Supervisors
approve BUSD bond
refinancing

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

The Bonsall Unified School District and its property owners are expected to save $136,000 in interest payments as the result of the refinancing of general obligation bonds approved in 2005 by the voters of what was then the Bonsall Union School District.

A 5-0 San Diego County Board of Supervisors vote March 13 approved the refinancing of the $2,250,000 outstanding amount from bonds issued in 2007. The school district will be responsible for the process of selling the refunding bonds, but because the bond debt is financed by a property tax assessment County of San Diego approval was needed to authorize the county's Treasurer-Tax Collector to execute the agreement to forward the money to the school district and to direct the county's auditor and controller to maintain the taxes on the tax roll for the school district territory.

In November 2005, the Bonsall Union School District voters approved the issuance of $17 million of general obligation bonds for the repair and rehabilitation of Bonsall's public schools and the construction and acquisition of classrooms and other facilities. The

assistance at outreach event

Tom Ferrall
Staff Writer

A count of the homeless conducted throughout San Diego County Jan. 26 revealed that Fallbrook had at least 25 people living on – or under – the streets or in vehicles.

"There may be some problems with the count in the sense that we did a 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. count and by that time they're up and moving," said Brad Fox, a 30-year Fallbrook resident who has taken up the cause of helping the homeless in the Friendly Village. "In other parts of the county they do a 4 a.m. to 6 a.m. count."

Fox and eight fellow church members from SonRise Christian Fellowship, along with members of another group called Fallbrook Homeless Advocacy, are spearheading a campaign to get the local homeless help so they can then help themselves.

"It's kind of a justice mission where we're helping people rehabilitate their lives – not just maintain their lives the way it is,

Plans for skate park
are updated

FALLBROOK – At the end of 2017, Fallbrook Skatepark announced that the skatepark would no longer be built at Ingold Sports Park and that the priority in 2018 would be to seek a new site to host the park.

In January 2018, members of the County Service Area 81 Local Parks Advisory Committee, which is made up of Fallbrook residents appointed by the county supervisor's office, voted to have direction from the county Parks & Recreation Department to research and establish a list of properties in Fallbrook suitable for achieving multiple local park priorities, including skate elements.

This new direction presents a change for Fallbrook Skatepark. County Park Land Dedication Ordinance funds could be used to purchase park land. These funds could also be used to design and develop a new local park in Fallbrook. The county and community stakeholders can also pursue alternate funding sources to augment the overall project. Fallbrook Skatepark is now focusing on fundraising activities with the interest of partnering

Supervisors reduce Gird Road speed limit to 45 mph

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

The speed limit on Gird Road from Highway 76 to 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive will be reduced from 50 mph to 45 mph.

A 5-0 San Diego County Board of Supervisors vote March 28 approved the first reading and introduction of an ordinance to enact a 45 mph speed limit for the entire 3.61-mile portion of Gird Road between Reche Road and State Route 76 while also approving certification of the speed limit for radar enforcement. If a second reading and adoption is approved April 18 enforcement could begin May 18.

"Keeping our roadways safe is a priority," said Supervisor Bill Horn. "The Traffic Advisory Committee studied traffic volume, driving conditions, and collisions on Gird Road from 76 to Oak Cliff Drive and recommended a speed limit change from 50 mph to 45 mph."

The county's Traffic Advisory Committee meet Jan. 26 and made a unanimous recommendation that all of Gird Road have a 45 mph speed limit and that the speed limit be certified for radar enforcement.

In order for a speed limit to be enforceable by radar, a speed survey must show that the speed limit is within an adjacent 5 mph increment to the 85th percentile speed. The speed limit may be rounded either up or down from the 85th percentile speed. The speed limit may also be rounded down an additional 5 mph if findings are made that the road has conditions which would not be apparent to a motorist unfamiliar with the road. Accident rates higher than the statewide average were the findings which allowed for the recommended 45 mph speed limit both from State Route 76 to 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive and from 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive to Reche Road.

Currently the 1.26-mile segment from Highway 76 to 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive has a posted speed limit of 50 mph while the 2.35-mile portion from 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive to Reche Road has a posted 45 mph speed limit. Neither of those speed limits were previously certified for radar enforcement.

Gird Road is classified as a Light Collector on the mobility element of the county's general plan. The street ranges in width from 32 to 45 feet, has a striped centerline, and has signals at State Route 76 and at Reche Road. A traffic survey was taken September 8, 2016, 150 feet south of Via Loma with 1,878 northbound and 1,819 southbound vehicles creating a two-way average daily volume of 3,697 motorists.

The traffic survey was taken after the closure of the Fallbrook Golf Club, and the accident rate was based on a 12-month period from June 1, 2016, to May 31, 2017. The four reported collisions between State Route 76 and 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive created a collision rate of 2.36 per million vehicle miles. Six collisions during that period, including three which involved injury, occurred between 1,000 feet south of Oak Cliff Drive and Reche Road for a collision rate of 1.90 per million vehicle miles. The statewide average for similar suburban two-lane roads with speed limits between 45 mph and

Deadline to pre-order rain barrels is April 8

FALLBROOK – The deadline to pre-order Ivy rain barrels to be picked up at the Fallbrook Public Utility District is 11 p.m. April 8. Solana Center for Environmental Innovation and the County of San Diego have teamed up to offer discounted rain barrels to encourage rainwater harvesting.

The barrels, which have many unique features, retail at $129 each but can be had for $90. People can cut the cost to $55 by applying for a $35 rebate. Residents can buy the barrels online for $90 each at www.RainBarrelProgram.org/SD, print the receipt and apply for the $35 rebate at www.socalwatersmart.com. Buyers can get up to two $35 rebates and will need a copy of their water bill.

People need to bring their receipt to FPUd April 15, when a barrel pickup event will be held in the parking lot from noon to 3 p.m. FPUd is located at 990 E. Mission Road and people can also just show up the day of the event and buy a rain barrel on the spot. Help will be available for loading barrels into vehicles.

The rebates come from wholesaler Metropolitan Water District and rebate checks take about five weeks to arrive in mailboxes. Buyers should first make sure they’re eligible as it is a one-time rebate application. If someone has received a rain barrel rebate from Metropolitan in the past, they won’t be eligible for another one.

Firefighters make quick work of kitchen fire

Kim Harris
Managing Editor

Firefighters from North County Fire Protection District and Camp Pendleton extinguished a kitchen fire in the 100 block of North Vine Street in Fallbrook early this morning.

The fire was first reported at 7:30 a.m. at the Mariscos El Pacifico restaurant located at 111 North Vine St., according to John Buchanan, a public information officer with the North County Fire Protection District.

“We were dispatched to a partial fire at the Mexican restaurant,” Buchanan said, adding that upon their arrival firefighters found there was a fire in the kitchen on the cooktop.

“It was a grease fire that filled the whole building with smoke.” Buchanan said. “Our guys were able to mitigate it.”

Buchanan said there was no damage to the structure, just the cooking surface but that the business would remain closed until the cooking unit could be serviced and checked to make sure it is back up to a safe operating level.

Kim Harris can be reached by sending an email to valleyeditor@reedermedia.com.

OPINION

Safeguarding our schools

Assemblymember Marie Waldron
AD-75 (R)

School safety has to be our first priority. That’s why I introduced Assembly Bill 1983 requiring local school districts to collaborate with local law enforcement to create mandatory threat assessment protocols and facility reassessments so that all schools will have documented protections, advanced technologies and strategies in place should a threat arise.

Unfortunately, a large majority of schools remain unprepared to deal with external or internal threats. While both law enforcement and school personnel are highly trained professionals who always prioritize student welfare and school safety, they are not required to work together to create and implement security protocols and threat assessments geared to each school’s unique circumstances and campus layouts. This lack of collaboration between schools and law enforcement may lead to confusion and chaos during a crisis.

Facility assessments would include campus fencing, walls, parking lots, lighting, security cameras, building layouts, visibility or blind spots, weapons detection, ‘smart’ student identification, communication protocols between school/public/law enforcement, and the potential effectiveness of all emergency plans. These assessments should lead schools to take advantage of reasonably priced new technologies aimed at securing school perimeters and allowing safe ingress/egress on all campuses.

As we all know, threats can come in many forms and can occur anywhere at any time. Each type of threat needs to be assessed with the help of local law enforcement, providing school administrators with the information they will need to respond effectively during a crisis.

By passing AB 1983 and by requiring these practical, concrete steps, security at all California schools will be strengthened, and most importantly, the safety of our children will be ensured.

All politics are local

Let’s look at politics from our vantage point in Fallbrook. In the 5th Supervisorial District, declared candidate Kern Gothe was involved in an Oceanside City Council recall action. Firefighters and a union backed the recall at a cost of roughly $250,000. Gothe had 11 identified defense donors, nine of which were from real estate and builder entities, according to https://ballotpedia.org/Jerry Kern recall, City of Oceanside \(December 2009\)#Cost of recall election#Cost_of_recall_election).

The 5th District for which he is running will have major development issues to resolve soon. Signatures are being collected to put the “Safeguard our San Diego Countryside” initiative on the November ballot, which would require a countywide ballot for all major developments.

The menu also includes 75th district incumbent

Assemblywoman Marie Waldron, timed out 38th District state Sen. Joel Anderson, the open 49th Congressional District seat, incumbent Duncan Hunter for the 50th District, the open 5th Supervisorial District, all the state government offices.

Let me say at the outset that I think little remote Fallbrook is mostly underserved by the state legislators, the supervisors and El Cajon-centric Duncan Hunter. They follow either the money or a mantra handed them. They don’t reflect my interests. Anderson has his eye on the 2nd District super seat being vacated by Dine Jacob, who has also timed out. His visibility in Fallbrook was essentially nil. Anderson answers mostly to outside money including Koch funds source “ALEC.” An evaluation of Anderson can be seen at https://escondidograpevine.com/2017/03/04/follow-the- money-joel-anderson-edition.

