Real sheriff arrests impersonating sheriff

SD Sheriff's Public Information Office

A deputy with the Fallbrook Sheriff's Substation drove by what appeared to be a traffic stop at the intersection of South Mission and Winter Haven Roads in Fallbrook, around 2 a.m., Monday, June 13.

The silver car had emergency strobe lights in the front and back. The deputy also saw a man wearing a black shirt with San Diego County Sheriff's Department patches, a gun belt with a gun in the holster.

The uniformed deputy turned around to assist what he initially thought was a plainclothes deputy. As the deputy approached, the man ran into his car and drove away. The deputy tried to pull over the suspect, but the driver kept going. At some point, the suspect turned off all his lights making it too dangerous for the deputy to follow the suspect.

As the deputy continued to check the area, he came upon a crash scene. Responding deputies pulled the suspect out of the car and quickly extinguished a small brush fire sparked by the crash.

Michael Carmichael (DOB: 05/03/2001) was treated at a hospital and then booked into Vista Detention Facility on charges of impersonating a peace officer, felony evading, possessing a baton and brass knuckles, as well as false imprisonment.

An acquaintance was riding with Carmichael at the time of the incident. The woman had minor aches and pains from the crash Fallbrook Animal Sanctuary was recognized June 8 in Sacramento by the state legislature as a 2022 Nonprofit of the Year, nominated by Assemblymember Marie Waldron. Janet LuCore, director, and Dr. John Daly, board president, went to Sacramento to receive the award at the California Nonprofits Day luncheon.

"I am honored to recognize the Fallbrook Animal Sanctuary as the 2022 75th Assembly District's Nonprofit of the Year," Waldron said. "It is my great pleasure to recognize the Fallbrook Animal Sanctuary for all they do to help pair animals with loving families so that they can prosper together."

The sanctuary's mission statement is admirable: "Our facility is a safe haven for the animals that find their way to our sanctuary as a result of abandonment, abuse, neglect, or owner surrender. They have a home with us for as long as they need it. We are a no-kill shelter; every animal in our care will remain with us until they find their forever family. No animal will ever be put down due to lack of space."

FAS also strives to educate the community regarding spay/neuter, microchipping, and the importance of understanding the emotional needs of all animals.

The Fallbrook Animal Sanctuary is entirely run by volunteers.

"We are always looking for new volunteers to help us make our vision a reality," LuCore said. "We'll help you find a way to volunteer that best suits you."

All were assigned to Marine Medium Tiltrotor Squadron 364, Marine Aircraft Group 39, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing and were based at Marine Corps Air Station Camp Pendleton. The identities of the Marines are below.

Cpl. Nathan E. Carlson, 21, of Winnebago, Illinois, a Tiltrotor Crew Chief

Capt. Nicholas P. Losapio, 31, of Rockingham, New Hampshire, an MV-22B Pilot

Cpl. Seth D. Rasmuson, 21, of Johnson, Wyoming, a Tiltrotor Crew Chief

"It is with heavy hearts that we mourn the loss of five Marines from the Purple Fox family," said Lt. Col. John C. Miller, Commanding Officer of VMM-364. "This is an extremely difficult time for VMM-364 and it is hard to express the impact that this loss has had on our squadron and its families. Our primary mission now is taking care of the family members of our fallen Marines and we respectfully request privacy for their families as they navigate this difficult time. We appreciate all the prayers and support from the strong extended Purple Fox family and want them to know that more information will be forthcoming on how to help."

At the time of the mishap, the MV-22B Osprey and crew were conducting routine flight training. The mishap is currently under investigation.

Firefighters from 3 agencies fight fire at under-construction Bonsall home

North County Fire Protection District responded to the scene of a structure fire located in the 4200 block of Paso Del Lagos in Bonsall Thursday night, June 10.

The call first came in at 10:42 p.m. North County Fire Protection District spokesman Capt. John Choi said.

Firefighters arrived at the location to find the house, which was under construction fully involved, Choi said.

The homeowners and their two dogs were accounted for.

Choi said that the department faced some unique challenges fighting the blaze.

"We had a couple of significant challenges that this house fire created," he said, adding that the fire had spread into the attic. "So it was across the entire attic, burning across the joists and the rafters which made the area unstable."

Choi said the fact that the roof was metal also created issues for firefighters.

"If it's a metal roof there is no cutting an oval in it to make entry, there is no going on the roof and there is no operation that will penetrate the roof," he said. "The conditions of the fire made it very unstable for crews to go inside."

"We determined the safest way to attack this fire was from a defensive posture. Fighting the fire from the outside of the structure" Choi said.

"The best strategy was to perform a controlled burn down of the structure and to protect the exposures. It was unsafe to enter due to the fire damage of the and was checked by paramedics at the scene. Detectives spoke to her and determined she had no involvement in Carmichael’s impersonation. The woman, who was initially

What does a Supervisor supervise?

Supervisor Jim Desmond
5th District

One of the questions I get asked frequently is, “What does a Supervisor supervise?” Many people aren’t sure what a County Supervisor does, so I wanted to explain a bit about what my role is as your county representative.

The county is the local government entity for the unincorporated area (everywhere not in a city). In North County, that entails Valley Center, Fallbrook, Bonsall, Borrego Springs, Pauma Valley, and Rainbow, Ranchita... just to name a few communities. For these communities, the county is in charge of their public roads and infrastructure, law enforcement, and land-use decisions.

For the cities, which in my district are Oceanside, Vista, San Marcos, and Escondido, they each have a city council to determine their law enforcement, land use, roads and infrastructure.

Regionally, including all cities and the unincorporated area, county government manages social services such as child welfare and the foster care system, aging and independent services for seniors, public health, beach and water quality, restaurant inspections (the “A” grades you see in the windows); the District Attorney and the Public Defender are both county functions; agriculture, jails and courthouses, and many more functions, are run by the county across the region.

The County of San Diego also has four countywide elected positions – the Sheriff, the District Attorney, the Assessor/ Recorder/ County Clerk, and the Treasurer/ Tax Collector.

That’s a very basic overview of county services and functions. There’s plenty more, and if you ever have a question on any topic, please don’t hesitate to reach out. I work for you, so I am always here to help and assist with whatever you need, jim.desmond@sdcounty.ca.gov or 619-531-5555.

Kicking Covid

Elizabeth Youngman-Westphal
Special to The Village News

It is my hope you never discover what Covid is like. Cause, it ain’t nothing. For me, it was a rough week. Here’s what happened to us.

First of all, everyone that boarded the Grand Princess ship headed to Hawaii April 4 had to show proof of a supervised-negative-Covid test result taken within the last 48-hours before boarding in San Pedro.

Since we are both vaccinated early and boosted one time each, neither of us were concerned about getting a negative-covid-pre-cruise test result. We felt confident that we’d be OK. And we were.

Still, on the 11th day of the return voyage of the 15-day round trip cruise to Hawaii, my husband started coughing. We were confident it was a cold. Fellow passengers agreed with us since we all were negative when we boarded and isn’t Hawaii the most conscientious state in the union on Covid regulations? It sounded like his nasal passage was clogged. It had to be a cold.

So, he went to bed for 16 hours and felt better the next day. No need to panic, it was just a cold.

As we kept repeating to ourselves, after all, it couldn’t be anything else since we and everyone on the boat were all cleared of Covid before boarding. And then. My cough started. It didn’t clog up in my chest. We could both function and just felt like we had bad colds. Never considering anything else.

Thinking back, we both wonder how anyone could get infected? The only possibility could be we were infected while on a local tour in Hawaii four days earlier. As I recall, no one was ever retested when returning to ship after taking a tour. Hmmm?

Tuesday, April 19, we got home to Fallbrook. We’d missed doughnut Sunday, so stopped at our local doughnut hole to grab a bag of treats to entice the grandkids down for a quick hello.

It wasn’t until they scooted back up the hill homeward bound that we thought to clear our conscience, so we both took an at-home-Covid test. Actually, I said “there was no way I could be infected, but if his home test was positive, I would take a test too.” Bingo. We’d won the lottery. Both of us tested positive.

I immediately put in a call for an appointment with my doctor. It happened, I could get a telemedicine appointment that day and so I took it.

