system is expected to reduce the election cost by approximately $20,000 to $95,000. Consolidating the special election for both Trustee Areas 1 and 2 is also deemed cost-effective.

In response, on May 11, 2023, the District Governing Board passed "Resolution Number 17-2223 Authorizing All-Mail Ballot for Special Election to Fill Board Member Vacancy," mandating that the special election be conducted entirely as an all-mail ballot election. Voters will have the option to submit their ballots via traditional mail or ballot drop boxes, in compliance with Elections Code section 4004.

The San Diego County Superintendent of Schools has requested the Registrar of Voters to conduct the special election for both Trustee Areas 1 and 2. The Registrar is authorized, instructed, and directed to provide all necessary materials, equipment, and personnel to ensure a lawful and proper election. All costs associated with the election will be covered by the District.

TB exposure reported at Vista Detention Facility

County News Center
County of San Diego
Communications Office

The County of San Diego’s Health and Human Services Agency and San Diego Sheriff’s Office are working in close collaboration to notify individuals potentially exposed to tuberculosis at the Vista Detention Facility. The County of San Diego’s Public Health Services stated the date of potential exposure is from Feb. 2, 2023 to Feb. 21, 2023.

Tuberculosis is an airborne disease that is transmitted from person to person through inhalation of the bacteria from the air. The bacteria are spread when someone sick with TB coughs, speaks, sings, or breathes. People with frequent and prolonged indoor exposure to a person who is sick with TB should get tested.

People living in congregate settings, including homeless shelters, correctional facilities and skilled nursing facilities are at increased risk of becoming infected with TB bacteria due to shared airspaces. People with certain medical conditions may place them at higher risk of infection or of severe illness. Employees who work in such areas also face an increased risk for TB exposure and infection.

Due to the increased potential for infectious spread in the event of an exposure, the Sheriff’s Department screens incarcerated persons for TB upon entry into detention facilities. The Sheriff’s Department also makes TB screenings available to its staff upon request.

“Symptoms of active TB include persistent cough, fever, night sweats and unexplained weight loss,” said Wilma Wooten, M.D., M.P.H., County Public Health Officer. “Most people who become infected after exposure to tuberculosis do not get sick right away. This is called latent TB infection. Some who become infected with tuberculosis will become ill in the future, sometimes even years later, if their latent TB infection is not treated. Blood tests and skin tests are effective to determine whether someone has been infected.”

Effective treatments are available to cure people who are sick from active TB. It is especially important for individuals with symptoms of active TB and those who are immunocompromised to see a medical provider to rule out active tuberculosis and to discuss treatment.

People who test positive for TB but who don’t have symptoms of active TB should get a chest x-ray and talk to a medical provider, as they most likely have a latent TB infection. People in this situation are infected with TB, but the infection is essentially dormant or “sleeping.” Taking medicines for latent TB infection can cure the infection and keep these people from getting sick.

Individuals who may have been exposed at the Vista Detention Facility who need testing and have no medical provider, and those seeking more information on this potential exposure, may call the County TB Control Program at 619-692-8621.

The number of people diagnosed with active TB in San Diego County has decreased since the early 1990s and has stabilized in recent years. There were 192 in 2020 and 201 people reported with active disease in 2021. Preliminary data shows 208 people were reported to have active TB disease in 2022.

Eight tips on managing your fearful and negative thoughts

Stan Popovich
Special to the Village News

There are times that we encounter negative thoughts that can be overwhelming.

For some people, the more they try to get rid of their thoughts, the stronger they become.

As a result, here is a brief list of techniques that a person can use to help manage their negative thinking.

1. Do not focus on your fearful thinking: The first thing a person must do is not to dwell on the fear provoking thought when it comes. The more a person tries to reason out the fear behind the thought, the stronger it becomes. The next time you encounter a negative situation, get into the practice of not dwelling on it.

2. Think of a red stop sign: At times, a person might encounter a fearful thought that may be difficult to manage. When this happens, visualize a red stop sign which can serve as a reminder to think about something else. Regardless of how scary your negative thinking may be, do not dwell on it. This technique is great in dealing with your negative situations and depression.

3. Its only fear: The difference between an obsessive thought and a regular one is that an obsessive thought is based on fear. With this in mind, try to find the source of the fear behind your negative thinking and then find ways to get rid of your worries.

4. Your thoughts are exaggerated: Sometimes, a person may encounter a lot of scary thoughts coming at them all at once. Instead of getting upset, remember that your negative thinking is exaggerated with worry. Ignore the fear behind these obsessive thoughts, regardless how strong the fear may be.

5. Challenge your negative thinking with positive statements and realistic thinking: When encountering thoughts that make you fearful or depressed, challenge them by asking yourself questions that will maintain objectivity and common sense. Focus on the reality of your situation and not on your negative thinking.

6. Carry a small notebook of positive statements with you: A person should keep a small notebook of positive statements that makes them feel good. Whenever they come across a positive and uplifting verse that makes them happy, write it down in a small notebook. A person can then carry this notebook around in their pocket and whenever they feel anxious, they can read their notebook.

7. Take it one day at a time: Instead of worrying about how you will get through the rest of the week or month, try to focus on today. Each day can provide us with different opportunities to learn new things and that includes learning how to deal with your situation. In addition, you will not feel overwhelmed with everything if you focus on one thing at a time.

8. Get help: Take advantage of the help that is available around you. If possible, talk to a professional who can help you manage your fears and anxieties. They will be able to provide you with additional advice and insights on how to deal with your current problem. By talking to a professional, a person will be helping themselves in the long run because they will become better able to deal with their problems in the future.

Saving lives with Hi-Lo
Warning sound alerts neighborhoods of evacuations

SAN DIEGO COUNTY – The San Diego County Sheriff’s Department joined law enforcement and fire agencies on Thursday, May 4 to launch a public education campaign on the Hi-Lo.

This unique sound is different from sirens people hear when deputies, officers, paramedics and firefighters respond to emergency calls.

Hi-Lo is very loud and distinct. The Sheriff’s Department will only use this critical warning system to inform communities of an evacuation order in the event of natural disasters, extreme emergencies and critical incidents such as:

- Wildfires
- Flash floods
- Earthquakes
- Tsunami
- Terrorism
- Bomb threat
- SWAT standoff
- Gas leaks
- Hazmat spills
- Sinkholes

They just started the process of installing the Hi-Lo in Sheriff’s Department patrol vehicles.

However, it is essential to begin educating communities about the Hi-Lo and its significance. Residents can avoid panic and confusion in the future if they know what to do when they hear the Hi-Lo. By understanding the Hi-Lo and its association with evacuation, they can be better prepared for emergencies and respond more quickly to protect themselves and their families.

Hi-Lo alerts entire neighborhoods that they are in immediate danger. The goal is to reach as many people as possible with emergency instructions even when phone lines are not working or there are no internet or mobile networks available.

When they hear the Hi-Lo, it is time to go! Heed the warning and evacuate immediately because their safety depends on it.

Being prepared is the key to staying safe. To learn more about the Hi-Lo and how to plan for disasters and emergencies, visit www.sdsheriff.gov/hilo.

County Public Health responds to growing number of Hepatitis A cases

County News Center
County of San Diego
Communications Office

Cases of Hepatitis A in San Diego County continue to grow, with 28 reported so far this year and 18 of them among people experiencing homelessness (PEH). The county typically reports about two cases of the virus each month with only one case reported in the PEH population last year.

While no single outbreak location has been identified, and no specific food or water source found, cases are running above baseline and the county is actively taking and expanding steps to prevent further spread of the disease. This current increase in hep A cases is a form of person-to-person transmission and not by food.

Public Health Services began a coordinated vaccination and education plan with local cities and organizations in early February after reaching three cases and one death in the homeless population. Since that time, more than 4,500 vaccinations have since been administered to those considered most at-risk from the disease as these efforts continue. “We’re expanding ongoing efforts to reach the homeless community because this is a setting where cases could spread more quickly,” said Wilma Wooten, M.D., M.P.H., county public health officer. “We need all of our partners, from shelter operators, cities and the healthcare systems, to join us in this response.”

Homeless individuals are more vulnerable to getting sick from the virus because of its ability to spread in areas without convenient access to bathrooms and handwashing.

Since February, 126 vaccination events have taken place. Another 18 are scheduled this month. Three outreach worker foot teams deployed twice a week have recently been expanded to five days a week and are providing vaccinations, Hepatitis A education and HARM Reduction Program resources, with focus on encampments in downtown San Diego. This effort is in addition to a regular county-wide foot team distributing information and hygiene kits.

The county also met in April with local cities to discuss a fall 2022 sanitation survey and the cities’ plans. A report on the results was recently sent back to all cities.

In a separate letter, all cities were asked to locate encampments and provide housing and/or more frequent cleaning along with handwashing stations and portable restrooms. Outreach workers also are identifying locations where increased sanitation would be beneficial.