We’ll have to wait and see who’s running for the 38th District but we ought to warn the 2nd super district people.

The Palomar Mountain Fire Station will soon be getting a $1.8 million remodel, including permanent living quarters to house four to six firefighters and other significant improvements.

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors voted March 27 to amend a 50-year lease with the Palomar Mountain Volunteer Fire Department to allow for construction, demolition and reconfiguring of the property and to send the project out to bid.

The county contracts with Cal Fire to provide fire and emergency medical services in the community of Palomar Mountain. The fire station at 21610 Crestline Road, built in the early 1990s, sits on 3.29 acres. Currently, it has no living space, so firefighters temporarily sleep in an adjacent community center.

In addition to the living quarters, the county plans to add an office, to widen and pave a fire truck access road and to make the station compliant for visitors with disabilities.

Last August, the board voted to fund temporary living quarters for the firefighters, but a county Fire Authority assessment indicated the station needed to be a long-term facility requiring the living quarters to be upgraded to permanent.

The station is staffed regularly with two firefighters, one of which is also a paramedic, Herman Reddick, county Fire Authority director, said.

What does it mean to be a designated Blue Zone[®]?

A Blue Zones Community is an area in which citizens, schools, employers, restaurants, grocery stores, and community leaders have come together to optimize resident’s longevity and well-being. A team that helps transform communities into thriving places to live, work, eat and play. The author of several Blue Zones books, Dan Buettner, says while discovering Blue Zones areas, he found that having a strong sense of purpose, a circle of healthy friends and living in walkable neighborhoods are as important as a good diet. If this concept of community interests you and your family, we look forward to seeing you at this event!

In conjunction with our vision for the upcoming wellness center, the Fallbrook Regional Health District changed its Vision to reflect a goal of being designated a Blue Zone[®] by the year 2022.

but to help improve their lives, give them a new vision of themselves, a new improvement of self esteem,” said Fox.

Fox has been consistently contacting county officials about getting more assistance for the homeless of Fallbrook and March 29 a “Homeless Outreach Event” was held at Jackie Heyneman Park from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Jackie Heyneman Park has been a popular hangout spot for the homeless and the outreach event was promoted via notices posted on park benches. Ironically, the notices may have scared off some of the people targeted as the park – which during the daytime can be occupied by more than a dozen homeless individuals – was visited by only a handful March 29.

Deanna Zotalis-Ferreira, interim deputy director, North County Regions, of the County of San Diego Health & Human Services Agency, said five homeless people were served at the Fallbrook event.

The homeless that did attend were offered the opportunity to get a hepatitis A shot from Robin Anderson, a public health nurse with the county. Chasity Gorbea, a human services specialist with the county, was there to let the individuals know what kind of benefits they may be eligible for, including Medical, CalFresh (California food stamps) or General Relief, a county-funded, cash-based program for individuals in poverty.

Dexter Egleston with Interfaith Community Services conducted housing assessments, and officials from the McAlister Institute provided information on drug and alcohol rehabilitation services. Deputies from the Sheriff’s Fallbrook substation were also in attendance for open discussion.

Anderson reported that the county has administered more than 100,000 hepatitis A vaccinations during the past several months due to the crisis with the virus.

“We’ve been all over,” said Anderson, who at the Fallbrook event gave a man named Terry his second shot. “Now he’s fully immune.”

Egleston said he frequently comes to Fallbrook to check in on clients that Interfaith Community Services have housed in local hotels.

“They are temporarily being lodged at one of the hotels and we

Keeping Fallbrook informed

Two big pipeline repair projects set to start soon

Beginning sometime in mid-April or early May, two separate sections of pipelines buried under the roads will be dug up and replaced. One section is on Old Stage Road. The other is on Highway 395, east of Interstate 15.

Both jobs are expected to take about four months to complete and contractors have been hired for each job..

The pipeline under Old Stage Road, from E. Aviation Road to E. Fallbrook Street, was identified as a priority project for FPUD due to leaks, its age and condition. Construction crews will be replacing 1,000 feet of pipe there.

The pipeline adjacent to Hwy. 395 will be relocated to a new location on Hwy. 395. Portions of the pipe were exposed above ground and are structurally deficient.

This is one of the water supply pipelines for the district. It was also deemed a priority project.

All construction work will be done on weekdays, from 7 a.m to 4:30 p.m. Traffic impacts are likely and we will be posting electronic signs and regular updates to our website at www.fpud.com. The re-construction is part of FPUD’s proactive approach to pipeline and valve replacement. ●

Rain barrel sale, pick-up event in FPUD parking lot

$90 barrels cost $55 after rebate check mailed to your home

Discounted Ivy rain barrels are available for purchase online, then can be picked up at the FPUD parking lot, 990 E. Mission Road, on Sun., April 15 between noon and 3 p.m.

Or, you can just show up the day of the event and buy one on the spot. Pre-ordering, however, ensures availability in the event they sell out.

We’re partnering with the County of San Diego and Solana Center for Environmental Innovations to make it easy to get high-end, 50-gallon rain barrels to capture and reuse rain. The barrels retail at $129 each and have many unique features.

Here’s how it works:

Buy the barrels online for $90 each at www.RainBarrelProgram.org/SD, print the receipt, then apply for the $35 rebate at www.socalwatersmart.com. You can get up to two $35 rebates and will need a copy of your water bill. The rebates come from wholesaler Metropolitan Water District and checks take about five weeks to arrive in your mailbox. Make sure you’re eligible first; it is a one-time rebate application and if you received a rain barrel rebate from Metropolitan in the past, you won’t be eligible for another one.

Bring your receipt to FPUD April 15. Barrels will be loaded into your car for you.

are providing services to connect them to resources in our community as well as permanent housing interventions,” said Egleston. “We’ve stopped taking in new clients for the voucher program, however, we’re still providing outreach to connect these clients to permanent housing interventions.”

Egleston interviews the homeless to determine what type of housing help they may qualify for.

“All homeless clients are qualified to be assessed and sent in a certain direction depending on what level they qualify for, depending if it’s wraparound housing or permanent supportive housing,” said Egleston. “We’ll talk to a client and understand what their situation is and do an initial assessment, putting them in our coordinated entry system. And then they’ll be matched to a housing provider in the county of San Diego.”

Jackie Heyneman came to the park named in her honor to participate in the homeless outreach event.

“My purpose for being here today is to hopefully encourage the county to provide some help to us,” said Heyneman. “I’m hoping something comes of this.”

Heyneman complimented Fox and the other community members working on the homeless situation in Fallbrook, noting that they have been researching homeless programs throughout the county to find out what might work locally.

“There are a lot of people involved in making this happen,” said Heyneman. “Some real sincere effort has gone into this as well as and seeking information from other groups that have been successful. That’s part of the learning process to know what to do.”

One homeless person well known in Fallbrook is Dave Pepper, who used to be a fixture sitting on a chair in front of the Graybill Medical Group offices on South Main Avenue. According to Fox, Pepper is now receiving help.

“I understand he’s been voluntarily committed to a mental health care institution in North County,” said Fox. “He’s been housed and getting training and medical care. Dave is brain damaged – he told me that himself – and he’s got learning disabilities. He’s a good guy and he’s being taken care of. He was our poster boy for homelessness in Fallbrook because he was in the worst shape. Even the homeless people feel sorry for him.”

Terry said he has been on the streets “on and off for seven years.”

“Me and my wife split up,” said Terry in explaining how he ended up homeless. “I gave her all the money, I gave her the car and I gave the daughter. I sent her money and I sent her money. Then my unemployment ran out.”

Terry, who took a quick swig of something offered by a friend, was asked if he saw any way out of the situation he was currently in.

“Well, it’s either a lotto ticket or a bullet,” said Terry, who then waited a few moments before adding, “seriously, the only way is to keep the faith. That’s it. You have to have the faith and the hope.”

Fox and others like him work to provide that hope.

“We want to be sensitive to our community and we want to be sensitive to our homeless, because they are part of our community,” said Fox.

Stergulz to judge Fallbrook Art Association’s annual Plein Air Competition and Show

“Windows to the Soul” is a work by Richard Stergulz, the upcoming speaker for the Fallbrook Art Association and judge of the Plein Air Competition and Show.

FALLBROOK - The Fallbrook Art Association announced their annual Plein Air Competition and Show, Wednesday, April 25, at Grand Tradition, 220 Grand Tradition Way, in Fallbrook.

The one-day event is open to all artists. Participants can sign in 10 a.m. with their $20 entry fee or $25 for non-members and have their materials stamped. They can paint any subject on the grounds and must return the finished painting no later than 3 p.m. This year’s judge is Richard Stergulz. Cash prizes will be awarded to first-, second- and third-place winners. The awards presentation will be held 4 p.m. For more information, visit www.fallbrookartassn.org or to view location photos, visit www.grandtraditions.com.

Stergulz is an Illinois native who by the age of eight knew he wanted to be an artist. He graduated from the American Academy of Art in Chicago in 1983 and began a successful commercial art career. After 12 years of commercial art, Stergulz said he felt it was time to fine tune his fine art style. He moved to California in 1995 and started painting for himself in a realistic style with a touch of Russian impressionism.

“I admire the Russian Impressionists, especially Nickolai Fechin, for their intense brush strokes that exude passion into their paintings. I also admire Norman Rockwell for his amazing drawing ability and the volume of work he produced in his lifetime,” Stergulz said.

He said he also admires John Singer Sargent for his portrait work.

“His portraits give a sense of reality but still have a painterly style which I hope to aspire to,” he said.

Stergulz works in oils on masonite board. His work is mostly figurative, he said, and he has started plein air painting as much as possible. He teaches class four days a week as well as doing demonstrations for most of the art associations in San Diego and Riverside counties. His work hangs in galleries in Santa Monica, Idyllwild and Vista, California. His paintings have won numerous awards from “Best of Show” to “People’s Choice.”