As it turned out, I was within the first three days of infection which meant the doc could prescribe Paxlovid. It’s a five-day program that made a huge difference in my recovery.

Here’s the thing. We’ve both been vaccinated and each had one booster. How in the blazes did it break through our immune system?

My doctor seemed to believe I’d recover with or without the script, but I asked for it just the same. I am pleased to report by Day Four, I was at 80% cured.

The symptoms I had included bone ache, extreme fatigue, and for one morning my entire sinus cavity was clogged making me breathe through my mouth which created extreme dry mouth and a sleepless night.

Admittedly, we were naïve about what it felt like to get this strain of flu vs a cold. (We are still unclear why our federally funded at-home-Covid tests are made in China?)

What we discovered about this virus is that after five days of covid, you are no longer contagious. After 10 days you need not isolate. There is an upside in that we are now immune for six months. (So, we’ve been told).

To the best of my knowledge, that is what I have gleaned from our experience.

Naturally, I was yelled at by my daughter for getting the covid-flu strain and she declared she’d murder me if my symptoms escalated. Or if I contracted the omicron strain, although mostly it’s not lethal but can be. Nothing stops it.

If there is a moral to this story, for us, the vaccine kept us from having a more difficult case of this flu, and our doc recommends a second booster after the six months immunity expires. That’s what we’re gonna do. Everyone gets to decide for themselves.

Keeping up with the Capitol

Sen. Brian Jones
38th District

June is a busy month up at the Sacramento Capitol. Committees will be hearing hundreds of bills and the state budget must be passed by June 15. Two issues to watch out for are rent relief and wildfires.

Rent is skyrocketing across California and, specifically, in San Diego. I’m taking action to help renters with Senate Bill 843. As a co-author of this bill, we are increasing the renters’ tax credit for the first time in 42 years to $500 for individuals and $1,000 for couples and individuals with dependents. This important measure will provide direct financial relief to more than 3 million renters in California. The bill recently passed off the Senate Floor unanimously and is heading to the Assembly for consideration.

Catastrophic and devastating wildfires have occurred in almost every region of California, including San Diego County. I’m a proud co-author of Senate Bill 1062, also known as the “Firefighter Shortage Act.” Through this measure, California will hire an additional 356 full time firefighters and 16 firefighting hand crews.

Our firefighters are heroes, risking their lives to save communities in San Diego and across California. We’re going to hire extra firefighters to make sure that we are getting onto fires sooner, safer and more efficiently. With the state’s nearly $100 billion budget surplus, I strongly support investing some of these funds into public safety. SB 1062 recently passed off the Senate Floor unanimously and is heading to the Assembly for consideration.

In other news, California’s gas average now tops $6, the highest-recorded average per gallon of regular unleaded. With nearly a $100 billion surplus, I’ve been fighting to suspend the gas tax for months. While the majority party Democrat legislators and the Governor could immediately lower gas prices by suspending California’s $1 gas taxes and fees, they continue to refuse to act. The Governor’s plan to send $400 rebate checks to registered vehicle owners is a step in the right direction, however, payments would not start until October at the earliest. Californians need relief at the pump now!

Stumbling blocks on the way to our future

There was nothing last week warranting my rebuttal. There was Mr. Maynard’s claim that a border wall would keep out illegal immigrants. However, there’s a device that makes the wall totally ineffective: it’s called a ladder. So let’s talk about America’s history of slavery.

Republican leaders claim that Critical Race Theory teaches children to feel guilty for our country’s history of slavery. It does not. It doesn’t require a PhD to understand that no one is responsible for the actions – good or bad – of their predecessors: parents, their forebears, or Founding Fathers. We can be justifiably proud of what our Founding Fathers accomplished. But they were not superheroes or paragons of virtue, which makes their accomplishments even more impressive.

Nonetheless, Republican leaders apparently do feel guilty and ashamed, and even before CRT have been trying to whitewash American history as taught in public schools. They want to keep their secret guilt a secret. But it’s not possible to get a true picture of our history without an understanding of how integral slavery was to our early history and how it finally ended.

Even California’s history isn’t squeaky clean. California joined the Union on September 9, 1850, as a free, non-slavery state. In a 2004 article, NBC News noted an 1852 ad announcing the public auction of a black man valued at $300, newspaper accounts of fugitive slaves who were arrested, and county records certifying slaves bought their freedom from their owners.” But we can learn from that past, seeing how far we’ve come, and gaining insight into how to go further.

Republican leaders don’t see it that way at all. They think we’ve moved too far forward and need to go back, back to a rosy past that never existed, except in their own minds. The fact is we can’t go back there: we can’t even go back to the actual recent past.

The Republican/Trump administration tried to, with their “America first and only” program. It failed miserably. As a result, we lost four years that could have been used in maintaining and advancing our position in the global economy. But we have the science and technology to make up for that and we are doing so. And blue California will continue to lead the way forward.

Eastern will deliver a reliable supply of water to Fallbrook and Rainbow

Jack Bebee and Tom Kennedy
FPUD and RMWD

There’s been a lot of media coverage lately about water, especially here in California where Governor Newsom recently called on local water districts across the state to reduce their water use as we navigate through this latest drought.

As we work together to address this, the Fallbrook Public Utility District and the Rainbow Municipal Water District are also focused on reducing the rapidly rising water costs from the San Diego County Water Authority. Today, the cost of water in the San Diego area is among the highest in America, which you’ve surely noticed on your water bill.

To provide you with some relief, we’re currently seeking to switch water suppliers – from the SDCWA to the Eastern Municipal Water District – which is estimated to save our ratepayers about $7.6 million a year.

Unfortunately, the SDCWA is actively opposed to our leaving and is trying to mislead the people of Fallbrook and Rainbow on a variety of issues, including whether Eastern can provide our communities with a reliable supply of water.

Let us be clear: we’ve studied this issue exhaustively – and so have others – and we can say without question that Eastern has the wherewithal to meet our water needs.

For one, Eastern produces a significant amount of water locally (about 40%) through recycling and groundwater desalination, making it less dependent on less reliable imported water from the Colorado River and other sources. The Water Authority, on the other hand, is reliant on the troubled Colorado River – which is being increasingly tapped by states across the western United States – and other imported sources for much of its water.

“You look at the Colorado River, you look at the delta, you look at these stressed systems and it’s hard for anyone in the state to justify and say, ‘We’re good,’” said State Water Resources Control Board Chairman Joaquin Esquivel during a board meeting last month in reference to these diminishing imported water supplies. For the first time, the federal government last year declared a water shortage on the Colorado River.

The SDCWA’s reliance on the Colorado River is certainly worrisome. As CBS’s 60 Minutes reported last fall, “a big part of the problem is the law of the river itself, a hodgepodge of rules and regulations pieced together over the course of a century. For example, after all the litigation and negotiations, the law ends up allocating more water than actually flows down the Colorado.”

While on paper SDCWA has higher priority rights to water from the Colorado River than many others, it seems unlikely that, as conditions continue to deteriorate on the river, other regions will undergo massive cuts while outdoor watering will remain unrestricted in San Diego. The State Water Resources Control Board has already signaled that it will step in and curtail water use regardless of the paper priority in water rights way before this occurs.

“You can have the best water rights in the world, but if there’s no water in the system, it’s just a piece of paper,” said Tina Shields, a water manager with the Imperial Irrigation District, which has an agreement with the Water Authority to provide a significant amount of water from the Colorado River.

Regarding the reliability of Eastern’s water supply, independent experts have also looked at this and agree that Eastern is well positioned to meet our water needs.

This is all important information for you to know as we continue down the path to changing water suppliers. We’re hopeful that the San Diego Local Agency Formation Commission will approve our applications to make this change, and if they do, you – the voters of Fallbrook and Rainbow – will have the final say in an election that could be held as early as next year.

In the meantime, we will continue to keep you updated on our efforts.

Beebe is general manager of the Fallbrook Public Utility District. Kennedy is general manager of the Rainbow Municipal Water District.

Dumping ground for sexually violent predators?

Assemblymember Marie Waldron
75th District

What happens to Sexually Violent Predators once they’ve served their sentences? Apparently, they get dumped in rural San Diego County.