People experiencing homelessness often use hospital emergency departments to get treatment for health issues. For that reason, County Public Health Services has issued an updated California Health Alert Network to the healthcare community.

The alert summarizes the increasing cases among people experiencing homelessness and illicit drug users and asks medical emergency departments and hospitals to vaccinate those at risk and screen for Hep A infections. When a case is found, providers are asked to contact the County Epidemiology Program so an epidemiologist can interview the patient while they are still in the medical setting.

Hepatitis A vaccination schedule is generally a two-dose series. The first dose of the Hepatitis A vaccine is considered to be around 95% effective. Because this protection will eventually begin to decrease, a second shot is recommended at six months to 18 months later to provide immunity for between 20 and 40 years, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

County Public Health Services updates Hepatitis A case and vaccination numbers online each Wednesday afternoon at <https://sandiegocounty.gov/hepa>. The website also contains links to resources and other information.

While there have been reports this year of Hepatitis A cases tied to frozen strawberries, none have been confirmed in San Diego County. In the United States, five states report person-to-person Hep A outbreaks and an outbreak related to organic strawberries with cases in three states.

Supporting our veterans at home this Memorial Day

Veronica Raussin
Special to the Village News

Memorial Day is much more than a chance to kick off the summer months. At its heart is a day to honor the men and women who have died in U.S. military service.

Unfortunately, millions of service members who made it home to their families struggle with substance or mental health disorders or suicidal ideation. California is home to over 1.8 million veterans. The state also has the largest number of homeless veterans in the country.

According to the National Survey on Drug Use and Health, 3.8 million veterans have a substance use disorder or mental illness. Roughly 12% of them had serious thoughts of suicide. It is a harsh reality for many veterans.

Their substance use disorders are also linked to homelessness.

“It’s vital to recognize this problem and not overlook the countless veterans struggling in silence. There are supports available, but it often goes overlooked,” said Michael Leach of Addicted.org.

Generally, there are many related factors and causes, such as trauma or stress due to service. Many veterans struggle with re-integrating into civilian life. Mental health disorders and injury or chronic pain can lead to addiction.

It’s also common for veterans to experience financial hardship, struggle to find employment or have difficulty accessing benefits. Physical, emotional, and mental health concerns are significant. Untreated trauma, for example, directly impacts all areas of life.

This can also lead to using drugs or alcohol as an unhealthy coping method.

Additionally, many veterans face barriers when accessing treatment. This can include cost and insurance gaps. Communities may face inadequate funding, while veterans have limited access to treatment in rural areas. The stigma surrounding addiction and mental health is also significant and has not necessarily gone away.

Fortunately, there are resources and ways that families and communities can help; consider the following options:

- CalVet Veteran Services provides extensive resources for veterans.
- Helpful hotlines include the Veterans Crisis Line, 1-800-273-8255, and the Lifeline for Vets, 1-888-777-4443.
- SAMHSA has a facility treatment locator for substance use and mental health treatment resources with specific options for veterans.

- The Department of Veterans Affairs has a VA-Facility locator and services for homeless veterans.
- Telehealth has become common practice, involving attending treatment through web-based video calls.

Families can explore different financial options, such as combining VA benefits with other health insurance, such as Medicare, Medicaid, or private health insurance to reduce costs.

Families and communities also play a significant role in supporting veterans. They should speak openly and honestly with their loved ones about their addiction and express concern. Help them find treatment. Be patient and show compassion for what they are going through. Remember, these problems are treatable.

Communities advocate for reducing the number of opioid and benzodiazepine prescriptions given to vets and begin exploring alternative forms of treatment and therapy.

Memorial Day commemorates all men and women who have died in U.S. military service. We must not also forget those who have died because of substance use or suicide after returning home and the millions more who struggle with substance use disorders, mental health issues, or suicide ideation.

Veronica Raussin is a Community Outreach Coordinator for Addicted.org, passionate about spreading awareness of the risks and dangers of alcohol & drug use.

California awards $23.3M for students to become substance use disorder counselors

SACRAMENTO – In its continued effort to combat the opioid epidemic and all substance use disorders, California has awarded $23.3 million in grants for a new program designed to support students who want to become substance use disorder (SUD) counselors with paid on-the-job training.

The SUD Earn and Learn program provides students with specialized education in addiction treatment and counseling, and hands-on experience working with clients in a supervised setting.

“The opioid epidemic is having devastating impacts in communities all throughout our country,” said Governor Gavin Newsom. “California has a comprehensive approach to save lives and tackle the opioid crisis, but there is more work to do. With this program, we’re preparing our future workforce to treat and care for people suffering from substance use disorders with empathy and compassion.”

Why this matters: The SUD Earn and Learn program, administered by the Department of Health Care Access and Information (HCAI), will use the earn and learn concept to provide students with funds so they do not have to get multiple jobs just to afford basic needs while pursuing a career that will benefit the state’s communities.

“Through this program, students will have the opportunity to work with real clients and to apply the skills and knowledge they have learned in a real-world setting,” said California Health and Human Services Agency Secretary Dr. Mark Ghaly. “This will not only help students to become better counselors, but it will also provide them with a unique perspective on the challenges and rewards of working in this field.”

With a growing demand for SUD services and an ongoing workforce crisis, this program breaks down the barriers to entry that make it difficult for an individual to become a certified SUD counselor. The program also allows providers to offer paid time for schooling activities, cover costs of certification incentive programs for educational instructors and SUD experience mentors and offer career placement bonuses.

“We are excited to support students with paid job experience while they work to become certified substance use counselors.” said HCAI Director Elizabeth Landsberg. “We are training and preparing a new generation of diverse substance use disorder counselors with lived experience to meet this moment and respond to the epidemic of substance use by young people.”

Seniors seek surplus crops and volunteers in Fallbrook area

Harvested produce is donated to local pantries

FALLBROOK – Senior Gleaners of San Diego County, a volunteer organization with a mission to address community hunger, is expanding services to the Fallbrook area thanks to the recent addition of local volunteers.

“Our nonprofit lacked people in North County until a few months ago when several new recruits joined us,” said Margaret Burton, Senior Gleaners board president. “At the same time, Joe Strasser of Fallbrook joined our board of directors and reported seeing lots of fruit rotting on the ground,” she said.

Strasser will serve as local crew leader. He said he will work closely with local food distributors, such as the Fallbrook Food Pantry.

Burton said the group needs more volunteers and donations of surplus fruit for them to pick. The group specializes in citrus and avocados but will consider other crops as well. They have a 100-pound minimum limit but can help people with small quantities find local places to take it.