Stergulz and Leslie Sweetland have opened an art school and retreat called The Green Art House at Pala Mesa Resort, 2001 Old Hwy 395, in Fallbrook. Their website is www.thegreenarthouse.org.

Stergulz is also the guest artist at the next Fallbrook Art Association meeting. The public is invited to the meeting Saturday, April 21, at 9:30 a.m. at The Fallbrook Women’s Club, 238 W. Mission Road. The meeting will include a critique of members’ paintings, one work each, 9:30 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., followed by Stergulz’ demonstration, painting in oil.

After the demonstration, he will conduct a workshop from 1-4 p.m. in oils. The workshop is open to both beginners and advanced painters, members and non-members. The cost for members is $40, with $35 going to the artist and $5 to the art association, and the cost for non-members is $50, with $45 going to the artist and $5 to the art association.

To register, call Carol Reardon at (760) 731-6677. Participants need to register in advance by sending in checks to reserve a spot. When a spot is reserved, Reardon will email a list of supplies to bring and the class agenda.

Fallbrook Gem and Mineral Society meeting to feature Cal Graeber on Rogerley Mine fluorite

FALLBROOK - Fallbrook Gem and Mineral Society will present Cal Graeber, well-known Fallbrook mineral dealer, appraiser and miner, as the guest speaker at its monthly meeting 7 p.m. Thursday, April 12, in the society’s meeting room at 123 W. Alvarado Street, in Fallbrook.

Active in the mineral trade since graduating from the Colorado

School of Mines in 1972, Graeber will share his adventures and tenure as a principal partner in UK Mining Ventures, where he dedicated his summers to mining fluorite in England’s famous Rogerley Mine from 1999 to 2017.

Located in northern England, the Rogerley Mine was first discovered in the early 1970s in an abandoned 19th century limestone quarry, which was originally a source of limestone flux for local iron foundries. Open in 1972 by a group of mineral collectors, the mine was developed solely to mine mineral specimens on a commercial basis. The mineral collectors group became the Cumbria Mining and Mineral Company and successfully operated the mine on weekends until 1999, when a partner’s ill health forced them to sell. A group of American collectors and dealers, that included Cal Graeber and his wife, Kerith, decided to take over the operation as UK Mining Ventures.

So began an 18-year adventure for the Graebers, Jesse Fisher and his wife, Joan, head miner Byron Weege and local miner Dave Beadle, all of whom worked the Rogerley Mine each year, mostly during the summer, until it was passed on to another team in 2017. Graeber will describe the trials, tribulations and amazing finds that far surpassed their expectations and show why the Rogerley Mine fluorites are so unique and are found in major mineral collections worldwide.

artificial light known as “daylight fluorescence.” Fluorite specimens from the Rogerley Mine will be available for everyone to see these amazing characteristics.

Plenty of free parking is available on the street and in the parking lot across from the building. An opportunity raffle will be held, and FALLBROOK – The Just A Breath Away Foundation, a Southern California-based nonprofit, announced the launch of the Paintings of Promise sponsorship program. For each campaign, the foundation will showcase the story of a severe traumatic brain injury survivor and spearhead fundraising efforts for their benefit.

For March and April 2018, JABA is sponsoring survivor Lesley Leamy. After a head-first workplace fall from a 15-foot ladder, Leamy was diagnosed with white matter brain damage, which also triggered drug-resistant epilepsy for which she must take a barrage of seizure-suppressing medication. Despite her injury and long recovery process, she has learned to laugh and carry on with a positive attitude, JABA founder Kathleen Newhouse said.

While she strives to regain her health, Leamy remains dedicated to advocating for epilepsy awareness. In the meantime, she finds herself overwhelmed by medical bills and a lack of support for daily living expenses. To help offset some of Leamy's expenses, JABA will donate 90 percent of all profits from the Paintings of Promise sponsorship program for March and April.

Each Paintings of Promise sponsorship will center around an original oil painting hand-selected by Newhouse, artist and Fallbrook resident. For the March and April campaign, Newhouse has chosen the artwork entitled, "Wiped Out." JABA hopes to raise funds for Leamy's health expenses with the sale of Newhouse's paintings, including this hand-selected piece and with various levels of monetary donation.

"The effects of STBI can be devastating for survivors and their loved ones," JABA president Newhouse said. "Through the Paintings of Promise program, our team hopes to help alleviate some of the financial burden for Lesley; our first official sponsored survivor. With donations starting at only $25, it's possible to help make a difference in Lesley's life. Please help give her the hope and support she needs while this warrior survivor fights to recover."

According to the Brain Injury Association of America, brain injury strikes 2.5 million people per year. That's one injury every 12.6 seconds. Approximately 500,000 of those injuries require hospitalization and close to 75,000 result in death. Between 70,000 and 90,000 survivors sustain injuries that are long-term or permanent. There are currently 5 million Americans living with disabilities resulting from brain injury.

Newhouse experienced a ruptured brain abscess that nearly cost her life. Despite being given less than a 5 percent chance of survival with the likelihood of landing in a vegetative state, Newhouse went through a long journey to recovery. Since her injury, Newhouse has relearned to walk, talk, read and even socialize all over again. She has discovered a talent for painting.

In June 2017, Kathleen Newhouse and her husband Galen Newhouse launched the Just A Breath Away Foundation, a nonprofit organization established to increase awareness of severe traumatic brain injury and to raise funds to help survivors and their families. Elizabeth Hospice earns ‘Gold Seal of Approval’ from The Joint Commission

San Diego – The Joint Commission, an independent, not-for-profit organization that certifies and accredits health care institutions across the United States, has awarded its Gold Seal of Approval to The Elizabeth Hospice. The Elizabeth Hospice received Joint Commission Accreditation “deemed status” which demonstrates that The Elizabeth Hospice exceeds Medicare and Medicaid requirements and has met the higher quality standards set forth by The Joint Commission. Joint Commission accreditation and certification is a recognizable symbol that shows a commitment to quality and dedication to excellence.

“The Elizabeth Hospice was evaluated against a set of national standards by a team of Joint Commission surveyors experienced in hospice services,” Jan Jones, president and CEO of The Elizabeth Hospice, said. “Accreditation is a voluntary process, and I am proud of our organization for undertaking this challenge to execute the highest standard of care. We have achieved a symbol of quality that reflects our dedication to provide quality health care for every patient.”

More than 1,400 hospice programs out of 4,000 in the United States currently maintain accreditation by The Joint Commission with approximately 1,000 receiving deemed status. The Joint Commission's hospice standards are developed in consultation with health care experts, hospice providers and researchers, as well as industry experts and consumers. The standards are informed by scientific literature and expert consensus to help organizations measure, assess and improve performance.

“Joint Commission accredited hospices demonstrate their deep abiding commitment to quality end-of-life care,” Margherita Labson, executive director of the Home Care Accreditation Program for the The Joint Commission, said. “We commend The Elizabeth Hospice for achieving this accreditation to inspire the highest level of care for patients with life-limiting illnesses and their families in the hospice setting.”

Supervisors triple spending on substance abuse care

Jose A. Alvarez
County of San Diego
Communications Office

Thousands more San Diegans will have access to substance abuse treatment thanks to a new delivery system approved March 27 by the county board of supervisors.

The decision will triple spending on substance use disorders from $54.6 million to $179.6 million over the next three years to address opioid and other substance abuse that often exacerbate homelessness, mental illness and criminal behavior.

The new and comprehensive Substance Use Disorders Treatment Delivery System was unveiled at a March 26 news conference with elected officials, treatment providers, health care experts and federal and local criminal justice leaders.

The enhanced system was specifically designed to serve low-income San Diegans and will address the systemic damage that substance abuse inflicts on people, families and communities. According to San Diego County Medical Examiner data, the number of unintentional drug and alcohol-related deaths more than doubled — they jumped from 268 to 544 — from 2000-2016.

The new system, known as the Drug Medi-Cal Organized Delivery System, will allow the county to tap into more federal Medicaid funds, significantly enhance services and expand the provider network to increase the number of clients served. California was the first state in the nation to create an organized delivery system for drug treatment services for people who receive Medi-Cal.

During fiscal year 2016-2017, more than 11,300 people received substance-use treatment at county-funded centers. The new system will have the capability to increase the number of clients served by 30 percent or more than 3,300 clients. The new services will be more comprehensive and include case management, withdrawal management, medication assisted treatment, aftercare and recovery residences.

The new system will improve care, increase efficiency, reduce costs and will ultimately address the collision of the homeless and substance abuse problems.

“This is a game-changing opportunity to address a serious public health and public safety problem in our region,” Alfredo Aguirre, director of behavioral health services for the county Health and Human Services Agency, said. “An important benefit of this new system will be the ability to provide clients the right services at the right time, based on their medical needs.”

The county drug treatment services align with Live Well San Diego, which aims to improve the health and safety of area residents.

People experiencing a substance abuse problem can call the county’s Access and Crisis Line at (888) 724-7240 or 211 San Diego.

Yes, sometimes it’s good to say, ‘No’

The American Counseling Association
Special to the Village News

Most people, most of the time, want to be nice, to do what is asked and to please those asking for help. They usually try to be accommodating at work, with friends and with family members.

But sometimes, rather than replying, “Sure,” when asked to do an inconvenient favor or to take on a task beyond our abilities, it may make better sense to say, “No.”

It can often be difficult to just utter that simple “no.” People like to look responsible, helpful and capable; however, the reality is that saying “yes” to virtually every request can produce a variety of negative results.

Research has shown that the more difficulty someone has in saying “no,” the more the person is likely to experience stress, burnout and possibly even depression. Difficult requests are highly likely to make them feel frustrated or anxious, or even mad for saying “yes” in the first place.

The key to saying “no” is to do it in a respectful and courteous manner. It starts with understanding what the boundaries are and not being embarrassed to accept and follow those boundaries. When someone sees that a request is going to push them into a zone where they’ll feel uncomfortable or not fully competent, it’s important to make those feelings and decision, clearly known.