Rural areas lack resources to supervise conditionally released SVPs and guarantee public safety. In San Diego County, multiple SVPs have been placed in Jacumba Hot Springs, Campo and Boulevard, with proposed placements in communities like Pauma Valley and Borrego Springs.

I’ve written letters in the past opposing placement of SVPs in rural communities, including in 2020 when I wrote to the Superior Court regarding placing an SVP in Pauma Valley. Fortunately, that proposal was blocked, but Borrego Springs is still under consideration to house a convicted child molester. There will be a hearing on July 8, and I have again written a letter to the judge explaining this individual must be placed elsewhere.

Does the state purposely place SVPs in rural locations lacking the clout to generate public outcry that can block these placements, as recently happened in Rancho Bernardo?

Currently, the Department of State Hospitals, which oversees placement, contracts with Liberty Healthcare, which then seeks court approval. County District Attorneys aren’t consulted and have also expressed frustration.

This must stop. That’s why

I joined Senator Brian Jones to co-author SB 841, requiring the State Hospital Director to approve SVP placements before contracts are signed – with public safety an overriding consideration. Mandated reports would list suitable alternate properties, including properties under Department of Corrections or Forestry and Fire Protection control. The director would also list counties and supervisorial districts receiving SVPs. Naturally, San Diego County is one of the bill’s supporters. Unfortunately however, SB 841 was killed in the Senate Public Safety Committee by the Democrat majority. Even so, I’ll keep trying, and I’ll keep doing all I can to block placements of SVPs in rural communities. Rural San Diego County cannot remain a dumping ground for Sexually Violent Predators.

Everything from the soothing sounds that were playing to the comfortable heated massage bed and then of course Craig himself. He is incredibly warm, caring and very genuine. His very aura radiates into his healing touch. He is knowledgeable and very intuitive in his practice. He is amazing at what he does! He made time to schedule me in for an appointment after being in a car accident that left me in great pain, despite being completely booked with a busy schedule, which meant so much to me! Every time I leave my body feels completely relaxed & as light as a feather! He is hands down the best massage therapist I have been to and don’t plan on seeing anyone else from here on out!”*

Re: ‘Julian Assange case may have serious implications for journalists’ [Village and Valley News, Reeder Letter, 6/9/22]

Though I always tear through my weekly copy of Valley News to get to your Opinion column first, I must say that I was surprised and disappointed with your most recent discussion in defense of Mr. Assange. The issue with Mr. Assange is not freedom of the press, which I declare is a right we all will agree with and support vigorously but an issue of espionage and subterfuge. If Mr. Assange wants to voice opinions or even facts in evidence on corruption or malfeasance on the part of any elected or appointed official, I would agree with your defense that he is protected under our 1st amendment, but Mr. Assange went much further than that. In his quest to uncover information, which he did illegally via computer hacks, he also uncovered sensitive military secrets of our country and laid those secrets out for our enemies to enjoy. THIS is why our law enforcement agencies want him so badly. This is not a matter of 1st amendment rights Julie, his actions are a serious crime against our country.

Mike Sullivan
Murrieta

Publisher’s response
I understand your point. It’s complicated because Assange didn’t help steal the secrets. He did publish them though.

My concern is just the ramifications of using the Espionage Act in publishing and what that would mean for journalists and whistleblowers who have always had the freedom to expose secrets when they were part of a story that they felt needed to be exposed.

Just like the example of the disclosure of the Pentagon Papers which Ellsberg, who worked on the original report, was initially charged with conspiracy, Espionage, and theft of government property after the New York Times published the information on the front page in 1971.

Charges were later dismissed after prosecutors investigating the Watergate scandal uncovered that the White House was trying to discredit Ellsberg.

Back to Manning, who was the person who stole the military information that showed civilians being bombed and the numbers of which they kept track after saying they hadn’t. He was convicted and served time as an American citizen and military person.

My concern is the ability for the govt. to use the precedent in the future against publishers exposing corrupt govt. Officials. Especially in the climate of growing authoritarian tendencies.

Thank you for the conversation.

sanctuary. Besides the adoptions and people re-homing their pets, cats are usually playful, dogs are barking because that’s what dogs do, and staff is always cleaning the animals, their “messes” and rags, food bowls, etc. Sometimes there are births or animals needing medical attention.

Veterinarians make their rounds in the morning and evenings, and now is the time of year that kittens are born – and many dropped off at the center. In each of the last two years, 315 kittens have been adopted from the center.

“Kitten season can be brutal,” said Vicki Caldwell, canine director the past eight years.

The sanctuary has a zero-kill policy, meaning they keep the dogs and cats, or they are adopted or die naturally.

This year marks the 20-year anniversary of the sanctuary, founded by Janet LuCore in her residence. It’s now located on West Aviation Road, between Main and Mission streets.

Cats and small dogs are housed inside the building. Larger dogs stay in the five large buildings that were converted from storage sheds. Two dogs are in each structure that have air conditioning and heating, as well as music. They each have an individual dog run in the back, and there is a large play area for all the dogs to socialize.

Once an animal is relinquished to their care, Fallbrook Animal Sanctuary provides a thorough medical examination and spaying or neutering, vaccinations, a microchip implant, and treatment for any medical conditions, including X-rays, blood tests, and surgery if necessary.

Fallbrook Animal Sanctuary has an adoption event Saturday, June 18, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Kahoots Pet store, 1101 S. Main Ave., in the Fallbrook Plaza.

Adoptions are also available at the sanctuary, 230 W Aviation Road, Fallbrook. For more information call 760-685-3533 or visit fallbrookanimalsanctuary.org.

FIRE

unprotected and exposed wood; the fire had spread throughout the house; and the attic space was compromised with that metal roof. All that made it unsafe to extinguish from the interior and we had to extinguish from the exterior,” he said.

“We did a full burn down of the structure so that way the roof would collapse inward and give us access to all the hidden spaces of the fire,” Choi said. “Otherwise we wouldn’t have been able to fully extinguish this fire.”

Firefighters also kept the structure fire from spreading to nearby vegetation.

In all, three NCFPD engines, the NCFPD Battalion Chief, the NCFPD Fire Marshall, the NCFPD Fire Chief, one Vista Fire Department Engine and Rescue Ambulance, two Oceanside Fire Department engines, and a Light and Air unit from San Diego City Fire Department were all on scene.

The Light and Air unit was there to provide lights to the scene and to also replenish air tanks that fire crews had to wear.

Choi explained that materials used in buildings are highly toxic as they burn, so even though fire fighters did not enter the structure, the fumes from burning materials was toxic, so they all wore masks and tanks.

Fire crews will take turns throughout the day watching the fire and knocking down any hot spots, Choi said.

“It will be a physically intensive day of pulling and moving the debris around and watering it down,” the spokesman said.

Cause of the fire could not be determined because of the metal roof collapse.

According to a North County Fire Protection District spokesman, fire crews spent the immediately following day at the site, laboriously pulling and pushing, and water spraying the debris field under the huge roof, to stop the fire and smoldering debris. They secured the perimeter and edges, and deep under the metal roof. However, places that were more difficult to reach, continue to smolder. Firefighters did not expect those areas to reignite and spread.

The NCFPD spokesman said that because of the roof collapse over the debris field, the Fire Marshall cannot determine the exact cause of the fire.

A source said it more than likely started somewhere in the kitchen. The home was under construction. It also was a rebuild from the Lilac Fire of recent years, according to a source.

The NCFPD spokesman said insurance investigators were on site recently.

‘Serve Sundays’ gives pool supplies to Boys and Girls Club

Rick Monroe
Special to the Village News

Pool items for the youth in the Boys and Girls Clubs of North County is the latest “Serve Sundays” project completed by a group of Fallbrook churches.

Greg Coppock of SonRise Christian Fellowship in Fallbrook said the goal of about a dozen churches in Fallbrook was to bless the Boys and Girls Clubs of North County as the pool season is about to commence. Each church brought pool supplies like towels, sunscreen, swim goggles, hats and other needed items to their congregations on May 29, and approximately 20 people from those churches went to the Boys and Girls Club at 445 East Ivy, to assist with some general maintenance needs.

“We just sensed we were all to work together to bless an organization that is all about nurturing young people,” said Coppock.