Warriors win Valley League baseball championship

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

For the first time since 2006, Fallbrook High School's baseball team won a league championship. The Warriors finished the 2023 Valley League season with an 11-4 record in league competition. Escondido and Vista both had 9-6 Valley League records to share second place. El Camino was 7-8 in Valley League play; Valley Center had a 5-10 league record, and Mission Vista was 4-11 in league games. Fallbrook had an overall record of 17-8-1 for the regular season. "It was a very challenging league," said Fallbrook coach Pat Walker. "The kids played really well to finish." On April 26, Fallbrook won a 4-1 home game against Vista while Escondido lost by a 2-1 margin at home in the Cougars' matchup with El Camino. That gave Fallbrook a half-game lead in the league standings. Fallbrook and Escondido both won their April 28 games; the Warriors prevailed by a 2-1 margin at Vista while Escondido won a 3-2 game at El Camino. Escondido regained the league lead May 1 when the Cougars hosted Valley Center and obtained a 5-1 win while Fallbrook lost a 4-1 contest at El Camino. El Camino traveled to Fallbrook for a May 3 game. The Wildcats scored four runs in the top of the first. Fallbrook scored three runs in the bottom of the first and then scored three times in the second to take a 6-4 lead. The Warriors added a run in the third and two tallies in the fourth. Two Escondido runs in the top of the seventh weren't enough to stave off a 9-6 Fallbrook victory. Tanyon Smith had a homer and two singles in four at-bats, scored three times, and drove in four runs. Evan Thomas had a hit and reached base twice on an error, and he scored all three times. Austen Baker had a single and a double in three plate appearances, scored once and drove in a run. Wyatt Fieri had a single and a sacrifice fly in his two plate appearances and drove in two runs. Escondido played a May 3 game at Valley Center. The Jaguars scored runs in the first and third. An Escondido run in the top of the seventh prevented a shutout but not the 2-1 loss which returned Fallbrook to first place. The third game between Fallbrook and El Camino was played May 5 at El Camino. Smith was the Warriors' starting pitcher and struck out six batters in five scoreless innings. Peyton Van Eik hurled the final two innings and struck out two Wildcats. The two Fallbrook pitchers allowed a total of only five hits in the 6-0 victory. Anthony Thomas had a home run and a single along with two runs batted in. Fieri had a double and batted in two teammates. Escondido hosted Valley Center that day and overcame a first-inning Jaguars run with a score in the fourth. The game went into extra innings, and the Cougars scored the winning run in the bottom of the ninth. Fallbrook closed out league play May 8 at Valley Center, who was Fallbrook's opponent for the Warriors' first two league games of the season. The Warriors completed the series sweep with a 3-1 triumph. Van Eik allowed three hits in five innings and Jace Cervantes allowed one hit in two innings. "We finished very strong," Walker said. The win gave Fallbrook three consecutive victories to end the regular season. "That was really critical. We needed to win those three," Walker said. "Solid defense in our last round of league play and pitching really helped." Because Escondido had won two of the three head-to-head games against Fallbrook, the Cougars would have been the designated league champion had both teams ended the season with 11-4 league records. The Cougars had two games in the final week, both against Mission Vista. The Timberwolves won both games: 5-2 May 8 at Mission Vista and 6-1 May 10 in Escondido. "Beating El Camino and then going up and beating Valley Center with the Escondido loss sealed the deal," Walker said. In 2006 the Avocado League consisted of Fallbrook, Vista, Rancho Buena Vista, Oceanside, Carlsbad, and El Camino. Fallbrook won the league championship with a 12-2-1 record, Vista had the second-place mark of 11-3-1, and Rancho Buena Vista was 10-5 for third place. Fallbrook finished no higher than fourth in any of the ensuing eight seasons. The Warriors joined the Valley League for 2015 and finished second, two games behind Ramona, in their initial year in the league. Fallbrook's best league finish between 2016 and 2022 was third, which was accomplished both in 2018 and 2019. The coronavirus outbreak canceled the 2020 season prior to league play. Fallbrook had a 4-12 league record in 2021 worth fourth place in the standings. The 2022 Warriors were 5-7 in league play for another fourth-place finish. Last year's team had an overall record of 20-15. The 2006 Warriors reached the CIF Division I final when playoff divisions were based on enrollment rather than competitive balance. Fallbrook's next trip to a CIF final was in 2022, when the Warriors were in Division IV. Mission Bay overcame a 4-1 Fallbrook lead for a 5-4 victory and the CIF championship. The 18 players on the Warriors' 2022 roster included 16 who returned for this season. "This is a group that went to the finals last year. One of our goals was to win a Valley League championship," Walker said. Eight of this year's players are seniors. "Senior leadership was an important part, and these guys have built a really solid team culture, which I think was a big part of our season," Walker said. The Warriors were 9-1 in regular-season home games. Although four Fallbrook batters ended the season with batting averages above .300, the Warriors pitchers had a 2.86 earned run average as a team during the regular season with Van Eik posting an ERA of 0.62 during his 29 regular-season innings. "Pitching and defense has got us where we're at right now," Walker said.

Vikings second at Warner Softball Tournament

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

The Warner Softball Tournament which took place Thursday, April 27, in Warner Springs, was the most recent competition for the seven small K-8 elementary schools and middle schools in northern San Diego County and southern Riverside County. They participate in athletic tournaments with a different school hosting a different sport each month and Vallecitos Elementary School took second in the boys and co-ed divisions. "We're happy with second place," Vallecitos coach Ray Hanbeck said.

"I'm just very pleased and pleasantly surprised that we did as well as we did." Borrego Springs Middle School, Hamilton School in Anza and Julian Junior High School had both boys and girls teams. Vallecitos, Cottonwood Elementary School in Aguanga and Warner Middle School had co-ed teams which played in the boys division. Pauma Elementary School did not participate in the Warner Softball Tournament which was played on the Warner Unified School District athletic fields. These fields are across state Route 79 from the elementary school, middle school and high school.

The games lasted four innings or 30 minutes, although the full inning was allowed to be completed if the 30 minutes had elapsed. A team was limited to five runs in their batting half of the inning. The teams pitched to their own batters; schools could either utilize a student or a faculty member as the pitcher. Each team had 10 players on the field. Because the girls division had only three teams, each school played two games against each opponent. Each of the six boys or co-ed teams played four of the other five opponents. Borrego Springs placed first with a 4-0 record; Vallecitos was second at 3-1 and the Hamilton boys were 2-2 for third place. Vallecitos brought eight boys and four girls. Three of those players had previous Warner Softball Tournament experience. "The rest of those 12 players, they've never played," Hanbeck said. Vallecitos began play with a 4-1 win over Cottonwood. The Vikings then defeated Julian in a 2-1 game. The third Vallecitos game was against Warner and ended as a 1-0 Vikings victory. Hamilton handed Vallecitos the Vikings' only loss of the tournament in a 4-3 game. "I'm really pleased how well we did on defense," Hanbeck said. "I'm really happy with how they were able to learn as much as they did in five weeks." Before the loss, the Vikings had only allowed two runs in their previous three games and even with the four Hamilton runs, Vallecitos only allowed seven tallies during the tournament. "They did really good defense," Hanbeck said. "That's a hard thing to do." This academic year's tournaments concluded Thursday, May 18, with a track and field meet hosted by Julian Junior High School at Julian High School.

Warriors share girls league swim title

Dowden wins 100-yard breaststroke championship

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

Fallbrook High School's girls swim team shared the 2023 Valley League championship, and Fallbrook junior Ava Dowden was the individual league champion in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Regular-season standings account for half of the formula which determines the final league positions with the other half based on positions at the league championship meet. During league dual meet competition Fallbrook won all seven meets while Ramona had a 6-1 record with the Bulldogs' only loss taking place April 20 at Fallbrook.

Ramona's girls had a 44-point advantage over Fallbrook in the league meet to give the Bulldogs a share of the league championship at the expense of the Warriors winning it outright.

"They got the girls they needed to finish ahead of us in a number of events. We had some great swims and they did, too, just a little bit faster than us," said Fallbrook coach Sean Redmond.

San Pasqual and Pacific Ridge joined the Valley League for 2023 while Fallbrook, Escondido, Escondido Charter, Ramona, Mission Hills, and Valley Center all returned to the league.

In a dual meet, each school is allowed three swimmers or divers in each individual event with position points being given for the top five finishes and two quartets in each relay race with points given for the three fastest times. The league meet allowed each school four swimmers or divers for each individual event and one relay quartet for each event. Points were given for 18 positions in each individual event including the diving.

The league meet was held at Fallbrook High School. The swim preliminaries which determined who advanced to the A, B, and C finals took place April 26, the diving was contested April 28, and the swim finals were held April 29. Ramona's girls had 512 points while Fallbrook finished with 468 points. Mission Hills had the third-place score of 291 points.

Individual league championships are based solely on the results at the league finals. The 100-yard breaststroke race Dowden won was the only girls event in which Fallbrook received first-place points. Ramona's girls won three individual events and one relay race.

Five judges scored each dive. The highest score and the lowest score were discarded, and the three middle scores were added together and then multiplied by the dive's degree of difficulty to determine the score for each dive.

Ramona sophomore Piper Williams had the superlative score of 158.65 points. Fallbrook sophomore Olivia Searle had the second-place score of 156.15 points.

"I'm excited for what she did. She was very consistent and did a good job," Redmond said of Searle. Last year Searle was seventh at the league meet and scored 140.30 points.

An Escondido Charter freshman accumulated 150.15 points for third place. Ramona divers took fourth and fifth. Fallbrook sophomore Maile McMahon, who won last year's league championship by scoring 211.25 points, scored 132.60 points this year for seventh place. "She just had an off-day," Redmond said.

Searle and McMahon were the only Fallbrook girls to compete in the diving; freshman Emylee Turner was injured on her final warmup dive and did not participate in the scored portion.

The first swim event is the 200-yard medley relay. In the preliminaries, Redmond utilized senior Samantha Hanlon for the backstroke, freshman Claire Lucia for the breaststroke, senior Stephanie Hanlon for the butterfly, and Dowden for the freestyle. Fallbrook's time of 2:10.70 placed fifth with Ramona finishing third.

In the finals, Fallbrook's quartet consisted of sophomore Liesel Young, junior Kela Kendall, junior Tatum Brown, and Dowden. Fallbrook's time of 2:07.85 placed fourth in the finals, between the 2:06.99 time Ramona posted and the 2:08.22 swim of Escondido.

The first individual swim event is the 200-yard freestyle. In both the preliminaries and the finals, Fallbrook junior Ava Papoulas was fourth and Ramona freshman Avonlea Hammonds finished fifth. Papoulas had times of 2:05.55 in the preliminaries and 2:05.56 in the A final.

Stephanie Hanlon was ninth on both days, swimming the preliminaries in 2:18.75 and the B final in 2:18.81. Young had the 15th-place time of 2:27.16 in the preliminaries but swam the C final in 2:36.53 for 17th place.