Responding to a request with phrases like, “Gee, I’m not certain I can,” makes it clear that the person is not being straightforward about the decision. That’s also true when their immediate response is to start apologizing or making excuses and explanations for why they can’t do what’s being requested.

Instead, they should first make sure that saying “no” is really the only alternative. If not, they should politely let the person know they would like to help, but first ask questions to clarify what is really needed. Perhaps there is a way to help that wasn’t evident when the aid was initially requested. But if it turns out that “no” really is the only right answer, they should state that decision clearly. They should let the person know they’re sorry they can’t help, but that it just wouldn’t work.

While everyone wants to be helpful, it’s important to recognize personal limitations, interests and capabilities. Stepping too far outside those comfort zones will leave them feeling anxious and frustrated, and they probably won’t be the best help available.

FALLBROOK - Fallbrook Encore Club shared with Fallbrook Newcomers Club The Glitz and Glamour Gala, a star-studded luncheon with games and prizes, March 15. The event was held in the Eagle's View ballroom at Pechanga Resort. The theme was old Hollywood, so guests wearing gaudy outfits, feather boas, wonderful hats and jewels completed the atmosphere of glamour.

Every table competed in a modeling competition. Each group received a bag of stick-on flowers, leis and other decorative items. One table mate was chosen to be the model. They were dressed in a black trash bag, and everyone at the table helped to decorate them, before modelling the results for the whole room. Prizes were given by unanimous vote.

Fallbrook Encore Club is a social club with monthly activities, including cards, mah jong, luncheons, book club, gardening club, RV trips and potlucks, etc. There are special events held throughout the year as well, like the Glitz and Glamour Gala.

The club's business meeting is held the first Tuesday of each month. Coffee and treats are served 9:30 a.m., and the meeting starts at 10 a.m. at the Fallbrook United Methodist Church on Green Canyon Road. Guests are always welcome to join in at the many activities held throughout the month.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 4/30/2016. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER.

On 4/19/2018 at 10:30 AM (or as postponed from time to time), Best Alliance Foreclosure and Lien Services Corp. as the duly appointed trustee under and pursuant to deed of trust recorded 5/4/2016, as Instrument No. 2016-0212151, of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of San Diego County, California, executed by Michael Holleran, as Successor Trustee of the 16728 Camino Sierra Del Sur Trust under trust agreement dated February 25, 1991 as Trustor, Strategic Emerging Economics, Inc., Beneficiary, WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION SALE TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH, (payable at the time of sale in lawful money of the United States, by cash, a cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state)
At: AT THE ENTRANCE TO THE EAST COUNTY REGIONAL CENTER BY STATUE, 250 E. MAIN STREET, EL CAJON, CA 92020,
all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said deed of trust in the property situated in said county, California describing the land therein: AS MORE FULLY DESCRIBED ON SAID DEED OF TRUST
The property heretofore described is being sold "as is". The street address and other common designation, in any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 16728 Camino Sierra Del Sur Rancho Santa Fe, CA 92067
The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and/or other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding the physical condition of the property, title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust and personal property, if any., with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, estimated fees, charges and expenses of the trustee and of the trusts created by said deed of trust, to wit: amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $764,258.96 (Estimated) Accrued interest and additional advances, if any, will increase this figure prior to sale. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (714) 848-9272 or visit this Internet Web site www.elitepostandpub.com using the T.S. number assigned to this case. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a Written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The Notice of Default and Election to Sell was recorded in the county where the real property is located and more than three months have elapsed since such recordation.

If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 or visit this Internet Web site www.nationwideposting.com using the file number assigned to this case 02017-309. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Civil Air Patrol searches and rescues

2d Lt Jerry Camp

Special to the Village News

As we all found out during the Lilac fire in December, having an airport in your community that turns into a fire attack base is a very good thing. In similar fashion, Fallbrook Airpark turned in to a search and rescue base for the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) the weekend of March 23-25.

Fallbrook Senior Squadron 87 hosted a one-day search and rescue exercise, or SAREX, for San Diego Group 8. CAP members from most of the six San Diego County squadrons participated as well as members from Fullerton Squadron 40 in Orange County. In all, 48 CAP personnel were involved.

This SAREX took months of planning and was executed over a total of three days in order to place the equipment and people at Fallbrook Airpark.

The scenario is this: an aircraft is overdue and there have been reports of an emergency locator transmitter beacon being heard in Northern San Diego County. In this scenario, San Diego Group 8 is tasked to open a mission base and start searching for the missing plane as they would in a real-world mission.

CAP is the civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force and conducts 90 percent of the inland search and rescue (SAR) missions in the continental U.S. as tasked by the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center (AFRCC) at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida. In this scenario, four aircraft have been allocated to conduct the search – three planes from San Diego Group 8 (two Cessna 182's Skylanes and a U-206 Stationaire) and one from Orange County Group 7 (a C-182) were flown in the SAREX.

All of these fine women and men are volunteers – no one is paid. As a matter of fact, Maj. Rich Lee loaned his Cessna 172 on March 23 to help ferry a crew to John Wayne Airport and get a Cessna 182. Then returned the 182 on March 25 at his own expense. This is one of many examples of fine folks – your neighbors – who give their time and money to support the missions of CAP.

The mission of CAP is three-fold.

First is Emergency Services, which encompasses Search and Rescue, Homeland Security, Counter Drug, and Disaster Recovery. CAP's 530 aircraft are equipped with special radio direction finding cameras and other equipment that aid aircrews in this role.

Second is Cadet Services. CAP has programs for young people between 12 and 21 years old. The focus is STEM education, leadership, values and aerospace education. Many business, military, and government leaders received their start as CAP Cadets.

Lastly, is Aerospace Education. CAP reaches out to the community via social media, presentations and booths at aviation events telling the story of the importance of aviation and air power in our everyday lives. In addition, CAP has Orientation Flight Programs for CAP, JROTC and ROTC Cadets. Many pilots flying today had their first flight in a CAP aircraft, which resulted in a lifelong love of aviation.

At mission base, the first aircrew launches on their sorties (individual flights), a location has to be secured. CAP was fortunate that Fallbrook Airpark. Col. Carl Morrison, a local attorney and consultant, has his law office, hangar and his personal aircraft at Fallbrook Airpark. Col. Morrison is the Vice Commander of the Pacific Region covering the four continental western states, Alaska and Hawaii.

Members of Squadron 87 volunteered for staff positions, donated supplies and equipment. Logistics officers shopped for food, cooked and prepped the facilities for use. Communications officers set up radios, antennas and status boards. CAP uses the

REAL ESTATE & HOME AND GARDEN

Prepare garden beds for spring and beyond

FALLBROOK – Gardening enthusiasts may have been thinking about their landscape plans throughout the winter, eager to once again get their hands dirty with soil. Whether a home gardener is making preparations for edible crops or beautiful flowers, they must take time to make the soil amenable to planting.

To establish hearty, durable plants, gardeners can focus on three main areas: addressing soil composition, cultivating and adding nutrients.

First, account for the current soil composition. Many gardeners prefer growing a variety of plants in their gardens. Such an approach requires taking inventory of the type of soil in the garden and making the necessary modifications so that the types of vegetables, herbs, shrubs, or flowers that will be planted can grow in strongly. In fact, according to the plant company Proven Winners, the most important step to developing good roots is preparing the soil.

Take a sample of the soil and examine it to see what is present. If the soil is too full of clay, too sandy, too dense or too loose, that can lead to problems that prevent the plants from growing in strongly. Work with a garden center to add the right soil amendments to make a rich soil in the garden. It may include adding organic compost or manure, which will also add needed nutrients to the soil.

Next, cultivation prepares the soil for growth. Cultivating the soil can involve different steps. Removal of weeds, errant rocks, roots and other items will help prepare the soil. Mother Earth News suggested working on garden soil when the soil is damp but never wet; otherwise, it can become messy and clumpy.

Use a digging fork or shovel to lightly turn the soil when it's mostly dry. Gentle tillings also can open up the soil to incorporate the nutritional amendments and relieve compaction that likely occurred from freezing temps and snow pressure. Tilling also helps with drainage and oxygen delivery to roots. The DIY Network suggested turning over soil at a depth of 12 inches to work the soil about the length of a shovel spade; however, the resource Earth Easy said that existing garden beds have a complex soil ecosystems and simply top-dressing with compost or manure can be enough preparation for planting. Gardeners can experiment with the methods and learn which work best for their gardens.

Lastly, nutrition is not just for humans. Testing the soil's pH and the levels of certain nutrients in the soil, namely nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, will give gardeners an idea of other soil additions that may be needed. Soils with a pH below 6.2 often can benefit from the addition of lime several weeks before planting.

Soil tests will determine just how much fertilizer to add to the soil. Complete fertilizers will have equal amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. Individual fertilizers can amend the soil with only these nutritional elements that are needed.

Top-dressing empty beds with a layer of mulch or compost can prevent weed growth and preserve moisture until it is time to plant. If existing shrubs or plants are in garden beds, use more care so as not to disturb roots or dig too deeply.

Preparing garden beds takes some effort initially, but it can be well worth the work when plants flourish throughout the growing season.

FIND & SELL A PROPERTY | PROPERTY MANAGEMENT | EXPERIENCED AGENTS

Make moving much easier

FALLBROOK – It should come as no surprise that spring kicks off one of the busiest times of year in the housing market. Warm weather makes it more comfortable to see and display homes, leading to more listings and open houses.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the average person in the United States changes residences more than 11 times in their lifetime. With each move, the process of moving may become more familiar, but even the most practiced nomad can find moving to be an overwhelming experience.

Those on the cusp of moving who are nervous about packing up and leaving can employ a few tricks to make moving much easier.

First, research areas carefully. Buyers are advised to do their research when seeking new towns or cities to call home. There are many factors to consider, including school district ratings, proximity to shopping, distance from work and commute times, availability of transportation, climate and crime ratings.