The next Serve Sunday will be July 31, with the goal of raising funds to help cover the costs of transportation and other funds needed so all kids in Fallbrook can have the opportunity to participate in the Boys and Girls Club programs, as well as assisting in continued maintenance.

For over 50 years, the Boys & Girls Clubs of North County have been committed to serving youth and reaching out to young people in need. As a community based agency, the organization offers young people what they need and want most—adults who respect and listen to them, a safe environment where they can have fun and be themselves, and interesting, constructive activities that channel youthful energy into challenging pursuits, Coppock said.

The collective Church of Fallbrook will host a picnic at Live Oak Park on Sunday, July 3, after morning services, to celebrate the birth of our country and the relationships that have been and will be developed throughout the Serve Sunday initiative. All are welcome to attend and enjoy hot dogs, horseshoes and the other family fun provided.

Firefighters perform rope rescue in rollover accident and off Rice Canyon Road

Special to the Village News

In the early evening, June 10, a rollover accident off of Rice Canyon Road in Rainbow sent one man to Palomar Hospital Trauma Center after his car went down a ravine approximately 30 feet.

North County Fire Protection District responded to the call and arrived on scene around 6:10 p.m.

Firefighters extricated the male adult victim from his vehicle and secured him into a stokes basket. Firefighters had to perform a rope rescue operation to bring the patient up to the roadway.

From there, a NCFPD Medic Ambulance transported the victim to a landing zone and transferred the victim to Mercy Air.

Mercy Air then transported the victim to the Palomar Hospital Trauma Center.

Cause of the accident is under investigation by the California Highway Patrol.

Late Saturday, June 11, a motorcycle and wedding party bus collided on Highway 76, just east of Gird Road. The young adult male motorcyclist suffered life-threatening injuries.

According to the North County Fire Protection District, the wedding party bus was on the side of the road because of a breakdown. The motorcyclist came around the bend and slammed into the back-end of the bus. He then went flying over into the ravine.

A rope rescue took place. The young man, who was unconscious, was treated at the scene, secured in a stokes basket and brought up to the road. A rescue ambulance then transported him to Mercy Air.

Mercy Air transported the critically-injured motorcyclist to a trauma center.

Word Sunday morning, June 12, was that the young man succumbed to his injuries. The California Highway Patrol is investigating the accident.

Oingo Boingo Dead Man’s Party Tribute band and DEVO Tribute band jam-packed the Starlight venue at Pala Casino & Resort Saturday night, June 11.

DEVO opened, all members dressed in yellow work onesies with what looked like red giant flower pots turned upside down on their heads. “We love all the spuds out there,” exclaimed the lead singer.

With that the band played all the DEVO hits such as “Working in a Coal Mine,” “Freedom of Choice,” which included such lines as “You really don’t enjoy freedom of choice, Freedom of choice is what you want. Freedom from choice is what you get.”

The band played with loud, tight precision. They performed the all-time favorite, “Whip It,” and “Yeah, Yeah, Yeah, Yeah, Yeah,” “He’s Got an Uncontrollable Urge,” and “Through Being Cool.”

DEVO Tribute Band did not disappoint. They shared the love and the audience loved back. They were a great opening band.

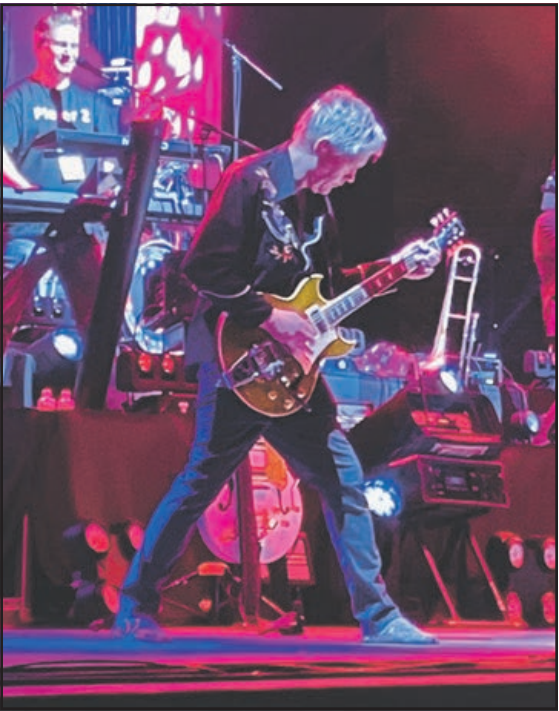

Oingo Boingo DMP band members quietly took the stage and opened with “You’ve Really Got Me Now.” From that moment on, more than half the audience was on their feet and remained that way through the concert.

The layers of music played in the DMP band was nothing short of amazing. A horn section, keys, a lead guitar, bass players, drums, and everyone sang. At one point, the lead singer, who also is an electric guitar player, joined with the bass player and played a balafon, an African-like xylophone with keys, and filled with fruit gourds. The sounds were incredible. The segment stayed true to Danny Elfmann, who was the lead singer of Oingo Boingo, and who always brought an exotic instrument to the concerts and his songs.

They performed many songs off a few of the Oingo Boingo albums, including “It’s Alive,” “Little Girls,” “Who Do You Want to Be,” “Gratitude,” “I Don’t Know Why I Feel This Way,” “We Close Our Eyes,” “Stay With Me,” “Dead Man’s Party,” “Just Another Day,” “No Spill Blood,” “Nothing

The bands played a solid three-hours of music. It was non-stop and highly energetic. DMP gave kudos to the venue for being one of the best to play at and work with. They also gave tribute to the opening band, akin to being a family and loving all.

The venue and the bands did an outstanding job. One attendee told me when he closed his eyes and listened, it sounded just like Oingo Boingo.

McFarland named Legionnaires’ male Senior Student-Athlete for 2021-22

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

Each year the San Diego High School Sports Association honors a male athlete and a female athlete from each CIF San Diego Section member as a Senior Student-Athlete. The award is given to seniors based on athletic, leadership, and academic criteria. Ethan McFarland was selected as Bonsall High School’s male Senior Student-Athlete for the 2021-22 school year.

“It’s a privilege and honor to be named,” McFarland said.

McFarland ran cross country and track for Bonsall. “He worked really hard for it. Ever since I met him, he’s been an outstanding athlete, always putting in the work,” said current Bonsall track and field head coach Manuel Ramirez.

“He was a leader on both teams,” said Bonsall athletic director Andrea Breuninger.

Runners were selected as Bonsall’s male and female Senior Student-Athlete recipients for 2019-20. Participation in cross country and track and field dwindled after the coronavirus shutdown, and McFarland noted that his ambition to revive the two sports at Bonsall High School was a factor in his award. “I’m glad that they recognized that ambition,” he said.

“He had a lot of positivity and joy in what he did, and he brought that to others,” Breuninger said.

Breuninger noted that McFarland’s desire to succeed wasn’t at the expense of his sportsmanship or respect for runners at other schools. “He was a friendly competitor to his opponents,” Breuninger said.

“I’m really proud of him,” Ramirez said.

The Lilac fire destroyed McFarland’s home on his 14th birthday; McFarland was born in San Diego on Dec. 7, 2003, but has lived in Fallbrook or Bonsall all of his life. As a seventh-grader in 2016, McFarland joined the Sullivan cross country team and was also part of the Wildcats’ cross country program when he was in eighth grade. He began his Bonsall High School student-athlete career in 2018.

As a freshman, McFarland ran cross country and track for Bonsall. During his sophomore year, he placed 10th at the 2019 Frontier Conference meet to earn all-league honors. The coronavirus outbreak ended the 2020 track and field season without McFarland being able to participate in a race, and the delay in the resumption of CIF sports shortened the 2020-21 cross country season and limited McFarland to one cross country race as a junior.

Bonsall had only two track and field athletes in 2021. McFarland ended his junior season with a fourth-place finish in the 3,200-meter run at the Frontier Conference championship meet.

“This year, we had more of a team,” McFarland said.

The Legionnaires had 12 track and field participants for 2022. During the Frontier Conference meet May 5 at The O’Farrell Charter School, a time of 10:12.51 in the 3,200-meter race placed McFarland second and was a personal record. McFarland also anchored Bonsall’s 4x100 relay team which finished fifth at the league meet.