Dowden had the fastest 200-yard individual medley preliminaries time at 2:20.68 while Valley Center senior Kylee Harrington had the second-place time of 2:24.58. Harrington won the A final in 2:20.15 and Dowden finished second with a time of 2:22.88.

Kendall was third in the individual medley preliminaries with a 2:28.17 time while Pacific Ridge junior Emerson Tadder was fourth at 2:31.29. In the A final, Tadder took third while improving her time to 2:27.84 and Kendall was fourth with a 2:29.30 swim. The 10th-place preliminary time for freshman Linnea Harrington was 2:49.39, and although her time in the B final was 2:50.47, she improved her position to ninth place.

In the 50-yard freestyle preliminaries, junior Marissa Pearce had a time of 27.05 seconds for fourth and senior Arden Baur swam her heat in 27.32 seconds for fifth. The next-fastest time in the preliminaries was 28.28 seconds which was achieved by both Brown and Valley Center junior Kendra Weaver. A swim off determined which one swam in the A final and who was relegated to the B final.

Weaver won the swimoff, completing her 50 yards in 27.89 seconds, to advance to the A final. Brown finished in 28.13 seconds and would compete in the B final.

Fallbrook's fourth 50-yard freestyle swimmer, junior Kasey Sanchez, swam her preliminary race in 30.66 seconds for 15th place and a lane in the C final.

Ramona's three swim individual league championships all involved sophomore Katie Dusseault, who won the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard freestyle A final races and was also part of the winning 200-yard freestyle relay team. In the 50-yard freestyle final, Dusseault had a time of 24.50 seconds.

Pearce swam the final in 26.81

"I have to give the girls huge credit for being able to overcome some of the adversities they've had this season," Redmond said.

"It's showing the type of character they have to be able to do that."

seconds to take fourth place. Baur was fifth and completed her two laps in 27.12 seconds.

In the 100-yard butterfly, Kendall had the fourth-fastest preliminaries time at 1:08.06 with Buscho placing fifth with a swim of 1:11.90, Valley Center freshman Livi Macaulay having the sixth-best time of 1:15.52, and Searle completing her laps in 1:16.04 for seventh. Macaulay scratched out of the final to give Searle a lane in the A final.

In that championship race, Kendall was fourth with a time of 1:06.76; Buscho touched her final wall 1:09.93 after the start for fifth, and Searle was sixth at 1:14.97. "Both Kela and Olivia had nice time drops," Redmond said.

Harrington had a preliminary time of 1:18.17 for 10th place, and Macaulay's scratch allowed Harrington to take ninth with a time of 1:17.73 in the B final. A preliminary time of 1:27.90 gave sophomore Sydnie Brown 16th place, and she finished the C final in 1:25.99 for 15th.

"All had time drops and just got up and raced," Redmond said.

Papoulas swam her 100-yard freestyle preliminaries heat in 58.09 seconds for fourth place. Pearce was sixth with a time of 59.10 seconds.

"Those were good time drops for them to get to that point," Redmond said.

Pearce obtained a milestone with her preliminaries mark. "That was her first time under a minute, so that was good," Redmond said. Baur finished in 1:00.41 for seventh. Tatum Brown had the eighth-place time of 1:00.69. Ramona junior Kayla Gompper placed ninth and finished in 1:01.83.

Papoulas swam the A final in 57.97 seconds for fourth. Pearce was sixth at 59.53 seconds.

Baur won the B final and broke one minute for the first time in her career, finishing in 59.61 seconds and beating out Gompper, whose time was 59.66 seconds. Brown took ninth place with a time of 1:01.06.

Lucia competed in the 500-yard freestyle. She swam her preliminary race in 6:15.03 for sixth and was also sixth in the finals with a time of 6:10.53. Four of the six swimmers in the A final are freshmen and winner Riley Baldwin of Escondido was the only senior in the A final. "It kind of opens things up for next year," Redmond said.

Fallbrook had two seniors in the 500-yard freestyle. Stephanie Hanlon was seventh on both days with times of 6:17.93 in the preliminaries and 6:16.29 in the B final. Katja Young was 17th in the preliminaries with a swim of

he said.

Although Dowden won the 100-yard breaststroke, only one other Fallbrook swimmer qualified for the finals and Lucia was in the B final. Ramona had two girls in the A final, one in the B final, and one in the C final.

Dowden had the superlative preliminaries time of 1:15.56 while Tadder was second at 1:16.89. Lucia swam her preliminary laps in 1:25.20 for eighth.

The final took Dowden 1:12.41 with Tadder finishing in 1:14.86 and Mission Hills senior Sofia Hofer taking third with a time of 1:15.60. "That was a fun race to watch," Redmond said.

Dowden is the youngest of five children, all girls, and all five have swum for the Warriors. Taylor Dowden, who graduated in 2016, holds the school 100-yard breaststroke record which is 1:08.74. "She really wants her sister's record," Redmond said of Ava Dowden.

Lucia maintained eighth place in the B final, completing her race in 1:23.82.

A high school swim meet concludes with the 400-yard freestyle relay. Ramona needed only to not get disqualified to clinch first. "I think they played it safe," Redmond said. "We were going for the win."

During the preliminaries, sophomore Elizabeth Tagle-Nava, Pearce, Papoulas, and Dowden had a time of 4:12.64 for fourth place. Fallbrook's lineup in the final consisted of Pearce, Tatum Brown, Papoulas, and Dowden.

Valley Center won the final with a time of 3:51.10. Fallbrook was second at 3:52.87. "All four of our girls for the first time were under a minute for their splits, so that was helpful, but Valley Center was just a little faster on that," Redmond said. Ramona's third-place time was 3:53.71.

Third place in the final race was good enough to give Ramona first in the championship meet along with a share of the league title. "They got their swimmers ready for the meet. They were definitely well-prepared," Redmond said.

Fallbrook and Ramona are the only two schools in the Valley League with on-campus pools. A failure with the pump in the Fallbrook High School swimming pool delayed the start of practice for Fallbrook High School's swim team and also forced two meets to be rescheduled.

"The start of our season was a little bumpy," Redmond said. "They just stepped up and were able to overcome all those." During the first two weeks of the season Fallbrook had two meets apiece.

"I have to give the girls huge credit for being able to overcome some of the adversities they've had this season," Redmond said. "It's showing the type of character they have to be able to do that."

Although Ramona won the league meet and the co-championship, Fallbrook shared the league title. "At least we came out as co-league champs," Redmond said. "Overall as a team I thought that the girls did a great job."

Depleted Warriors' boys tennis team played well

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

Fallbrook High School's 2023 boys tennis team had only six players, which kept the Warriors from winning matches, but Fallbrook coach Bill Lenaway was pleased with how the players performed.

"I'm not disappointed in the way my guys played," Lenaway said. "I just think it's unfortunate for my guys that we didn't have enough players."

A high school tennis match consists of each of a school's three singles players contesting sets against each of the other school's singles players and each of a school's three doubles teams facing each of the other school's doubles tandems.

A team thus must have at least nine players to avoid forfeiting sets. Each of Fallbrook's 2023 opponents won six sets by forfeit. "You're starting the match down 0-6, it's pretty tough," Lenaway said.

Four of the six players had not played prior to this year. "You can't expect those guys to win a lot of sets," Lenaway said. "The rest of the team did everything they could."

Fallbrook's only win this year was by a 10-8 score, March 8, against Ramona at the Riviera Oaks Racquet Club where Ramona High School home matches are played. That translates into winning 10 of the 12 contested matches.

"The fact that we won a match with six guys was, I thought, pretty impressive," Lenaway said. "I was pretty happy about that." If each team wins nine sets, the tiebreaker of games won determines the match winner.

The 36 forfeited games gave Orange Glen the match April 14 in Fallbrook even though Fallbrook junior Anthony Wilson won two 6-0 sets and a 6-1 contest, while sophomore Connor Skaja and freshman Micah Kendall both swept their sets with 6-0, 6-1, and 6-4 wins.

The loss to Orange Glen closed out the regular season for Fallbrook. The tennis team playoff competition is based on the cumulative universal tennis rating data for each of a team's players.

The teams with the eight highest UTR totals play in the Open Division playoffs, the next 16 teams are in Division I, the teams with the 24th to 40th UTR totals compete in the Division II postseason and schools whose UTR ranked 41st through 56th, along with any league champions who received automatic playoff berths, are Division III participants.

Last year Fallbrook was seeded 12th seed in the Division II playoffs and lost in the first round to fifth-seeded Steele Canyon.

Wilson has a UTR of 4, Skaja and Kendall each have a 3 UTR as does freshman Sid Nestman, and freshmen Billy Mathewson and Gunnar Wiessner both have a UTR of 1. Had Fallbrook had three other players, even with a UTR of 1, the Warriors would have obtained entry into the team playoffs.