Before falling in love with a particular home, potential buyers can visit the area in which the home is located during a typical weekday to get a feel for the atmosphere. Check out shopping centers, observe the residents and drive by the schools and businesses. This step can help paint an accurate picture that may or may not differ from that depicted in the real estate listing.

Next, stack the deck favorably. Working with qualified professionals who have gone through the moving process before can make for easier work for buyers and sellers. Ask for recommendations regarding real estate companies, real estate attorneys, home inspectors, insurance agents and all of the other people who will assist with buying, selling and moving. Carefully vet these professionals, relying on third-party reviews as well as any information provided by the Better Business Bureau.

Also, secure temporary storage. It can help to put some belongings into a storage center before moving and gradually take items from the storage unit to the new home. It will free up space to make repairs to the new home and create time to figure out decorating schemes while ensuring clutter won't get in the way of renovation projects. New homeowners also can take their time sorting through boxes and getting rid of items they may not need in their new homes.

Get estimates and verify licensing. The BBB advises consumers to verify all licensing for movers. Solicit at least three in-home estimates and get those figures in writing.

Confirm insurance coverage for the company chosen and be sure to have all agreed upon information spelled out explicitly in a written contract. Red flags to consider include movers who don't make on-site inspections for estimates and those who demand payment in advance before the move.

Lastly, have a first-week survival kit on hand. New homeowners can pick up takeout restaurant menus and premade grocery store meals.

In addition, stock up on staples such as paper plates, toilet tissue, light bulbs and cleaning supplies in advance of the move so it won't be necessary to unpack everything at mealtime or when they want to clean after arriving at the new home.

With a few simple plans in place, a move can be less stressful and more enjoyable.

Horn addresses housing affordability

SAN DIEGO – Supervisor Bill Horn asked the San Diego Board of Supervisors for their support March 28 in streamlining a map-approval process that will save thousands of dollars and weeks of delays for applicants. The move could help slow the skyrocketing price of homes in San Diego County.

The change in policy eliminates the need for a board vote on the final map approval for a building project. That authority is now delegated to the county Department of Planning and Development Services. This change will save 30-45 days in processing time per map, and applicants will save $3,000-$5,000 in costs. The annual savings could be as high as $70,000.

"This is just smart, common-sense policy, and I'm excited to see the real savings here," Horn said. "We are in the midst of a housing crisis, and we need to be building at a much higher rate than we are right now."

The lack of affordable housing in San Diego County has hit crisis levels with little relief in sight. San Diego County needs an estimated 20-thousand housing units annually to meet demand but is producing less than half that number. In December, Horn asked staff to look for ways to simplify the approval process for housing production by taking a closer look at the final map approval process.

Earlier this year, I reported that the California Association of Realtors was sponsoring a tax initiative for the November 2018 General Election. As an association, we tasked ourselves with collecting the 800,000 signatures needed to qualify it for the ballot.

After the article, many of you came by my office to sign the petition and I continued to collect more signatures at various community events. I am happy to announce that we gathered over 1,000,000 signatures in the state of California. To give you some perspective, the initiative to repeal the gas tax has only garnered just over 600,000 signatures – and I’m pretty sure everyone of us would like to roll back gas prices.

We have renamed the initiative to the Property Tax Fairness Initiative and it will now also help disaster victims (like those affected by the massive fires we have had state wide this year), as well as the severely disabled. Nobody should be penalized on the tax front due to their circumstances. That’s just not right.

Far as seniors go, many of us Realtors spoke with homeowners age 55 and older who shared stories of how they felt they could not move because, since they’re on fixed incomes, they cannot afford any increases in property taxes. As I reported earlier, almost 75 percent of homeowners 55 and older have not moved since 2000. This initiative will provide a way for them to move and not be financially penalized for it.

But make no mistake about it – unfortunately there are groups who will actually oppose this initiative. Sad but true. Let me tell you why. When an initiative is prepared for petition, it goes to the State where a “title and summary” is created. This is the description you see when you receive your voter booklet. It describes the initiative and then it applies a “cost” to the state if the initiative passes. This is where it gets tricky.

The State does not do a dynamic analysis. They only look at what is lost, not what is gained. I just learned this, so you better be aware when you read your booklet, remember that if the initiative has any positive financial gain it’s because it’s a new tax or assessment and while that’s revenue for the State, it’s a cost to us.

But I digress. So, currently as an example: if you are a homeowner who is 55 or older and you sell your home for 600,000 but have a tax basis on $350,000, you will take that tax basis with you and you can purchase a home for up to $600,000 in 1 of 11 counties in the state and that county will only collect taxes on that new home as if it was worth $350,000. So, for that county, it could be perceived to be a loss.

But what about the person who buys your home for the $600,000? Remember, you were paying taxes as if it was worth $350,000 and now they are paying taxes on $600,000. That is a win for that county, right? But looking at your voter booklet, that initiative’s “title and summary” would show it to be a financial loss. There’s a floating negative and positive financial equation for every initiative but in the booklet sometimes only one is reflected, so keep reading.

Under the new Property Tax Fairness Initiative, using the same scenario above, if you purchased a home for say, $800,000, your $350,000 tax basis would only apply to the first $600,000 because that is what you sold your home for. Then you would pay additional property tax on that $200,000 difference. That is called a blended tax basis.

Remember with the new plan you can buy/sell and carry your tax basis anywhere in the State as many times as you please – as opposed to the one-time restriction we all have now. So if you move when you’re 60 to be closer to your grandkids, and then when you’re 76 you decide it’s time to move to Palm Springs, you can! If seniors are financially freed up to move, then their homes are available for younger people and families looking to buy those homes. And, as we’re all acutely aware, we have a historic housing shortage.

So beware the groups who oppose this initiative. They will be trying to convince you that it is a financial hardship on the State. Be prepared to stand up for this common sense and compassionate initiative. Don’t be fooled by overly dramatic commercials that tug at your heartstrings then tell you why it’s bad for the bottom line. If you’re more concerned with your own bottom line (I know I am), vote for Property Tax Fairness Initiative in November.

Homeowners seek to control common spring pests

FALLBROOK – Just when winter thaws out and people are anxious to enjoy the blooming flowers and luscious lawns of spring, pesky pests can appear and impact comfort levels and safety.

Many pests resume their usual levels of activity as spring draws closer and temperatures warm up. The presence of these insects and rodents may cause problems in and around a home, which makes it essential to recognize them and avoid issues. The following are some of the more common spring pests and how to remedy infestations.

First, pavement ants are some of the most common pests that residents encounter inside and outside of their homes. These ants are light brown to black with appendages that are lighter than the rest of their bodies. Small in stature, pavement ants have parallel lines on their heads and thorax, according to pest extermination company, Orkin.

Although pavement ants nest outdoors, they can enter homes through small crevices in search of food scraps. Their large colonies may not disappear until treatment is introduced. Keep foods in tightly sealed containers, clear counters and floors of crumbs and address water sources, such as leaks. Pesticides may be needed in extreme conditions.

Next, fleas are tiny, jumping and biting pests that must find a host upon which to live. As ectoparasites, they feed on blood while living on the body of living hosts. Pets can bring fleas inside the yard and home in warm weather. According to the University of California Statewide Integrated Pest Management Program, flea larvae develop more quickly at higher temperatures. At normal room temperatures, the entire life cycle of a flea is about 18 days.

Ants are a nuisance that become more active as the weather warms.

Several flea control products are available to control fleas on cats and dogs. There also may be powders and sprays to alleviate flea infestations in the home.

Vacuuming is also very effective in killing larvae in the carpet and at picking up adults.

An errant wasp, hornet or yellow jacket may have survived winter and ridden out the colder temperatures within a home. Once the weather warms, queens will begin to look for places to lay eggs and establish colonies. Treating areas where wasps are seen entering and leaving the home is key. Seal holes as soon as possible.

Although wasps help control other insect populations, their painful stings and potentially aggressive nature can make them challenging to have around a home. If a nest is found, hire a professional to remove it.

Many spiders are not harmful enough to humans and pets to be much of a problem. In fact, spiders can be helpful to have around to control the populations of other insects. Still, many homeowners would prefer these web-slinging friends remain outdoors. Therefore, sealing cracks in a home’s foundation and repairing small openings around windows and doors can help keep spiders out. Also, alleviating moisture issues in basements, garages or attics may keep out other bugs that would be prey to spiders.

Homeowners can take the steps necessary to cut down on pests in and around their homes.

same Incident Command System used by all levels of government in emergencies so they fit in seamlessly during a real event. As such, they are led by an Incident Commander.

Before dawn, the mission base comes alive. A general briefing is given to all participants and it's time to get to work. Everyone has a role to play or a new position to learn. CAP trains to a high level of aviation professionalism. Mission Pilots, and Mission Pilots in training, get weather and sortie briefs with their two or three-person aircrews.

Each aircraft is sent to a specific area called a "grid" to search. This is done to keep aircraft separated and make sure each grid square is covered. Upon completion of their sortie, the crew returns to Fallbrook Airpark and they debrief their performance. No punches are pulled. Each crew does a detailed self-analysis and owns the items they need to work on or did well.

The blustery cloudy conditions added to the training. Maj. Roy Knight, a Valley Center Resident, and mission pilot mentor, commented, "The weather added to the training." Alluding to the fact the aircrews had to safely negotiate the cloud cover or make the decision to return to base.

CAP has a minimum number of sorties that have to be flown for each aircrew position. Mission pilots, mission observers (right seat), mission scanners and mission photographers (back seat) all must attend training, complete requirements and fly training sorties before they are signed off to be fully qualified aircrew members. All positions in CAP have requirements including radio communicators, finance officers, public affairs, logistics, air operations and incident commanders (who are in charge of the mission).

Incident commander Maj. David Wallace said to the staff, "This was a good SAREX, good decisions were made and it was completed safely."

By 5:30 in the afternoon all aircraft had returned to Fallbrook Airpark, the crews were debriefed and the Mission Base was being dismantled. Many members started their qualifications, or re-qualified, for a variety of positions. The SAREX was more than just training. It was an opportunity to reconnect with friends in other squadrons and gain knowledge in a new skill.