“He’s a real team player,” Breuninger said.

“He took on most of the team in leading them, in growing them to become better,” Ramirez said. “I was thrilled to have him be part of the track and field team.”

The 2021-22 cross country season included McFarland finishing fourth in the Frontier Conference meet to capture all-league recognition. He then finished ninth among Division V boys at the CIF San Diego Section meet, which qualified him for the state meet.

“That was my goal at the beginning,” McFarland said.

“I’m really glad to have had that opportunity.”

Ninth place at the section meet also gave McFarland all-CIF status. He finished 95th among the 205 Division V boys at the state meet.

“We’re really proud of how he represented his school at the state meet this year,” Breuninger said.

“It was not a surprise that he got athlete of the year,” Ramirez said.

McFarland entered his final high school semester with a cumulative 4.25 grade point average. “He excelled not only in his sports, but he did exceptionally well academically,” Breuninger said.

“Ethan had an amazing Bonsall career.”

Palomar College has a Fallbrook campus, so McFarland may take classes there and take other classes online. Palomar’s athletic program is based at the San Marcos campus, and McFarland has not yet decided whether or not to run for the Comets. He is interested in an engineering career.

Breuninger hopes that McFarland will return to Bonsall as an assistant coach. “We would love to have him back if he stays in the area,” she said.

McFarland noted that his schedule will determine his ability to be a Bonsall assistant coach, but that he will visit his former teammates regardless of whether he coaches with the Legionnaires.

Dinners with his teammates are McFarland’s favorite Bonsall High School athletics memory. Grad Night at Six Flags Magic Mountain ranks among his favorite overall high school memories. “It’s really hard to narrow down to one specific moment,” he said.

His favorite classes at Bonsall High School include physical education, science, and social studies classes.

Legionnaires hold baseball and softball banquet

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

Bonsall High School added baseball and softball this year, and the two sports combined their post-season banquet which was held May 26 at the Pala Sports Complex where both teams play their home games.

“It was a huge success,” said Bonsall softball coach Emily Casillas.

“It was pretty much a great night,” said Bonsall baseball coach Danny Mencias.

A softball game between the baseball and softball teams preceded the dinner and awards presentations. Family members as well as Bonsall players participated in the softball game, and Bonsall athletic director Andrea Breuninger also batted for the softball team.

The Pala tribe allowed the Legionnaires to use the Pala Sports Complex free of charge and, during the awards presentation, Breuninger presented an autographed bat to Pala Tribal Council Member Shelia Smith, whose role included transportation logistics for the teams.

Sophomore catcher Maddie Rackovan was honored as the softball team’s Offensive Player of the Year. “She ended up with the most RBIs (runs batted in) on the team and always seemed to be on base,” Casillas said.

Cali Sauileone, a freshman who pitches and plays first base when she is not on the mound, took home the softball Defensive Player of the Year award. “I’m thankful to have an experienced pitcher come in for us and for her making amazing plays not only at pitcher but also first base,” Casillas said.

Mariela Garcia played center field, left field, and shortstop during her freshman year and received Most Improved Player honors for the softball team. “In the beginning she was skittish and afraid of the ball and, in the end, she was literally willing to give her shin to stop that hit,” Casillas said.

The Legionnaire of the Year

award is given to the player who exemplified Bonsall High School on and off the field. The softball Legionnaire of the Year is senior Ailynn Morales. “She has the best attitude and always helped me keep the girls straight in the dugout,” Casillas said.

Another senior, pitcher and first baseman Hanna Smith, was chosen as the softball Most Valuable Player. “Hanna is the most solid and best player I’ve ever encountered,” Casillas said. “She’s a solid hitter, pitcher, can basically do anything.”

Seniors swept the Bonsall baseball awards. Garret Murphy was named the Offensive Player of the Year. “He was always at the top of the lineup,” Mencias said.

Coaches often place the player most likely to get on base in the leadoff spot. Murphy led the team in doubles and walks. “That’s why he was at the top,” Mencias said.

Jack Gates received the Defensive Player of the Year award. Gates was primarily a first baseman. “Jack had no errors,” Mencias said.

That applied to Gates when he played first base. “He caught a couple of games,” Mencias said. “Out of all my catchers he had the fewest errors as well.”

The Most Improved Player

award went to Nate Valera. “He is a basketball player who transitioned into baseball,” Mencias said.

When the season began, Valera was primarily on the bench. “Eventually he got to play,” Mencias said. “He actually made some pretty big plays.”

The baseball Legionnaire of the Year recipient is David Montejo. “Very active at school,” Mencias said.

“The Legionnaire’s kind of an all-around player that likes to help out on and off the field,” Mencias said. “He has proven that time and time again.”

David Romo became the first Bonsall baseball Most Valuable Player. “Made a lot of great plays, also pitched a couple of our winning games,” Mencias said. “Just all around carried the team both offensively and defensively.”

Patches and certificates for varsity letters were also presented at the banquet.

“I’m glad to be closing out the season on a great happy note, and I’d like to thank all my girls for coming out and playing hard for me,” Casillas said.

“It couldn’t have been possible without parents,” Breuninger said.

“We appreciate all the families who came out to support us,” Mencias said.

Warriors reach CIF baseball final

The Warriors warm up for the CIF baseball championship game at UC San Diego, May 27.

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

For the first time since 2006, Fallbrook High School reached the CIF baseball finals.

The Warriors advanced to the Division IV final with five wins in the double-elimination playoffs. Mission Bay defeated Fallbrook in the championship game May 27 at the University of California, San Diego.

“It was a great season,” said Fallbrook coach Pat Walker.

The Warriors’ regular-season record was 15-13. This year’s Valley League consisted of five teams. Oceanside won the league championship with an 8-4 record in Valley League competition; Mission Vista had a 7-5 mark; Valley Center was 6-6; Fallbrook had a 5-7 statistic for fourth place in the final standings, and Escondido finished 4-8 in league play.

All five teams had winning overall records both for the regular season and at the conclusion of the playoffs, and all five teams were given berths in the CIF playoffs. Mission Vista was in the Division III playoffs while the other four Valley League teams participated in the Division IV postseason. Oceanside had the top seed in Division IV, Valley Center was seeded fourth, Fallbrook was given the fifth seed, and Escondido was the division’s sixth seed.

The fifth through 12th seeds have play-in games with the winners advancing to the double-elimination portion of the tournament (the top four seeds have byes in that round). Fallbrook faced 12th-seeded Morse at home May 17.

In April, the Warriors won the Lions Tournament championship by defeating Morse in the AA Division final, and Fallbrook would defeat the Tigers in the play-in game. The Tigers scored the game’s first run in the bottom of the first. Fallbrook tied the game with a run in the top of the second. Morse took a 2-1 lead with a run in the third. Fallbrook scored once in the fourth to make the score 2-2. Two Fallbrook runs in the sixth gave the Warriors a 4-2 victory.

Mitchell Baker received the pitching win for Fallbrook after hurling the first five innings and allowing two runs including an unearned one, six hits, and three walks. Jace Cervantes received the save after allowing one hit and one walk in two innings. Fallbrook batters drew six walks, including three by Anthony Thomas, and the Warriors obtained four hits consisting of two singles apiece by Tanyon Smith and Evan Thomas. Evan Thomas had two runs batted in and also reached base as a hit batter.

Valley Center hosted Fallbrook in the May 18 playoff game and defeated the Warriors by a 6-3 score. The Jaguars scored five times in the first. Fallbrook had three runs in the top of the fifth while Valley Center scored once in the bottom of that inning.

Castle Park was seeded ninth, defeated eighth-seeded El Capitan in the play-in, and lost May 18 at Oceanside. That put the Trojans into the May 20 losers’ bracket game at Fallbrook. Cervantes pitched six scoreless innings while allowing four hits and three walks in the Warriors’ 6-0 triumph; the only baserunner against Peyton Van Eik in the seventh was safe on an error.

The Warriors scored once in the first, four times in the second, and once in the fourth. Derek Torralba scored two of Fallbrook’s runs, had two of the Warriors’ eight hits, and drove in a teammate. Cervantes and Evan Thomas each had two hits, one run scored, and one run batted in. Baker drove in two runs and had a double for the Warriors’ only extra-base hit.