"We didn't have enough guys to have a cumulative UTR," Lenaway said. "It wasn't a matter of quality. It was quantity."

The North County Conference adjusts leagues for each sport based on competitive balance. Last year Fallbrook was 7-3 in Valley League play and shared second in the standings.

This year the Warriors were placed in the Avocado League as were 2022 Valley League members Mission Hills and Valley Center. The 2023 Avocado League also included La Costa Canyon and Sage Creek.

The Avocado League tournament took place April 24-25 at Fallbrook. "I didn't have any issues with the way anybody performed," Lenaway said.

The first two rounds were played April 24 and consisted of one-set matches with the first player or doubles team to capture ten sets prevailing. Skaja teamed with Kendall in doubles, and in the first round they lost a 10-7 set to the La Costa Canyon tandem of junior Mario Grillet and freshman Jacob Gamett.

Mathewson and Wiessner lost their first-round doubles match against Sage Creek seniors Nate Decamp and Noah Kopman by a 10-1 score.

Fallbrook's two singles players in the league tournament both lost in the round of 16. Nestman had a first-round bye but lost a 10-2 match against La Costa Canyon senior Ryan Carmichael, who would place fourth in the league tournament.

"That was the luck of the draw," Lenaway said of Nestman's elimination. "He could have progressed further if he got a better draw, but that's the way tennis works."

Wilson was the only Fallbrook player to win at the league tournament. His first-round match was a 10-8 victory over Mission Hills sophomore Alexander Khan. Wilson then played La Costa Canyon senior Emilio Rodea, who won the 10-3 match.

"He played him tough. He just couldn't quite beat him," Lenaway said. "He did a really good job," Lenaway said of Wilson. "My other guys did, too."

Not only did Fallbrook have only six players this year, but none of them are seniors. "My hope next year is we have a full team and we can compete," Lenaway said.

Homes For Our Troops kicks off home building

LCpl Erik Galvan describes his life after his injuries sustained from an IED explosion in Afghanistan, with his loving wife and supporting family he is moving on with life and is helping others to face their life challenges ahead

FALLBROOK – The national nonprofit organization Homes For Our Troops (HFOT) kicked off the building of a specially adapted home for Marine Lance Corporal Erik Galvan on Saturday, May 20. LCpl Galvan was injured while serving in Afghanistan.

The Community Kickoff event signified the start of the build process and introduced LCpl Galvan to the community. The event was held at Riverview Evangelical Free Church in Bonsall. The public was welcome to attend.

On June 15, 2011, 19-year-old LCpl Galvan was months into his first deployment in Afghanistan with the 1st Battalion, 5th Marines as an infantryman when he was severely injured. While on patrol, LCpl Galvan lost both legs and his right hand in an improvised explosive device (IED) explosion, his injuries requiring multiple surgeries at Walter Reed Medical Center and a two-year stay at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

The home being built for LCpl Galvan will feature more than 40 major special adaptations such as widened doorways for wheelchair access, a roll-in shower, and kitchen amenities that include pull-down shelving and lowered countertops.

The home will also alleviate the mobility and safety issues associated with a traditional home, including navigating a wheelchair through narrow hallways or over thresholds, or reaching for cabinets that are too high. The community event sponsor for this home build is First Nation Group.

HFOT has built 355 homes since the organization's inception in 2004. Homes For Our Troops relies on contributions from donors, supporters, and corporate partners for the building of each veteran's home. Community members may hold fundraisers or make donations. To find out more on how to get involved or make a donation, visit www.hfotusa.org or call 866-787-6677.

Read more about LCpl Galvan's story and watch his video at www.hfotusa.org/galvan.

Submitted by Homes For Our Troops.

Retha Champion of Champion Family Foundation signs the 2x4 that will be a part of the home to be built for LCpl Galvan. With their more than generous donation, she and her husband Chris Champion are hoping that other challengers will donate as well.

Krystina Goroshko, Community Engagement Coordinator for the Homes For Our Troops, reads a letter from Senator Diane Feinstein to LCpl Erik Galvan.

LCpl Erik Galvan sits with his wife, Kaitlyn, and son Logan while listening to Brigadier General (Retired) Tom Landwermeier, president and CEO of Homes For Our Troops, during his closing speech on "Building Homes and Rebuilding Lives."

LCpl Erik Galvan and his wife Kaitlyn are being welcomed by spectators and is being escorted in by NC Fire and the Sheriff's Department at Riverview Evangelical Free Church Bonsall. The Galvans are in the black Ford pickup truck.

FBA and ILACSD organize Community Cleanup Day

A group of volunteers picks up trash on a side street in downtown Fallbrook during the Community Cleanup Day, May 13.

FBA board member Jean Dooley registers a family and gives them tools for the cleanup day.

The Community Cleanup includes hundreds of cigarette butts found on roads and sidewalks in downtown Fallbrook.

FALLBROOK – Fifty-five members of the Fallbrook community, along with several friends from Vista and Bonsall, showed up at 9 a.m. and worked to make Fallbrook cleaner and more beautiful on the Community Cleanup Day, May 13

A total of 250 pounds of trash, 31 pounds of recyclables and a huge number of cigarette butts to be recycled were collected and sorted from the trash.

Members of the Fallbrook Woman’s Club cleaned the area around their clubhouse at the corner of East Mission and South Mission roads along with many smaller side streets in between.

A special group of four gentlemen cleaned up the area around the Odd Fellows Cemetery at Alturas and Clemens Lane. Most people were assigned to pick up trash along the 10 or 12 streets bounded in the north by Ivy Street and the south by Beech Street and College, east to Elbrook Drive and west to South Mission Road.

Daphne Warren and Celeste Schwartz represented I Love a Clean San Diego and in addition to signing people in to help, spoke to the group about the value of recycling and composting, among other things. Fallbrook Beautification Alliance members assisted in handing out supplies, talking about the “dark sky initiative,” and assigning workers to clean up all the inner streets in the downtown area.

FBA Board Member Jean Dooley said, “We are especially thankful to the people at Coal Bunker Restaurant for providing delicious sandwiches to the volunteer workers at this event in appreciation of their efforts. It was a beautiful day and a wonderful way to celebrate the Village of Fallbrook.”

Factors that may impact homeowners insurance

FALLBROOK – Homeowners insurance, or sometimes called home insurance, is a type of insurance policy that provides financial protection for your home and its contents in the event of damage, loss, or liability.

It is important because it provides coverage for the repair of personal belongings or rebuilding of your home if they are damaged or destroyed. It can offer a homeowner peace of mind in case of unexpected events.

In San Diego, events such as wildfires, earthquakes, floods, and landslides have the potential to occur, and each of them necessitates additional insurance coverage to ensure adequate protection.

Home insurance typically costs around $974 per year, or $81 per month, for a policy with $250,000 in dwelling coverage*. While it is not legally required, it’s better to be safe than sorry... so homeowners are highly encouraged to get a policy. Note that if you have a mortgage, your lender will require that you have a policy.

Several factors may impact a homeowners insurance, including the following:

Location

The location of your home can impact your insurance rates. Homes in areas prone to natural disasters like floods, hurricanes, or earthquakes may have higher rates.

Home age and condition

Older homes may be more expensive to insure due to their age and condition. Homes with outdated electrical or plumbing systems, or those in need of major repairs may also have higher rates.

Replacement cost

The replacement cost of your home is the amount it would cost to rebuild your home if it were destroyed. The higher the replacement cost, the higher your insurance rates may be.

Home features

Certain home features, like swimming pools or trampolines, may increase your liability risk and therefore, increase your insurance rates. Additional costs may also apply for home-based businesses.

If you have a pet, certain breeds of dogs may also factor in the increase of your insurance premium due to the increased risk of dog bites or other incidents.

Claims history

If you have a history of filing insurance claims, your premiums may be higher due to the increased risk.

Insurance coverage limits

The amount of insurance coverage you choose can impact your rates. Higher coverage limits may result in higher premiums.

Consider these factors when shopping for homeowners insurance and compare rates and coverage from multiple providers to find the best option for you. Reach out to us so we can refer you to a trusted home insurance company.

–Review of all things Real Estate–

Market conditions right now

Bob Hillery'
CR Properties

In preparation to write this article every week, I do a lot of reading and sometimes I “borrow” other’s writings if they are salient. Much discussion has been had about the recent prime interest rate increases and what the Federal Reserve will do during the upcoming June meeting.

As discussed below, Fed member Lori Logan from Dallas is of the belief that more interest rate hikes are needed which a lot of us feel isn’t the right approach now particularly in view of the number of rate hikes in the last year (eight).

The issue many have with those rate increases is that it nominally takes 18 months for the effect of a prime interest rate change to manifest which begs the question of too little or too much?

Too little and inflation rages on and prices of everything rises.