Pala radio station breaks in new call sign

General Manager John Fox is on the air with Rez Radio 91.3 KPRI-FM.

PALA - Effective March 23, 2018, the North County FM station at 91.3, which is owned and operated by the Pala Band of Mission Indians, has adopted the new FCC-authorized call sign “KPRI,” with the initials standing for “Kupa Pala Rez Indians.”

The station will continue to be known as Rez Radio 91.3-FM. The radio station said they maintain their commitment to local programming, including a wide variety of rock, reggae, blues, country, native and other local music, as well as maintaining North County’s only local broadcast news presence, with a legal ID that “actually says what we stand for.”

Fifty years ago, an FM radio station in San Diego with the call letters “KPRI” made the switch from anonymous “elevator” music to a very hip, aware and “turned on” newly evolving format that would come to be known as album-oriented rock, but it was still considered hippy or “underground” music, the station said. They played rock music, that while still blues-derived, generally had a message – sometimes political. It didn’t need to be a chart success like those churned out at hit-factory record labels and get played every 90 minutes on the Top 40 stations of the day, they said. Groups like Traffic, the Jimi Hendrix Experience, the Grateful Dead, Moby Grape, Big Brother and the Holding Company and Jefferson Airplane gradually took over the frequency, beginning with shows in the middle of the night, they station said. By the middle of 1968, the undeniable appeal of this new wave of rock became what KPRI did 24 hours a day. The station was involved with the vibrant 60s youth movement, and by reflecting tastes and current culture of its listeners, it represented and looked out for San Diego’s new generation.

Rez Radio said they seek to

promote the same kind of integrity in their mission to super-serve the local San Luis Rey River Valley community – especially Pala and the other local reservations – and in the process, honor the heritage of the call letters “KPRI.” A large part of the music programming will include many of those same artists that made the original KPRI in San Diego a leader in its time, the station said. The station’s sign off is “Chemesh Ataxem Kuupangax (We are the People from Kupa), Kupa Pala Rez Indians, K-P-R-I. Rockin’ in Pala.”

Rez Radio 91.3 KPRI-FM streams live 24/7 on iHeartRadio and TuneIn and can be dialed up on any phone at (712) 775-5748. More information about Rez Radio 91.3 is available at www.palatribes.com/pala-radio with a new website coming soon at www.RezRadio.FM.

People can find work after 50

FALLBROOK - Unemployment isn't easy for anyone, regardless of their age. But unemployed men and women over 50 may find it especially difficult to find work.

Whether it's a byproduct of age-related discrimination or any of a host of additional variables, jobless older workers often struggle to find work. In a 2016 analysis of government figures, the Schwartz Center for Economic Policy Analysis at the New School estimated that the jobless rate for workers 55 and older in August 2016, six years after the Great Recession, was nearly 9 percent. At the time, the national jobless rate hovered around 5 percent.

Unemployed men and women over 50 who are struggling to find work can consider the following strategies as they look to rejoin the workforce.

First, revisit their resume. Unemployed men and women over 50 have no doubt updated their resumes to reflect their most recent professional experience, but they may need to trim some of the fat in regard to their work life 10 or more years ago. Today's hiring managers may only be concerned with recent experience that illustrates skill sets that are relevant to today's jobs.

Men and women over 50 may consider their experience from 20 years ago invaluable; however, if that experience does not meet the specific needs of the jobs they're now seeking, they should remove it from their resumes so that hiring managers can quickly access the more relevant information from their work histories.

Next, embrace 21st century job hunting methods. Finding a job in the second decade of the 21st century is unlike job hunting in decades prior, and it is wholly different from how men and women over 50 looked for jobs upon beginning their professional lives.

Networking can mean the difference between unemployment and landing a job. Go to job fairs attended by hiring managers and join professional organizations that host events where professionals in the field can gather.

Turn age into a positive asset. Men and women over 50 should accept the likelihood that their new managers or hiring managers will be younger than them. When interviewing for a job, men and women over 50 should make an effort to showcase their enthusiasm about working with and learning from younger colleagues, while also noting their desire to commit long-term to a company. Some hiring managers may surprise older applicants, viewing them as potentially more reliable than younger workers simply looking to gain some experience in a particular industry before moving on to the next opportunity.

Lastly, make better use of existing down time. Enrolling in online courses can give prospective employers the impression that applicants over 50 are both tech-savvy and willing to learn new things. Each of those things can help men and women over 50 overcome any unjustified, tech-related stigmas that hiring managers may attach to older job candidates.

Finding work after 50 is not always easy, and job seekers may need to adjust their approach before they can get back in the workforce.

BONSALL - The Bonsall gymkhana riding club "Mudslingers" set four new arena records on Saturday, March 31 in addition to attracting a record number of riders. Thirty-six equestrians took to the saddle to participate in seven events, including Hurry Scurry, a speed-jumping event that riders aim to complete in 10 seconds.

Gymkhana, or games on horseback, is an equestrian sport that requires excellent communication between horse and rider and often involves flying lead changes, quick turns and sliding stops. While typically run in Western saddles and tack, English and Western riders are welcome to participate.

Jenn Gosselin of Vista won the AAA division on Suzy and set three arena records in Quadrangle (20.153 seconds), Speed Barrels (10.280) and Single Stake (9.619). Romy Linglet, who placed second in the division, also came in under 10 seconds in Single Stake at 9.899 and set an arena record for Big T at 15.444 seconds.

Big T consists of a course of poles and barrels set in a "T" formation, a hybrid of a barrel race and a pole-weaving event. Juliana Cartwright of Escondido continues to hold the club record on Hurry Scurry, at 10.424 seconds on Misty.

The day went longer than normal to accommodate seven versus the typical six events and an influx of eight new riders coming from surrounding areas, from Fallbrook to Hemet.

Prizes for the day included two free tickets to the National Horse Show in Del Mar, donated to the club by the San Diego County Fair, as well as engraved stirrups, splint boots and Jolly Ball horse treats. All riders received participation prizes, as is the custom of the Mudslingers club (District 22 of the California Gymkhana Association).

Names of division winners (high point) and second place (reserve high point) are listed below, starting with the fastest division (AAA). The Mudslingers' next show will be on Saturday, April 14 at Stenerson Ranch in Bonsall. All are welcome to attend, whether riding or viewing. Viewing and parking are free.

Greenwood improves boys 11-dive school record to 482.65

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

Joseph Greenwood broke his own school record for 11 dives March 17 when he scored 482.65 points to win the boys 11-dive event of the Early Season Diving Invitational meet at the Fallbrook High School pool.

"I was definitely expecting to get a lot lower of a score," said Greenwood, who is a senior at Oasis High School and competes for Fallbrook High School under the CIF San Diego Section's Multi-School Teams Status policy which allows athletes from certain schools to play for a specified other team. "When I saw 482 that was a huge surprise."

The three judges' scores for each dive are added and multiplied by the degree of difficulty. Greenwood began with an inward dive pike with a 1.5 degree of difficulty and was given scores of 8.5, 9, and 8.5. A back dive tuck with a 1.5 degree of difficulty resulted in scores of 6.5, 7.5, and 8.5. His reverse 1 1/2 somersault with a 1.5 degree of difficulty earned him scores of 5, 6.5, and 6.

A back 1 1/2 somersault half twist free has a 2.1 degree of difficulty and Greenwood obtained scores of 8, 8, and 7.5. His forward 2 1/2 somersault pike with a 2.6 degree of difficulty gave him scores of 6.5, 7, and 6. A reverse dive tuck has a 1.6 degree of difficulty, and Greenwood obtained scores of 6, 7.5, and 7.5.

His forward 1 1/2 somersault pike with a 1.7 degree of difficulty received scores of 7.5, 8.5, and 8.

He had a 2.3 degree of difficulty for his back 1 1/2 somersault pike and was given scores of 5.5, 6, and 6.5. The forward 1 1/2 somersault 1 twist free dive is assessed a 2.2 degree of difficulty and Greenwood's dive resulted in scores of 6.5, 7.5, and 7.5. An inward 1 1/2 somersault pike dive has a 2.4 degree of difficulty and the judges awarded Greenwood 8, 7, and 7 points.

Greenwood closed out his competition with a forward 1 1/2 somersault two twists free dive, which has a 2.6 degree of difficulty, and he was given scores of 7.5, 7, and 7.5. "I knew I needed to nail it pretty good. I did," he said.

Greenwood said his final dive was the most stressful. "You want to finish off with a banger," he said.

"I was expecting him to do well," said meet organizer Sean Redmond, who is also one of Fallbrook High School's diving coaches along with Terry Erard.

The May 6, 2017, 11-Dive Championship Meet at Fallbrook included a score of 414.50 points by Greenwood, which broke the 2013 school record of 398.45 set by Rickey Stephens. Greenwood took first place in that event.

Last year Greenwood also broke Stephens' six-dive school record; in 2014 Stephens accumulated 250.80 points on six dives. On March 17, 2017, Fallbrook hosted Escondido Charter in a non-league dual meet and Greenwood's six dives totaled 262.40 points. Greenwood later improved his six-dive school record to 290.55 points.

"He will have a higher score later on this season," Redmond said of Greenwood's new 11-dive record.

"There were a couple of dives that were not right on," Redmond said. "There's room for improvement and I think that will happen as the season goes on."

Greenwood practices with the Crown Valley club in Laguna Niguel and is coached by Crown Valley instructors Curt Wilson and Dave Mickle as well as by Redmond and Erard.

Greenwood was one of two Fallbrook winners at the meet. A score of 137.95 points gave freshman Hayden Orchard first place in the boys six-dive event.

"I thought it was great," Redmond said of Orchard's win.

Jenna Jedlicki, an Escondido Charter freshman who dives with the Fallbrook Associated Swim Team club program, won the girls six-dive event with a score of 126.00 points. Fallbrook sophomore Cassidy Ewig was second with 114.25 points.