The May 20 playoff between Oceanside and Valley Center was a no-hitter by Oceanside sophomore Zach Small as well as a 6-0 Pirates victory. That relegated the Jaguars to the losers’ bracket and gave them a May 21 rematch against Fallbrook in Valley Center. Single runs in the second and third, three tallies in the fourth, and a score in the top of the seventh gave Fallbrook a 6-0 lead before a Jaguars run in the bottom of the seventh finalized the score at 6-1.

Baker threw a complete game for Fallbrook, allowing five hits and no walks while striking out 12. He also had a single and a double at the plate. Evan Thomas had singles in all three of his plate appearances, scored once, and drove in two runs. Austen Baker and Smith each had two hits while each scoring one run, and Austen Baker drove in a runner with a sacrifice fly. Cervantes had two hits and sent a teammate across the plate.

Fallbrook thus needed to defeat Oceanside twice on the Pirates’ field to advance to the final. In the May 24 game, the Pirates scored in the bottom of the first and held the 1-0 lead until Anthony Thomas hit a two-run homer in the fourth which also scored Mitchell Baker. The 2-1 score was unchanged through the end of the game. Warriors pitchers held the Pirates to two hits; Cervantes allowed one in five innings while Ethan Rink surrendered one hit in two innings. Cervantes and Rink each struck out five batters.

The first scoring in the May 26 game was a two-run double by Oceanside’s Jorge Garcia in the third. Fallbrook tied the game with two runs in the sixth and scored the winning run of the 3-2 match in the top of the seventh. Mitchell Baker threw the first four innings for Fallbrook while Van Eik hurled the final three. Van Eik allowed a walk and a hit batter but no hits while striking out four.

“There were three games that we had to come back to win,” Walker said.

Including the CIF final and two of the playoff games, Fallbrook played 13 games in 2022 which were decided by one run. The Warriors were 9-4 in those. “The kids battled all year,” Walker said. “The whole season was us battling and being resilient, never giving up.”

The Warriors overcame opponent leads in 10 of their victories including the three in the postseason. “A lot of comeback wins,” Walker said.

One of those was an 11-10 non-league home victory May 9 against Otay Ranch in which the Warriors overcame a 10-5 Otay Ranch advantage entering the bottom of the seventh in which Fallbrook scored six runs to win. That game was sandwiched between a 2-0 triumph April 30 at Oceanside and a 7-1 home win May 10 at Escondido which concluded regular-season play. Fallbrook thus won eight of nine games entering the CIF championship match. “That’s awesome,” Walker said.

“The playoff just was incredible,” Walker said. “Every game was a miracle in the way we were resilient and came back to win.”

The May 26 game gave Oceanside a final overall record of 23-9 with three of those losses being against Fallbrook. The May 26 game also ended the season for Rink, who was warming up in the bullpen and incurred an elbow injury. “We lost our number two pitcher at Oceanside,” Walker said.

The Warriors lost their number one pitcher earlier; elbow tendinitis relegated Smith to the designated hitter role and his final pitching appearance of the year April 28 against Oceanside consisted of one inning.

Since 1990 pitchers have been limited to ten innings, defined as 30 outs, in a week. Since 2017, a pitcher who throws 76 or more pitches in a game may not pitch during the ensuing three days; a hurler whose outing involved between 51 and 75 pitches must not take the mound for the next two days, and a pitcher cannot return as a hurler the following day if he threw between 31 and 50 pitches. Cervantes threw 78 pitches May 24, eliminating him from pitching May 27. Baker threw 66 pitches May 26 and Van Eik threw 42 pitches that day, rendering them ineligible to pitch in the final.

“We ran out of pitching,” Walker said.

Ironically fielding errors rather than pitching woes doomed Fallbrook in the championship game. “You have four or five errors in the final or in any game, it’s going to be tough to win,” Walker said.

The official scorer gave Fallbrook four fielding errors with some plays being ruled hits after the Warrior fielder did not make a clean play. Prior to the final, Evan Thomas, who was the Warriors’ only starting freshman in 2022, had thrown seven innings in three appearances. He started the final and threw five innings. Killian Snyder, who relieved in the final, had previously hurled three innings in two appearances. Austen Baker, who is a sophomore, made his high school pitching debut in the final. The Warriors pitchers combined to issue seven walks while also hitting a batter, and they allowed five hits while striking out eight. Only one of the five runs they allowed was earned.

Mission Bay was the Division IV second seed, so the Buccaneers batted as the home team. In the top of the first, Torralba reached base on an infield error; Mitchell Baker doubled down the right field line and advanced Torralba to third; Anthony Thomas hit a sacrifice fly to center field which scored Torralba, and Austen Baker singled to left field to score Mitchell Baker. Smith then singled to advance Austen Baker before the third out was made. Mission Bay pitcher Van Playman then only allowed one Fallbrook baserunner in the next four innings; Mitchell Baker singled with one out in the third.

In the bottom of the second, the Buccaneers loaded the bases with one out on a single, a walk, and a hit batter, but Evan Thomas then obtained a foul pop up and a groundout.

Mission Bay scored in the third without a hit. A walk and two infield errors loaded the bases. Thomas walked Gavin Marzion on a full count to score Flynn Barnes. Jeremiah Morgan then lined out to end the inning.

With two outs in the bottom of the fifth, Josh Morgan reached base on an infield error and stole second. Marzion reached first on a ground ball which was ruled a single rather than an error. Josh Morgan tried to score on the play and was thrown out.

Fallbrook gained a 4-1 lead in the top of the sixth. Mitchell Baker reached base on an error and advanced to second on a wild pitch. Smith walked on a full count. Evan Thomas hit a ground ball which went past the first baseman with Baker scoring on the play. A pinch-hit single into left field by Wyatt Fieri scored Smith.

Jeremiah Morgan led off the bottom of the sixth with a walk on a 3-1 count. Mason Gallego singled up the middle. After Angel Laya flied out to center field Jacob Sloan walked on a 3-1 count to load the bases.

Barnes then hit a fly ball to the outfield, but the ball did not stay in the fielder’s glove. Morgan scored while Gallego held up at third. Henry Hampton pinch-ran for Barnes. Isaac Trujillo singled to left field to score Gallego. Kaden Wheat struck out to give the Warriors two outs. On a full count Josh Morgan, lined a single into left field which scored Sloan and Hampton.

Playman pitched a complete game. Fallbrook’s three batters in the top of the seventh flied out to left field, grounded out to shortstop, and grounded out to Playman to seal Mission Bay’s 5-4 victory.

Fallbrook concluded the season with a 20-15 overall record. “I’m really proud of the kids and what they accomplished,” Walker said. “I’m really impressed with those boys.”

Teams walk to end hunger in Fallbrook

Lucette Moramarco
Associate Editor

Fallbrook residents and visitors may have seen small groups of people walking up and down Main Avenue, some in fanciful costumes, the morning of Saturday, June 11. The walkers were participating in the Fallbrook Food Pantry's annual End of Hunger Walk-a-thon.

The walkers started at Trupiano's Restaurant. From Main Avenue, they made their way up Alvarado to Brandon Street where the food pantry is located, then turned around for the round trip back to Trupiano's.

According to the pantry's case manager and volunteer coordinator, Nancy Rocha, there were about 160 participants, including more than 15 teams. Some walkers came quite a distance to help raise money for Fallbrook residents; a family even flew in from Australia (a staff member's relatives) while other walkers came from Orange and Los Angeles counties as well as San Diego.

The fundraiser had 21 sponsors and, as of Saturday, had raised over $31,000 with more pledges bringing in money not yet collected.

How to keep outdoor living areas safe

FALLBROOK – Outdoor living spaces are a wildly popular trend. A 2021 survey conducted on behalf of the International Casual Furnishings Association and American Home Furnishings Alliance found that 90% of individuals surveyed felt outdoor living spaces are more valuable than ever. That popularity was evident during the pandemic, during which 23% of respondents indicated they bought new furniture while 18% acknowledged building a deck.