Too much and the economy suffers due to higher cost of borrowing money which impacts business investment and real estate purchases (Come on, you knew I’d bend the conversation around to real estate at some point). And that is exactly where the real estate market is today.

Prices have not fallen as economists predicted due to curtailed inventory, and sellers are not flocking to come onto the market because they are “owned” by low interest rates (Why would someone want to sell and lose their 2-3% interest rate then turn around and purchase with interest rates over 6%?)

Consequently, many of us, me included, are not coming onto the market because where would they/we go? As stated, prices have remained firm, so we’d be buying something smaller but very expensive and with the higher cost of interest rate money. Tough dilemma.

Now if a person had a destination in mind for reasons like moving closer to family or a job transfer, then now is a terrific time to come onto the market since our median price in the Fallbrook area is $995,000 (As crazy as that sounds, it’s true).

Below is a piece that I borrowed from Dana Copeland of Cross Country Mortgage. I have known Dana for 20 years in the real estate business and he knows his stuff. By the way, Dana’s article is written at the macro level across the nation which is why his numbers are at variance with mine because I write at the micro or local level. I enjoyed his article and hope that you will too.

Low inventory affecting pace of existing home sales

Stocks are higher and Mortgage Bonds are lower once again, being pressured by the debt ceiling fears. There has been some recent progress, which points to a potential deal being made over the next week. but there is a lot of uncertainty. As we have covered in a previous update, there is a supply issue that is causing Bonds to move lower and yields to move higher. Besides banks that are being forced to sell their Bond holdings to come up with deposits for their customers, if the debt ceiling is raised, the Treasury will have to issue Bonds to come up with the money. This would create an additional supply that has to be absorbed by the market.

The latest from the Fed – Lori Logan, Dallas Fed President says the current data doesn't justify a pause. She is in the camp of another rate hike...how disconnected can she be? We will hear from Fed Chair Jerome Powell tomorrow, ahead of the Fed Minutes next week.

Existing Home Sales

Existing Home Sales, which measures closings on existing homes, showed that sales were down 3.4% in April at a 4.28M unit annualized pace, which was in line with estimates. On a year over year basis, sales are down 23%. The slower pace of sales is all due to inventory, which remains extremely low.

Inventory levels increased slightly to 1.04M, but still remain very low. There is a 2.9 months' supply of homes, which is tight because 4.6 months is considered normal. But if you look at active listings, there are only 563,000, as many of the homes counted in existing inventory are under contract.

The median sales price of $388,800, which is up 3.5% from the previous month, but down 1.7% on a year over year basis.

Remember, the median home price is not appreciation, but rather middle-priced home. That means that if more lower priced homes are selling, this number will fall. You could have all home prices increase, but the median price fall, if more concentration of sales were on the lower end. Actual appreciation numbers are higher, not lower, on a year over year basis, and are showing acceleration.

Homes remained on the market on average for 22 days, down sharply from 29 days, showing you that the lack of sales is due to inventory, not demand; 73% of homes sold in less than 30 days, up from 65%. If the home is priced correctly, it's selling fast.

First Time Home Buyers accounted for 29% of sales, which was up from 28% in the previous report. Cash buyers accounted for 28% of sales, which was up from 27%. That means that roughly 40% of homes with a mortgage are from first time home buyers. Investors made up 17% of transactions, which was unchanged. They made up roughly one out of every six transactions...Clearly investors are seeing the opportunity in housing right now.

Pricing strategies

Ken Follis
Compass Real Estate

Perhaps the most talked about factor when we decide to sell our home is "What price do you think we should list it for?" While it is true we want what is best for you, as our sellers, and want to consider your input, other data has to be considered.

There is market specific data to give every property in every situation a fair range to strategically position your price for success. After all, we want our home sold and not just for sale... correct?

I have seen sellers who choose their realtor by the one who suggests the highest listing price. I know that sounds tempting, but does that work to your advantage in the end? Another possibility is choosing the realtor because he gives you the lowest commission. That also comes with the assumption that every realtor will be attracting the same amount of interest and demand for your home. Data has also proven that that tactic also does not work to your advantage in most cases.

In order to assess pricing and realtor choices for marketing, it is best to research the data. Local seasoned Real Estate professionals are your best choice for correctly assessing your home's valuation. They will know what local buyers are looking for and what amenities your possible buyer will want. Those are some facts we discussed last week.

Who has the best list price to sales price ratio? Who sells the most homes in your given price range? Who do you envision yourself in a partnership with to get your home successfully sold? Who has the most experience and best reputation among their fellow local agents?

There is a lot to consider, and it all can affect the end sales price and net in your pocket. We all want what is best for you in that regard, as your realtor receives a vested portion.

We also need to assess the views and demand for your home, which can be realized by the number of showings for your home. There is a ratio between views, saves and showings that a property will accrue if it is viewed as a good value by buyers to look for. When that ratio is not achieved, there needs to be some adjusting in some way to increase the buyer demand.

Ultimately it is all about the buyer demand for your home, and it will be there if your home is priced where the buyers perceive value in return for your price. That is where we achieve a meeting of the minds with a willing buyer and a satisfied seller.

If a home is overpriced, it will sit on the market and not receive showings. The sellers will become unhappy with their realtor because their expectations were not met. Really though, the expectation was not realistic, and the realtor was placed in a no win situation.

As other homes sell, the frustration continues. No one is happy, and everyone loses. That is a scenario to avoid at all costs. Data also proves that when you overprice your home, you will ultimately end up selling it for less in the end, as you continue to trail the market and buyer demand goes down.

In order to avoid that happening, as previously stated, pick a local professional and seasoned realtor you trust and can work with. You will be far ahead in selling price by using that strategy. At Ken Follis and Sharon Robinson Group, we want what is best for you. We will give you an honest assessment of your home. We are confident in our approach and marketing strategies and will achieve the highest sales price possible in the current market.

MWD awards contract for new Pipeline 3 and Pipeline 5 valves

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California will be replacing air release/vacuum valves on Pipeline 3 and Pipeline 5 of the San Diego Aqueduct, and the MWD board meeting Tuesday,

May 9, approved a procurement contract for new valves.

B&K Valves & Equipment Inc., which is based in Carlsbad, was awarded $1,466,665 to provide 72 valves. MWD staff will replace the valves once they are delivered.

Six MWD pipelines carry water along the San Diego Aqueduct from MWD's Robert A. Skinner Water Treatment Plant in Temecula. Pipelines 1, 2 and 4 convey treated water while Pipelines 3, 5 and 6 deliver untreated supply. Pipeline 6 currently carries untreated water for seven miles from Lake Skinner to Anza Road and De Portola Road; the southern portion which would serve San Diego County is not expected to be needed in the near future so that part of the project has been deferred.

The San Diego Aqueduct conveys water to a delivery point six miles south of the Riverside County line, which allowed MWD and the San Diego County Water Authority to provide equal contributions for the connection between MWD's Colorado River Aqueduct and the San Vicente Reservoir in Lakeside. MMD has been delivering water to San Diego County since 1947.

Pipeline 3 is 75 inches in diameter and consists of pre-cast concrete and welded steel sections. It was completed in 1960 and conveys up to 280 cubic feet per second of untreated water to the Western Municipal Water District and the San Diego County Water Authority. Pipeline 5 is 96 inches in diameter with pre-stressed concrete and welded steel pipe sections. It was completed in 1982 and conveys up to 500 cubic feet per second of untreated water to the SDCWA.

Both pipelines use combination air release/vacuum valves located at high points along the pipeline to protect the pipeline and maintain its efficiency. During operation or filling of the pipeline, air must be released when it builds up at high points or flow will be impeded. When the pipeline is dewatered air must be introduced into the pipeline, or a vacuum condition can develop inside the pipe which could cause collapse or buckling.

The 72 valves on the two pipelines range in size from eight to ten inches in diameter. The existing air release/vacuum valves are original equipment and have been in service for approximately 60 years on Pipeline 3 and 40 years on Pipeline 5. Air release/vacuum valves are normally open to release air or prevent a vacuum within the pipe, and as water level rises a float shuts off the valve. Failure of an aging float mechanism could lead to an unplanned water discharge.

All 72 valves will be replaced. The valves will be delivered to the Skinner plant where they will be stored in a controlled environment until they are scheduled for installation.

B&K Valves & Equipment submitted the only bid for the valves. MWD staff investigated why only one bid was received and determined that only a limited number of valve manufacturers routinely manufacture valves which meet the specifications required for the project. A survey of vendors provided a budgetary estimate between $1.2 million and $1.5 million for the valves. The B&K Valves & Equipment bid complies with the requirements of the specifications and includes all sales and use taxes imposed by the state of California.

The valves are expected to be delivered in June 2024.