Kelly Hanlon placed fourth in the girls 11-dive event, but the Fallbrook junior accumulated 302.90 points. The score was the first over 300 for Hanlon. "It shows the amount of work she's put in since last year," Redmond said.

Get educated on swimming pool safety

Alene Endter
Special to Village News

As the lovely sunlit days of spring in Southern California give way to the stifling heat of summer, a sparkling swimming pool becomes a draw for people of all ages. Warm afternoons and evenings signal an opportunity for family and friends to gather for playtime at the pool, where loved ones can cool off and unwind both in and out of the water.

In too many cases, however, joyful activity turns to sudden tragedy. A beautiful backyard pool can become an unrelenting reminder of endless heartache and grief when a drowning occurs.

In states where pools are numerous, there are more fatalities to young children from drowning than from traffic accidents. According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention, the highest number of incidents of drowning occurs to children between the ages of one and 4 years old. Roughly one-third of the children in that age group who die from unintentional injuries die from drowning. Furthermore, for every child who dies from drowning, another five receive emergency department care for nonfatal submersion injuries, which can cause severe brain damage that may result in long-term disabilities such as memory problems, learning disabilities and permanent loss of basic functioning.

What factors influence drowning risk?

CDC said that the main factors that affect drowning risk are lack of swimming ability, lack of barriers to prevent unsupervised water access, lack of close supervision while swimming, location, failure to wear life jackets, alcohol use and seizure disorders.

These children are looking forward to their swimming lessons.

This youngster gets warmly wrapped in a towel following a swimming lesson.

A lack of swimming ability is one of the top risks; however, research has shown that participation in formal swimming lessons can reduce the risk of drowning among children aged one to four years.

The next biggest risk is a lack of barriers. Barriers, such as pool fencing, prevent young children from gaining access to the pool area without a caregivers' awareness. A four-sided isolation fence, which separates the pool area from the house and yard, reduces a child's risk of drowning by 83 percent compared to three-sided property-line fencing.

Multiple barriers increase the likelihood that drowning will be prevented. Rigid pool covers can be installed. For an above ground pool, the ladder should be removed when the pool is not being supervised. Alarms can be installed on windows and doors leading to the yard. Alarms that detect underwater movement can be installed in pools, and there are even personal immersion alarms, which are designed as bracelets to be worn by children.

Also, a lack of close supervision increases the risk of drowning. Drowning can happen quickly and quietly anywhere there is water. Contrary to what is often depicted on movie screens or televisions, in reality, drowning usually happens without a sound. The most effective alarm system is adult eyes. Keeping a close eye on loved ones is absolutely imperative. No one, not even adults, should ever swim alone. If older swimmers have a debilitating heart attack or experience some other sort of emergency and there is no one to notice or rescue them, it will be fatal. A designated pool supervisor should be assigned at every gathering to do nothing but watch swimmers. This job should be rotated between responsible adults, who will not allow anything to distract them from their assigned task.

Location affects drowning risks. People of different ages drown in different locations. For example, most children, ages 1-4, drown in home swimming pools; however, the percentage of drowning in natural water settings, including lakes, rivers and oceans, increases with age.

Lastly, alcohol use influences balance, coordination and judgment, and its effects are heightened by sun exposure and heat. A drunk designated pool supervisor will not be able to pull a swimmer who is in trouble out of the pool. The assigned pool supervisor must be sober.

For a swim season unmarred by disaster heed these two simple suggestions: No. 1, determine the rules for the pool and post them and No. 2, make it a point to become aware of these ABCs of pool safety and practice them – A is adult supervision, always, B is barrier: fences, self-latching gates and alarms and C is classes – which will teach life-saving swim skills.

Warriors go 2-1 in Lions Tournament

Tom Ferrall
Staff Writer

The Fallbrook High varsity baseball team participated in the Lions Tournament March 26-28 and finished with a 2-1 record in the event, one of the largest high school baseball tournaments in the country.

"It's pretty neat," said Fallbrook High baseball co-head coach Patrick Walker of the Lions Tournament, which this year featured 144 teams competing in 10 divisions on 75 fields across San Diego County.

Fallbrook opened the tournament March 26 playing on the Serra High School diamond against highly-regarded South High from Torrance. The Warriors held a 2-1 lead over the Spartans heading into the fifth inning, however, South scored three runs in the top of the fifth to take 4-2 lead and then put the game away with a nine-run seventh inning that resulted in a final score of 13-2.

Fallbrook played its second tournament game at West Hills High and defeated Chula Vista 3-2 behind senior Collin Hoff, who delivered on the mound and at the plate. Hoff pitched a complete game – allowing just four hits and striking out six – and went 3-for-4, batting in a run and scoring a run.

"He did a tremendous job," said Walker of Hoff's game against Chula Vista.

Sophomore catcher Josue Navarro went 2-for-3 and scored a run for Fallbrook, which trailed Chula Vista 2-0 after four innings but rallied to score two runs in the fifth and another in the sixth for the 3-2 victory.

"We've given up some games in the late innings to good teams, so seeing the kids come back to win against a good Chula Vista team was great," said Walker.

The Warriors faced Sweetwater from National City in their final tournament game, which was played at Hickman Field. Fallbrook pounded out 15 hits and handily defeated Sweetwater 10-2.

"We preach to the kids to throw strikes and get ahead (in the count) and Zach did a great job of getting ahead of every batter," said Walker. "We just despise walks."

Sophomore Dean Olivo went 4-for-5 and scored two runs while Allegro and Michael Gross both went 2-for-4. Allegro scored a run and had one RBI and Gross scored a run and had two RBI.

"He (the Sweetwater pitcher) walked a few and then we did a really good job with our bunt game, our short game," said Walker. "We had a couple of drag bunt base hits. We got guys on and we had some key hits late."

Fallbrook, which in mid-March posted back-to-back shutout victories over Maranatha Christian (5-0) and Mission Vista (11-0), had a 4-7 record through its first 11 games.

"We beat the teams we were supposed to beat and we had the opportunity to upset some top teams that are fielding juniors and seniors," said Walker, noting that his team of mostly sophomores and freshmen had leads over Rancho Buena Vista, Carlsbad and Del Norte.

"I like where we're at right now," said Walker. "I like the way the kids are improving. We're so young, if we just keep improving we're going to be fine."

Hoff and Olivo are both having sizzling seasons at the plate. As of March 30, Hoff was batting .545 and Olivo .516. Sophomore Tristen Smith was also hitting extremely well, sporting a .344 average.

"Hoff is our leadoff (hitter), just a spark plug who gets on," said Walker. "Olivo has been great, bunting for us and just being really steady. The No. 2 batter is kind of a sacrificial guy – it's not the funnest spot – but he's done a great job of bunting Hoff over and into scoring position. Both of those guys have really started off great. Tristen is a left-handed hitter who really has a beautiful swing."

Walker said he is looking forward to league play – which begins April 19 – and beyond.

"All of the kids are young and talented," said Walker. "It's just a matter of us taking our lumps and improving. It's going to be really fun when these kids are juniors and seniors."

Fallbrook A Leer reading event to be held April 14

La Paloma Elementary student Delonte Hillary is the third-grade winner in the Fallbrook A Leer poetry contest.

Maie Ellis Elementary student Joshua Avila is the fourth-grade winner in the Fallbrook A Leer poetry contest.

Fallbrook Street Elementary Ayden Rice holds a copy of her poem which won the fifth-grade poetry contest.

FALLBROOK – The 14th annual Fallbrook A Leer reading event will be held Saturday, April 14, at Maie Ellis School, beginning with registration 9:30 a.m. The 2018 student essay and art and poetry winners will be given their awards 10 a.m. in the auditorium.

Third-, fourth- and fifth-grade students submitted an original poem honoring Martin Luther King and Cesar Chavez, while sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade students were asked to write an essay on Chavez’ legacy and how it affects community service and nonviolence.

Fallbrook A Leer/Reading Family Literacy program includes workshops for parents and story reading for students preschool through fifth grade. A craft fair and entertainment, as well as food and games, will be available at the flagpole patio. Books will be given to every participant and backpacks for every child.

Through the generosity of local donors, businesses and community members, the event is free to Fallbrook families. Because space is limited, parents must pre-register their children through their respective public schools. Flyers have been sent home with students from each school in Fallbrook Union Elementary School District. Parents are encouraged to register early and call their local school for more details.

For more information on how to volunteer, contact Leticia Maldonado-Stamos at (760) 468-0362 or Maria Gomez at (760) 689-5841. Anyone wishing to serve as a guest reader should email Siegrid Stillman at sistillman@fuesd.org.

FALLBROOK – Members of the Boys & Girls Clubs of North County marched up and down Main Avenue Tuesday, March 27, working hard to help beautify the streets of Fallbrook. With gloves, brooms and trash bags in hand, they picked up every piece of trash in sight. Club members also used the time to thank businesses who have supported the Boys & Girls Clubs of North County and invite them to join the club for their Boys &

Girls Club week. Starting April 9, Boys & Girls Club week is an opportunity for the community to come and see for themselves some of the fun that happen every day at the club.

“For a whole week, we open our doors to show the community some of the magic that happens here at the club,” Allison Barclay, the CEO of the Boys & Girls Clubs of North County, said. “We invite everyone to join us at our Open House on April 9 starting at 4:30 p.m. to help us kick off our Boys & Girls Club week.”

In addition to their Open House, the club will also host an Art Exhibit Tuesday, April 10, with each entry being from a club member. The following day, Wednesday, April 11, club members will be participating in a healthy cooking challenge where they will use their skills to prepare tasty salads. Parents and friends are invited to come Thursday, April 12, and cheer on their little ones as they participate in the club’s talent showcase. The festivities conclude Friday, April 13, with a barbecue and dodgeball tournament.

For more information on the Open House or other events during Boys & Girls Club week, call (760) 728-5871.