The excitement of seeing a new or renovated outdoor living area can make it easy to overlook safety. But outdoor living areas, particularly those that include entertaining areas with televisions, lighting and other electronics, can pose significant safety hazards if homeowners don't take some necessary precautions.

- Use an appropriate extension cord. String lights above outdoor living spaces like decks and patios can create a warm, relaxing nighttime vibe. Those lights need to be plugged in, which increases the risk for electrical accidents. When utilizing an extension cord outdoors, never use a cord designated for indoor use. Outdoor extension cords are better insulated than cords made for indoor use. That insulation provides better protection against the elements, including sunlight, changes in temperature and moisture. When using an extension cord outdoors, make sure the cord is secured and not left lying on a deck or patio where it can easily become a tripping hazard.

- Consider fencing. Fencing can make an outdoor living space more private and safer. Local laws may mandate that pools be enclosed with fencing, but even living spaces without pools can be made safer with the installation of a fence. Fire pits are wildly popular, as more than 35% of homeowners who responded to the ICFA survey acknowledged their intention to purchase new fire pits in 2021. Adding fencing around areas with fire pits establishes boundaries, which is a must for homeowners with small children. Fencing also makes it harder for local wildlife to gain access to a property, which can decrease residents' risk for tick-borne diseases like Lyme disease.
- Purchase an outdoor television. Outdoor televisions can be expensive, but the cost of such devices will depend on what homeowners are looking for.

Homeowners who plan to spend ample time outdoors watching games, movies and their favorite shows may feel a high-end outdoor television, which can cost anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000, is well worth the investment. But those working with smaller budgets can find a quality 4K outdoor TV for around $2,000. That's still a steep price tag, but the electronics experts at P.C. Richard & Son note that outdoor TVs are designed with safety features that indoor televisions don't have. For example, outdoor TVs can self-regulate temperature and moisture levels, greatly reducing the risk of electrical issues.

Outdoor living spaces are wildly popular. Homeowners are urged to prioritize safety when designing and enjoying outdoor entertaining areas at their homes.

San Diego Humane Society maintains no-kill status

However, California ranks as #2 state in the country for killing of cats and dogs

KANAB, Utah – Best Friends Animal Society, a leading animal welfare organization, released its sixth annual pet lifesaving dataset, which gives a national overview of the number of dogs and cats that enter and exit shelters in a given year. It also includes a state-by-state no-kill priority ranking of which California is second (based on 2021 data).

In 2021, 472,840 dogs and cats entered California shelters and 390,944 were saved, giving the state an aggregate save rate* of 82.7%. In the same year, 46.3% of state shelters measured above the 90% benchmark.

San Diego Humane Society was amongst those retaining or achieving no kill status in 2021 with a save rate of 90.8% where they took in 22,976 dogs and cats and 20,862 were saved.

By comparison, in 2020, 456,717 dogs and cats entered California shelters and 374,838 were saved, giving the state an aggregate save rate of 82.1%. At the time, 42.2% of state shelters measured above the 90% benchmark. Those that were below it needed to save 39,111 more animals.

“We are so proud of San Diego Humane Society for maintaining their no-kill status,” says Kaylee Hawkins, Pacific Regional director for Best Friends Animal Society. “San Diego has proved that reaching and maintaining a 90% save rate or higher is possible in California, even during these challenging times. We hope this will inspire other shelters to adopt lifesaving models that will help them save as many dogs and cats as possible.”

Shelters with the support of their pet loving community needed to save 37,021 more healthy or treatable animals to make California no-kill (a state is considered to be no-kill when every brick-and-mortar shelter serving and/or located within the state has a save rate of 90% or higher).

“Unfortunately, the setback in lifesaving is largely due to the historic decreases in pets entering shelters in 2020,” said Julie Castle, CEO of Best Friends Animal Society. “As shelters began to reopen in 2021 in increasing numbers, so did the number of pets entering their facilities.”

While the population in California is a contributing factor for the volume we see in shelters, it's also reflective of what the data showed nationally: as overall lifesaving stalls, the animal shelter crisis in America is growing with increasing intakes and waning adoptions. For the first time in five years, U.S. shelter systems are seeing a setback in lifesaving. In 2021, the number of dogs and cats killed in U.S. shelters increased from 347,000 to 355,000 and was especially stark when compared to the dramatic life saving efforts seen throughout the previous year.

The reasons were partly due to staffing shortages that limited hours, decreased in-person volunteers, reduced adoption events and pet care support. As overall lifesaving stalls, Best Friends' data shows the animal shelter crisis in America growing with increasing intakes and waning adoptions.

Individuals can help save lives by choosing to adopt from a shelter or rescue group, spay or neuter their pets, foster, volunteer, donate, and support and advocate for community cats through trap-neuter-vaccinate-return and shelter-run TNVR programming.

"The responsibility of saving pets' lives should not rest solely on shelters and those in animal welfare, but on entire communities including community members, government leaders, shelters and other animal welfare groups," said Castle. "Through collaboration and community involvement, this model provides better support for pet owners, efficiency in shelters, and more lifesaving outcomes for pets. When a community supports its shelter's critical needs, we see dramatic results."

For the past six years, Best Friends has spearheaded a one-of-a-kind extensive data collection process that involved coordinated outreach to every shelter in America followed by additional research, data analysis, and technology development. The dataset is the most comprehensive on U.S. sheltered animals, and is based on data collected directly from shelters, state and local coalitions, government websites, and FOIA requests. From this, 94% of the animal intake in U.S. shelters is known, 6% is estimated.

\ Best Friends measures shelter lifesaving with a metric called "save rate." A 90% save rate is the nationally recognized benchmark to be considered "no-kill," factoring that approximately 10% of pets who enter shelters have medical or behavioral circumstances that warrant humane euthanasia rather than killing for lack of space.*

Wildlife meets farm life in Rainbow

As a deer makes her way up the slope, in the background, Julie Hulstine's goats are curious about their visitor.

Lucette Moramarco

Rainbow resident Julie Hulstine reposted a photo story on Facebook, May 13, exactly two years after her original posting, calling it “Too good not to share again.”

The photos show a surprise visitor, a deer who had to hop over a 4’ fence to get a good look at the resident goats. Hulstine said, “She hung with us for about 15 minutes...She was very curious about our goats!”

Hulstine sat on the ground to take the photos and the deer “just kept coming closer,” about 15’ from her. Hulstine said her male goat, Rocky, “was the only one brave enough to approach her. It was a precious interaction!”

She also said that at the time they had only lived there for a few years and that was the only time they had the pleasure of a deer visiting their property. It was “such a cool experience. She was so curious about the goats.”

Rocky, the one male goat, says hello to the visitor.

Seventh Annual Zero Waste Fair to be held at EUSD Farm Lab

I Love A Clean San Diego will have a booth with lots of information at the 7th Annual Zero Waste Fair in Encinitas.

The Zero Waste Fair will include booths hosted by local sustainable companies and non-profit organizations.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY – I Love A Clean San Diego, in partnership with the City of Encinitas and other partners, is hosting the seventh annual Zero Waste Fair Saturday, June 25, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Encinitas Union School District Farm Lab. They are back in person, so visitors should come ready to experience a wide array of zero waste activities, including:

- An informative panel of expert speakers
- Booths hosted by local sustainable companies and non-profit organizations
- Hands-on low waste DIYs – make them and take them home

- A dedicated Kids’ Corner with family-friendly activities
- The Swap & Shop booth – take a few things and leave a few

This one-of-a-kind event will highlight tips on low waste living, composting, recycling, sustainable swaps for everyday products, and more. All are welcome – from beginners to the sustainable lifestyle to zero waste experts. Attendees will have the unique opportunity to discover local zero waste businesses and can enter an opportunity drawing to win a variety of eco-conscious prizes.

What is Zero Waste?

Zero Waste is a goal to emulate sustainable natural cycles. It is a process of making daily conscious choices to value local resources and eliminate items from the landfill, which are quickly filling up. The three major landfills in San Diego County have projected closures of 2030, 2034, and 2042, respectively. Eliminating the use of disposable items, donating items in a reusable/good condition, modifying items to serve a different purpose, repairing broken items, and recycling are all great ways to reduce what we send to the landfill.

Why is Zero Waste important?