ILACSD to place 200 temporary bins at beaches over busy holiday weekends

SAN DIEGO – I Love A Clean San Diego’s Clean Beach Coalition will place 200 temporary waste and recycling bins on San Diego’s busiest beaches and bays over long holiday weekends to handle the expected excess litter. Now in its 16th year, these temporary bins placed by the Clean Beach Coalition have helped keep 3.5 million pounds of litter off of San Diego beaches and out of the ocean.

Over the busy holiday weekends, San Diego beaches see a spike in visitors, both locals and tourists and permanent trash receptacles often overflow with large amounts of litter. To alleviate the excess and reduce marine debris and pollution, the coalition places bins along San Diego’s most heavily trafficked beaches: Mission Beach, Mission Bay and Pacific Beach over Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends.

Marine debris poses a serious health threat to local wildlife and negatively impacts water quality. Single-use plastics are the most dangerous pollutant, which breaks down into microplastics. In turn, microplastics can be ingested by animals and humans. In 2022, nearly 70% of all the litter removed during I Love A Clean San Diego’s community and countywide cleanups was a form of plastic or single-use item.

Plan a visit to the beach
Help prevent litter along the coast.

I Love A Clean San Diego encourages beachgoers to prepare ahead of time to reduce the amount of waste. They can help keep beaches clean by replacing disposable single-use items with reusable items. Instead of Styrofoam containers or single-use plastic cups of any kind, use hard plastic items, metal coolers, insulated bags and beach-safe cups as alternatives. Eliminate sandwich bags and food wrappers by shopping in bulk and packing reusable food storage containers. Refuse plastic utensils and do not take them from restaurants.

Instead, bring and use reusable options such as bamboo or silverware from home.

Avoid plastic bags and swap them with a tote or canvas bag.

The Clean Beach Coalition thanked its 2023 partners: The Coca-Cola Company, Think Blue San Diego, Pacific Beach Shore Club and Bank of America. The coalition is powered by I Love A Clean San Diego, Urban Corps and the city of San Diego.

Conservation, education and workforce development blend for a program that provides a range of meaningful impacts. By employing corps members, the coalition supports Urban Corps’ mission to provide thousands of young adults the opportunity to improve themselves while improving their communities. Additional information about the Clean Beach Coalition is available at <http://CleanBeachCoalition.org>.

Four factors affect housing supply

Jane Kepley
Special to the Village News

If you’ve been preparing to buy a home in the last couple of years, then you’re probably aware of the serious housing inventory shortage you may have to contend with.

Low housing supply has led to rising home prices, buyer competition and, in many markets, bidding wars.

But what caused the shortage in the first place? And why hasn’t it changed much in recent years? Here’s what you need to know.

Slow housing construction: Builders have reduced their work since the housing crash in 2008. There have also been issues with supply chains, the rising cost of lumber and other materials, and contractor shortages. All these elements have made it harder to build new homes to increase supply.

Homeowners staying put: Right now, mortgage rates are higher than they were at the height of the pandemic. Finding a new home doesn’t always make sense for homeowners with the 2% or 3% rates seen a few years ago. Few are choosing to sell because of interest rates, but many older homeowners are choosing to age in place, too – which keeps the number of existing homes on the market low.

High demand: Homebuying demand jumped during the pandemic. And while it’s slowed a bit due to higher mortgage rates, demand is still outpacing supply. Much of this demand comes from millennials, who are now at their prime homebuying age.

Institutional investors: Big investors are snapping up properties, too, and they often hope to rent them out, which takes them off the market for sale. At one point last year, they accounted for almost 7% of all home sales.

Despite these headwinds, finding a home that works for you is still possible if you have the right help. Are you ready to buy? Reach out to Jane Kepley with CR Properties for more guidance around homebuying and homeownership by calling 760-622-0204 or emailing kepleyrealestate@att.net.

Rainbow MWD hosts BHS field trip highlighting STEM careers

Engineering Manager Chad Williams shows a student how to identify water and wastewater lines on engineering plans during the BHS field trip to Rainbow Municipal Water District.

FALLBROOK – Rainbow Municipal Water District hosted a field trip for Bonsall High School students on April 27. The students learned about various STEM careers in the water industry, including engineering, operations, finance and technology. The field trip was a great success and engaged students in practical learning and hands-on experience. The field trip began with a session where the students learned how to use a scale ruler to read engineering plans and how to place survey stakes. They observed a pipeline in the ground, a vacuum-assisted trenching demonstration, and how the district locates buried infrastructure with specialized sensors. Additionally, they got to see a wastewater lift station and emergency response trailer. The students then learned about water meters and the importance of backflow devices to prevent water contamination. Chemistry students learned how to collect water samples and test for chlorine and turbidity from the district's System Operators. The Information Technology team showed students how they use the SCADA system to read tank and reservoir levels and demonstrated a miniature SCADA system model. Furthermore, the finance manager explained to the students that accounting is more than just math, but is also about analysis and showed them the practical application of the district's rate model. The field trip concluded with a session where students learned about the career entry points in the water industry at every level of education, from high school graduation though advanced degrees, and that all the district's jobs use STEM skills to be successful. "We are delighted to have hosted these young students and provide them with a comprehensive learning experience in the water industry," said Tom Kennedy, general manager of Rainbow Municipal Water District. "Our goal is to inspire the next generation of water professionals and provide them with the knowledge and tools to make a positive impact on our community." BUSD Superintendent Joseph Clevenger also expressed his appreciation, saying, "It was hands-down the best field trip that high school students have experienced. The students were engaged and excited to learn about these career paths and see firsthand the great work being done at Rainbow MWD." Vallecitos School District joins class action suit against social media companies

Village News Reporter

The Vallecitos School District joined a class action lawsuit against social media companies. The Vallecitos board voted 4-0 May 9, with one vacancy, to approve a legal services agreement with Frantz Law Group for the purpose of the litigation with the social media companies. The agreement designates Vallecitos School District superintendent Meliton Sanchez or his designee as the school district representative to work with the Frantz Law Group attorneys. “The board elected to join the class action suit against the various social media companies in the hopes that we can ultimately end up with some good safeguards in place,” Sanchez said. Frantz Law Group is based in San Diego. On April 13 the firm, representing 16 school districts across the nation, filed a lawsuit in the San Francisco district of Federal court against Meta (which owns Facebook), TikTok, Snap, YouTube, and other social media companies for knowingly causing harm to children who use their products through their manipulative algorithms which cause addiction. The complaint alleges that the social media companies have caused a mental and emotional health crisis among school-age children and have prioritized profit over the mental health and safety of children and their families. The lawsuit claims that the mental and emotional health crisis created by the students’ social media use has resulted in increased anxiety, depression, and thoughts of self-harm, all of which severely affect their ability to succeed in school. Students are also often subjected to harmful and exploitative content which encourages disorderly behavior, unhealthy social comparison, and cyberbullying. The litigation seeks to provide the funding and resources needed to mitigate the damage the school districts have experienced. The plaintiffs in the class action lawsuit include two other San Diego County school districts: the Coronado Unified School District and the Oceanside Unified School District.

Vallecitos School District gives 5% raise to classified employees

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

Classified employees who work for the Vallecitos School District will be receiving a 5% salary increase. The Vallecitos board voted 4-0 May 9, with one vacant seat, to approve the salary schedules which are effective for fiscal year 2022-23. The salary modifications also allow new classified employees to obtain step increases which increase the compensation. The Vallecitos district previously approved a collective bargaining with the Vallecitos Educators Association which represents the Vallecitos Elementary School teachers. “That resulted in a 5% pay increase,” said Vallecitos School District Superintendent Meliton Sanchez, who is also the district’s chief business officer and the nominal principal of Vallecitos Elementary School. The Vallecitos School District classified employees do not have their own union. “The only organized union we have on campus is our teachers,” Sanchez said. There was thus no formal collective bargaining agreement with the classified employees, but they were given the same increase the teachers were. The pay for specific groups of classified employees is based on steps, which previously required five years of work for the district prior to advancing to higher steps. “We opened up steps right away so you don’t have to be here for six years before you see a pay increase. You will now see a pay increase every single year,” Sanchez said. The annual pay for an accounting and administrative technician ranges from $38,439.55 ($18.48 per hour) for Step 1 to $71,508.88 ($34.38 per hour) for Step 22. The annual compensation for a custodian ranges from $33,852.00 ($16.28 hourly) for Step 1 to $62,974.69 ($30.28 hourly) for Step 22. All receptionists and administrative clerks will be paid at Step 21 and will receive $51,069.78 annually or $24.55 per hour. Some employees are classified as hourly including van drivers, noon supervisors, instructional aides, attendance and other office clerks, and substitutes; the pay scale has 10 groups as well as 22 steps.

Ten Warriors participate in letter of intent ceremony

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

Ten Fallbrook High School seniors participated in a letter of intent signing ceremony at the school, May 16.