New Padres season means new food options at Petco Park

SAN DIEGO – The San Diego Padres, along with Delaware North Companies, Inc., announced the addition of two local favorites to the Petco Park food and beverage lineup, along with other concession updates, for the 2018 baseball season.

Buona Forchetta and Blue Water Seafood Market & Grill are now available at Petco Park.

“We are excited to partner

Buona Forchetta opened in South Park in 2013 as a result of owner Matteo Cattaneo’s craving to bring some of his native Italy to San Diego. Their newest concept at Petco Park will be located on the Field Level Mercado behind section 104 and will offer their Neapolitan style pizza, in addition to serving as the debut platform for their new thick-crust Roman-style Pizza.

with Matteo Cattaneo of Buona Forchetta and Judd & Matt Braun of Blue Water Seafood Market & Grill to bring our Padres fans more local San Diego brands this season,” said Scott Marshall, Padres vice president and chief hospitality officer. “From serving world class Neapolitan and Roman-style pizza to fresh seafood that was caught off the shores of San Diego that day, we look forward to delivering exceptional culinary experiences to Petco Park.”

The new Petco Park location will feature a wine selection consisting of a wide variety of California and Italian varietals along with a Vespa gelato bar. It also comes complete with a Stefano Ferrara oven made from Biscotto di Sorrento clay found in Italy’s Sorrento region. This will be their third location in San Diego following the launch of a second location last year in Liberty Station.

“Pizza, wine, gelato and baseball – we are so thrilled to be joining the Petco Park hospitality family and can’t wait to bring our traditional Italian flavors straight from Rome and Naples, from our family to yours,” said owner Matteo Cattaneo. “We also encourage fans to keep an eye out for our vintage gelato cart serving homemade gelato, and we look forward to seeing everyone at a ballgame.”

San Diego locals Judd and Matt Braun opened Blue Water in Mission Hills in 2004, and have since built a strong reputation for offering an exceptional range of “fresh & local” seafood. Blue Water Seafood Market & Grill is located on the Field Level at section 117, offering fresh fish tacos and sandwiches. A second location, located on the Toyota Terrace level at section 220 as part of The Still by Cutwater Spirits, will offer an expanded menu that includes plates, clam chowder, poke and sashimi.

“As San Diego natives and lifelong Padres fans, having a Blue Water presence in Petco Park is a dream come true,” said Matt and Judd Braun. “We’re honored the ballpark sought to include us among other local favorites. We can’t wait to bring fresh, grilled seafood to baseball fans from across the country and show them the incredible food our fine city has to offer.”

The “Friar Frank” will also be getting an upgrade this season as Petco Park executive chef Carlos Vargas has re-imagined the all-beef, nine-inch ballpark-favorite Tarantino hot dog. Joining the new “Friar Frank” lineup will be an array of new options, including the Bacon Wrapped Dog, the Caprese Turkey Dog, the Chili Cheese Dog, Veggie Dog and the Lil’ Slugger Dog. The “Friar Frank” will be available throughout the ballpark with the new signature options at Budweiser Ballpark Eats locations.

Jack & Craft, Petco Park’s newest dedicated dessert experience, will also make its debut in 2018. Located on the Field Level at sections 117 and 226, Jack & Craft will offer freshly made caramel corn and allow fans to pair dessert with a rotating menu of flavorful local San Diego craft beers, including Ballast Point, AleSmith, Iron Fist, Resident, Pizza Port, Mike Hess Brewing, Karl Strauss and Coronado Brewing Company.

Ballast Point will also debut two new Sculpin IPA Bars located on the Field Level at sections 110 and 226 that will highlight the five iconic Sculpin IPA flavors: Sculpin, Unfiltered Sculpin, Grapefruit Sculpin, Pineapple Sculpin and the newest addition to the Sculpin family, the mango and guava-infused Aloha Sculpin.

San Diego-based Cutwater Sprits, who last year debuted The Still by Cutwater Spirits on the Toyota Terrace level, will unveil the Cutwater Sprits Rum Bar on the Field Level at section 101 featuring their signature Bali Hai Tiki Gold Rum Mai Tai.

Phil’s BBQ, a staple in the ballpark since 2013, will add a third location at Petco Park in 2018 as it heads to the Western Metal Supply Co. Building Rooftop. The new rooftop location joins the Park at the Park stand and the Field Level section 113 location in serving signature items, including the El Toro Sandwich, BBQ Broham Sandwich and Baby Back Ribs.

“We are happy to once again bring the best of San Diego to Petco Park by introducing Buona Forchetta and Blue Water Seafood Market & Grill,” said Susan Hawke-Pfeifer, general manager of Petco Park concessionaire Delaware North. “We are delighted to continue to evolve our current hospitality partnerships and create new and innovative experiences for all of our fans.”

Other local favorites that return to Petco Park this season include: The Baked Bear, Board and Brew, Brigantine, the Budweiser Loft, Carnitas’ Snack Shack, .394, The Craft Pier presented by Ballast Point, Gaglione Bros., Hodad’s, Lucha Libre, Miguel’s, Mister Softee, Pizza Port, Seaside Market, Wonderland Ocean Pub and Yogurtland.

South Coast Winery adds food and wine pairing element to 2018 ‘Blessing of the Vines’ event

South Coast Winery will again be holding its Blessing of the Vines event Sunday, April 8. For the first time this year, the event will also feature a food and wine pairing. Kim Harris photo

As spring blossoms and leaves return to the Temecula Valley’s grapevines, South Coast Winery, Resort & Spa will once again seek a blessing for a fruitful season. This year’s Blessing of the Vines will take place from 5-8 p.m. Sunday, April 8, and will include the traditional blessing from a priest, but visitors will also find something new. South Coast Winery Marketing Manager Casey Ferguson said guests this year will also participate in a food and wine pairing festival. “Since it is about the wines we really want to go ahead and have an educational piece where there are booths with different wines and different food pairings along with that,” Ferguson said. “Attendees are able to get educated on the wine itself and what it pairs with.” The musical guest for the event this year will be Murrieta-based cover band Guilty Conscience. The band is known for performing a breadth of music that ranges from classic rock to rhythm and blues. The cost for general admission is $65 and includes a buffet, the food and wine pairing, a glass of sparkling wine for the blessing ceremony, a beverage station, desert and live music. Members of South Coast’s Wine Club will be able to get $10 off the general admission ticket. Ferguson said there’s also a highly popular VIP ticket option for $85, which comes with all the same things as a general admission ticket plus preferred seating on a tieredrace, private reserved table, private lunch buffet and a specially-selected bottle of wine per two tickets. Those who want to purchase the VIP tickets may want to act fast, as they’re almost sold out. Ferguson said another change this year is that the event will be age restricted to those 21 and older. For more information about the event, or to purchase tickets, visit South Coast’s website at <http://store.wineresort.com> and select the “events/tours” tab. South Coast Winery is located at 34843 Rancho California Road in Temecula. Visit them online at www.southcoastwinery.com or on their Facebook page at www.facebook.com/SouthCoastWinery. Welcome to the Doffo Winery, a family run institution in Temecula Valley Wine Country

Reds rule the roost in Doffo Winery’s tasting room. One of the things that makes Doffo unique to other wineries in Temecula Valley would be the MottoDoffo collection, named for the family’s private collection of over 100 racing and motorcycles. Kylie Canales photo

INTERN

Tucked away in the northeastern part of Temecula Valley is the tiny but mighty Doffo Winery owned by Marcelo Doffo and his three children Brigitte, Damian and Samantha. With an Argentine and Italian descent, the Doffos create a special flare by incorporating their culture with today’s winery. Back in 2006, Marcelo Doffo officially opened the Doffo Winery on 15 acres with a full tasting room. Marcelo was inspired by the historic landmark schoolhouse that was on the land where the winery would be built as it created nostalgia and reminded him of his childhood in Argentina. Though his intention was never to be a commercial winery, it became far too popular and loved by the wine tasters of Temecula. “And the rest is history, they say,” said Marcelo’s daughter, Samantha Doffo. The Doffo family equally divides up their ways of contributing to the winery. “Each of us has their different strength,” said Samantha. For example, Damian has been a wine-maker since 2009. He was taught by his father when he was just 10 years old the techniques of making great wine that has been passed down from generation to generation. “We’re here, always,” said Samantha who is in charge of organizing upcoming events. The Doffo family will always have at least one member in the wine tasting rooms and can be found conversing with guests and loyal club members. Samantha says she enjoys meeting new people and hearing about their different experiences. Producing only about 4,000 cases per year, Doffo may be a small production winery, however it is the tasteful wine and warm hospitality that leaves customers wanting to come back for more. Based on culture and certain farming methods, Doffo Winery owners are huge promoters of their red wines. A fan favorite happens to be the MottoDoffo because of the blends and the unique label around the bottle with a picture of a motorcycle. In fact, what makes Doffo unique to other wineries in Temecula Valley would be the MottoDoffo collection which Marcelo started up around the same time the winery opened.

MotoDoffo is the family’s private collection of over 100 racing and vintage motorcycles. As you walk through the vineyards, you will find yourself surrounded by classical music which is played to help soothe the grapes as they grow and mature, the Doffos said. For customers left wanting more tasteful wine from Doffo, there are two different levels of wine club memberships offered. The wine is shipped out three times per year in February, June and October. The first level is the Heritage Club which receives three shipments – two bottles per shipment, member pricing on club shipments and select wine purchases, exclusive access to Doffo Wine club events, and two complimentary tastings per month. The second level is the exclusive access to events and eight complimentary tastings. Another club membership called the MotoDoffo wine club is also offered where the member will receive shipments in January, May and September – two bottles per shipment, member pricing on MotoDoffo wines and apparel and exclusive access to events.

The most updated events for Doffo Winery can be located on social media where you can find information on live music events, summertime events and special promotions that go on through the winery. Doffo Winery is located at 36083 Summitville St. in Temecula Valley Wine Country and can be reached by calling (951) 676-6989. Visit them online at www.doffowines.com, for hours and more information.