Liberty Benitez will play women’s rugby at Life University in suburban Atlanta. Kaleb Collings will join the University of Redlands football team. Johnny Downey will participate in men’s lacrosse at Boise State University. Mikayla Gioia will be on the women’s soccer team at Culver-Stockton College in northeastern Missouri. Rayana Hilborn will continue her dance squad career at Vanguard University in Costa Mesa.

Trenton Pack will play football for the University of Laverne. Francisco Paredes will continue his water polo career at California State University Fullerton. Manava Pedro will be on the men’s volleyball team of Ottawa University in suburban Phoenix. Annie Riley will compete in women’s beach volleyball for Cal State University Long Beach. Taylor Sanchez will be part of the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire women’s lacrosse team.

“Proud of these seniors who are not only obviously signing letters of intent but have helped build a really important school culture with their success in athletics,” said Fallbrook High Athletic Director Pat Walker.

Because the signing was ceremonial, letters of intent were not actually signed May 16. Many student-athletes signed their letters of intent earlier. The ceremony also allows athletes who attend NCAA Division III or other non-scholarship programs to participate as well as students attending military academies which do not have official letters of intent.

“I’m incredibly proud of what they’ve done,” said Fallbrook High School Principal Lauren Jones.

“Just extremely proud of these students who have dedicated their time to being student-athletes,” said Fallbrook Union High School District Superintendent Ilsa Garza-Gonzalez.

“I’m proud to have them representing Fallbrook High School,” Jones said.

Walker also noted that the students’ success in the classroom was also responsible for the seniors being provided the college offers they received. He also expressed his appreciation to the players’ coaches and parents.

Garza-Gonzalez also noted the role of the coaches. “Our coaches are mentors, teachers. They go above and beyond to provide these student-athletes,” she said.

Editor’s Note: Individual stories on each student-athlete will be published in the next few weeks.

County honors volunteers at recognition ceremony

Tracy DeFore
*County of San Diego
Communications Office*

People who freely give their time without any thought of monetary reward deserve to be celebrated. And the County did just that by honoring its volunteers during the 2023 Volunteer Recognition Ceremony May 2 at the County Administration Center.

Volunteers are truly valued for their donation of time, skills and knowledge. Their work makes all the difference in helping the County provide quality customer service.

Last fiscal year, 7,670 volunteers saved the County $23 million, allowing those dollars to go toward other programs and services.

During the event, Board Chairwoman Nora Vargas presented a proclamation for Volunteer Recognition Month to the county’s volunteer coordinator Marylyn Gines and departmental coordinators.

Afterward, the Board of Supervisors recognized the volunteers that were nominated by departments as providing outstanding service. These 2023 County Volunteers of the Year include:

The District 5 Community Planning Sponsor Group Chairs Robert Carlyle, James Chagala, Eileen Delaney for Fallbrook, Rebecca Falk, Sandra Farrell, Paul Georgantas for Rainbow, Delores Harmes, Steve Norris for Bonsall, and Hans Peterma.

Community planning and sponsor groups play an important role in shaping the growth and development of a community. They hold regular public meetings to gather community input, and then provide informed recommendations to County decision-makers on proposed projects and initiatives.

Their participation in the land use process is critical to ensure the needs and interests of local residents are taken into account. Community Planning and sponsor groups truly are the backbone of the unincorporated County. Without their efforts, many important projects and other local initiatives would not be possible.

Their dedication to public service is making the county a better place and is a testament to each member’s character and values. The community planning and sponsor groups in District 5 contributed to a total of 4,320 hours in volunteer work.

If you are interested in becoming a volunteer, you can find opportunities at a variety of county departments and through county partners. For more information, visit <https://www.sandiegocounty.gov/content/sdc/volunteer.html>.

OBITUARIES

Dorothy Louise Bryant, 102, passed away in Fallbrook on May 18, 2023, in the arms of two of her daughters, Debbie and Patty. Debbie lovingly cared for her mother at home as she approached her centenarian age.

She was born in Bridgewater, Michigan on Dec. 31, 1920, to Arthur and Louise Hildinger. She was a 75-year resident of Fallbrook.

Dorothy graduated from University High School in Ann Arbor, Michigan. In February 1943, she graduated from Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, Michigan. She earned a bachelor’s degree in business administration and teaching. She worked at Ford Motor Company during World War II assisting three civil engineers who were designing and building bombers for the war.

On April 26, 1945, she married George Garrie Bryant Jr. in Washington D.C. They were married for 62 years before his death on July 24, 2008.

Dorothy was an avid reader, gardener, quilter, baker, and dog lover. She continued with the ranching life of growing avocados well into her 90’s. Most importantly, she enjoyed spending time with her family.

Family and friends describe her as strong, kind, loving, courteous, gentle, inquisitive, caring, and always helpful. A true storyteller, her secret to living to 102 was to “Be Happy!”

Dorothy was preceded in death by her parents, Arthur and Louise Hildinger, Magdalena and Edward Staebler, and her brother Neil Staebler along with her husband George Garrie Bryant.

She is survived by her daughters, Jo Anne Slesman (son-in-law John), Raleigh, N.C.; Candice Serry, Escondido, Calif., Patricia VanReenen (son-in-law Tim), Richland, Wash., and Deborah Bryant, Fallbrook, Calif. along with seven grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, and five great-great-grandchildren.

Graveside service was held at Riverside National Cemetery May 24, 2023.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Friends of the Fallbrook Library.

Berry-Bell and Hall Fallbrook Mortuary handled the arrangements. Please log on to <https://www.berry-bellandhall.com> to view and sign Dorothy’s guestbook.

Mary Gallina passed away at home on May 9, 2023, surrounded by family at the age of 87 in Fallbrook, Calif. Mary fought a long and courageous battle with several forms of cancer. Mary was preceded in death by her husband Don Gallina; her father Charles Melton Presley, stepfather Walter Avon Sr. and Tennie Terry; and her son Gary Bradbury.

She leaves her stepchildren, Debbie Lopez of San Bernardino, Calif.; Dick Gallina of Highland, Calif.; Bob Gallina of Highland, Calif.; “adopted” son Thad Morrow of Ogden, Utah.; Jay Bradbury of Linn, Mo.; 22 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Mary was heavily involved with her community. She was a bookkeeper for many years at the Fallbrook Fire Dept. In her later years, she volunteered with the San Diego County Sheriff’s Dept. Mary wore all sorts of hats throughout her lifetime. She was an amazing Mother, Sister, Wife, Friend, Grandmother and Great-grandmother. She will be greatly missed by those who loved her.

Services will be held at The United Methodist Church located at 1844 Winterhaven Road, Fallbrook. Services will be May 31 at 2 p.m. sharp. If sending flowers, please send them to the church or donations can be made to the church in her name.

DINING

Have great fun making Hot Caramel Sauce

Judith Bell
Food Editor

Very recently two very special young women stopped by to cook with me. Addie Kuntz is learning the culinary profession in the old-fashioned way...she's doing it. Currently she is a sous chef in a very upscale Japanese restaurant. She comes to cook with me when she has a day off. She is the daughter of Kathleen and Dave Kuntz. I've known Kathleen since she was a toddler.

Makenzi Ditzler is Addie's cousin. She was a surprise that day. Makenzi is the daughter of John Ditzler Jr. and his wife Paulette. John is like my "second son." Paulette is a culinary instructor. John and Paulette are amazing cooks, and it seems that the youngest daughter knows her way around the kitchen, too!

The three of us had an instructive yet laughter-filled afternoon.

Our dessert choice was Hot Caramel Sauce. It is such a good recipe with only three ingredients; it is simple and can be made well in advance of serving. It turns vanilla ice cream into a noteworthy dessert.

Hot Caramel Sauce will be one of the recipes in the Village News Holiday Cookbook exclusive to Village News subscribers. See page D-5 for the details. You don't want to miss this wonderful collection of tested recipes that you won't find anywhere else.

Hot Caramel Sauce

½ cup (1 stick) butter
1 cup sugar
½ cup whipping cream

Melt butter in a heavy medium-size saucepan over low heat. Stir sugar into melted butter. When mixed, increase heat to medium and cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture is a rich caramel color. The mixture will also appear quite thick.

Remove the saucepan from heat. Blend in cream. It will foam up and then settle down. If there are lumps, return to heat and stir with a whisk until lumps disappear. Serve warm over ice cream.

Refrigerate any hot caramel sauce. When ready to use, warm over low to medium heat.

Makes 1 ½ cups

Cousins Makenzi Ditzler, right and Addie Kuntz, middle, have a fun-filled afternoon cooking with Judith Bell, the Village News food editor. Both love cooking! They made and enjoyed Hot Caramel Sauce, using one of the recipes that will be included in the Village News Holiday Cookbook available only to Village News subscribers. Details on page D-5.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. All checks payable to Prestige Default Services, LLC. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916) 939-0772 or visit this Internet Website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 22-7977. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916) 939-0772, or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 22-7977 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