- San Diegans generate about 5 lbs. of trash per person per day – the most in the state.
- Landfills like the Miramar Landfill are composed of reusable, repairable, and recyclable materials, indicating a need to change our practices to extend the use of the landfill and eliminate resources from ending up in the landfill.
- Zero waste living reduces exposure to toxic chemicals (cleaning supplies, BPA, etc.)
- Zero waste living mitigates the rate of climate change (factories produce CO2 and other greenhouse gasses; composting removes CO2 from the atmosphere)

ILACSD believes San Diegans have the solution; small, daily actions toward zero waste will collectively protect their resources, environment, and health. They need everyone to keep items out of the landfill by reducing, reusing, repurposing, donating, and recycling. Visit <https://zerowastefair.org/> to learn more and register for the event.

Former hospice staff holds reunion

FALLBROOK – After two long years of being unable to meet, the Fallbrook Home Health and Hospice staff, consisting of nurses, nurse aides, clerical staff, physical therapist, speech therapist, social workers and chaplain were able to gather at the home of Suzanne Lemoine, Rn, MSN.

Lemoine said they had “a delightful afternoon sharing our stories with lots of laughter and updating each other on our present endeavors. Even though our employment ended many years ago at the closing of our Fallbrook Home Health and Hospice agency, we have continued to meet, share stories and reminisce about our past as an awesome team. As per usual the appetizers and desserts were delicious.”

Some are still working while others have retired. At the conclusion of the reunion, “with kind words and sharing of fond memories, we raised a toast to our awesome hospice physician, Dr Daniel Manring. He will be greatly missed at our gatherings. May his soul rest in eternal peace,” Lemoine added.

Feeding San Diego adds new food distribution sites to address childhood hunger

SAN DIEGO – Feeding San Diego, the county’s leading hunger-relief and food rescue non-profit, has partnered with San Diego County Library branches to host food distributions this summer. Starting this month, 10 new sites will be in operation at various locations throughout the county, from Valley Center to Spring Valley to Oceanside. With record-high gas prices and inflation, the nonprofit is anticipating additional need for food assistance this summer.

These library sites are intended to support families in need of food assistance who might struggle without having school meals provided to children during the summer months. According to data from the California Department of Education, there are nearly 500,000 K through 12 students in San Diego County, and over 240,000 of those students rely on free or reduced-price meals while in school. That means in the summer months, nearly 50% of San Diego County students could lose access to nutritious meals.

There are three free food distribution sites in Fallbrook:

Fallbrook Library, 124 S. Mission Road, every Friday, 2-4:30 p.m.

Fallbrook Food Pantry, 140 N. Brandon Road, Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Fallbrook Mobile Pantry, 463 S. Stage Coach Lane, first and third Tuesday: 9-10 a.m. (SonRise Christian Fellowship)

“Feeding San Diego has long worked to raise awareness of the issue of childhood hunger in the summer months, when school meals may no longer be provided to children,” said Dan Shea, CEO of Feeding San Diego. “This year, in addition to the usual stress of not having school meals provided, parents are dealing with record-high gas prices and inflation across the board. Our programming, including these new San Diego County library sites, is vital to providing resources for parents who need support this summer.”

The food distributions will be held at least once a month at the following libraries: Borrego Springs, El Cajon, Fallbrook, Oceanside (Civic Center and Mission branches), Ramona, Spring Valley (Casa de Oro and Spring Valley branches), Valley Center, and Vista. Depending on the location, attendees will receive either fresh produce or pantry staples like rice, beans, and grains (or both).

“San Diego County Library is excited to partner with Feeding San Diego to relaunch food distribution at 10 county libraries,” said Jodi dela Pena, Youth Services Manager with the San Diego County Library. “We have prioritized rural and high-need communities and are pleased to offer this much needed resource.”

Feeding San Diego provides programs during the summer months specifically for kids in need of no-cost meals. To find a San Diego County library site nearest to them, the public can use Feeding San Diego’s Find Food Map, <https://feedingsandiego.org/find-food/> and input their zip code. The non-profit also partners with sites to serve prepared meals as part of the Summer Food Service Program.

D’Vine Path welcomes Fallbrook to the Neighborhood Open House

Executive Director Lenila Lingad Batali prepares the D’Vine Path students for the Neighborhood Open House.

D’Vine Path’s Culinary program provides appetizers for the Neighborhood Open House attendees.

D’Vine Path student Stephanie Landa assists in preparing and plating appetizers for the event.

FALLBROOK – D’Vine Path hosted their Neighborhood Open House June 4, inviting community members to tour the new facility, interact with students and staff, and learn about the many goals of the program. This event allowed around 100 attendees to feel fully immersed in the D’Vine Path experience.

The Open House offered Fallbrook residents a unique opportunity to visit the facility and learn more about it from D’Vine Path Executive Director Lenila Lingad Batali. Attendees learned about the different pathways in D’Vine Path, including the viticulture program, the culinary program, and the arts studio.

Staff and students were excited to welcome the community into their space and inform them about how the program has impacted them personally and professionally. Batali helped lead the tours and answered questions from attendees; she was grateful to have the opportunity to bond with the new neighbors and help teach them about D’Vine Path’s mission.

“The staff and students greatly enjoyed meeting our new neighbors,” said Batali. “It truly takes a village to maintain a program like this and we are so grateful for all of the support.”

Attendee and longtime D’Vine Path supporter Firelli Pitters said she was ecstatic to attend the open house with her family and spend time getting to know the students in their new environment.

“D’Vine Path has made a lifelong impact on our two autistic sons who have been involved with D’Vine Path since its inception,” said Pitters. “The new property is perfect for furthering their vision of changing the special needs world. We are honored and blessed to know the Batalis and all of the angels that run the program.”

Text to 9-1-1 is available

San Diego County Sheriff’s Department

Emergencies can happen to anyone, anywhere at any time. When you need to be quiet and making a phone call could place you in danger, Text to 9-1-1 is available in San Diego County.

This lifesaving service has been available countywide since January of 2021 which includes the San Diego County Sheriff’s Department, as well as all police, fire and Emergency Medical Service agencies.

Calling is still the fastest way to reach 9-1-1. Voice calls allow a dispatcher to ask questions and obtain information from the caller more quickly. When calling from a landline, the call taker will automatically receive the address associated with the telephone number. An approximate location of your device is also received when calling from a cell phone.

However, there are situations when texting may be the better option:

- You’re deaf, hard of hearing, non-verbal or have difficulty speaking
- You’re in a situation where it’s not safe to call 9-1-1 for help
- You’re having a medical emergency and cannot speak on the phone

How does Text to 9-1-1 work?

Enter the numbers 911 in the “To” field without any dashes

Give the location and nature of your emergency

Send the text message

Respond to dispatcher questions and follow instructions

Data and message rates may apply. Do not use emojis, abbreviations and acronyms. Messages sent to 9-1-1 cannot include other people.

Similar to 9-1-1 calls, Text to 9-1-1 is for emergencies only. Intentional misuse of the system is a crime and is a punishable offense. If you accidentally sent a message, send a reply clarifying there is no emergency. Cell phone reception varies by location. If Text to 9-1-1 is not available, you will receive a bounce back message asking you to call 9-1-1.

Remember: Call if you can, Text ONLY if you can’t.

Eldercare lawyer to speak at Parkinson’s Support Group meeting

FALLBROOK – North County Parkinson’s Support Group Fallbrook invites anyone interested to join its monthly meeting, Friday June 24, 10 a.m. to noon, at the Fallbrook Regional Health District’s Wellness Center, 1636 E. Mission Road.

The guest speaker will be Richard Scott Stewart, Eldercare Esq. Attorney at Law. His presentation is “Be Prepared—Legal & Financial Documents for PWP’s and their Care partners.”

As partner and principal of California Estate and Elder Law, Stewart is an innovative thought-leader and attorney who specializes in estate and elder care law. His niche is finding solutions to complex issues and helping clients deftly navigate through potentially-devastating situations.

His approach involves digging into the entire landscape of clients’ specific issues to expose a full range of choices and opportunities for improvement. Full-spectrum planning helps families preserve both their assets and their relationships. This “care to know” philosophy broadens perspectives and reveals a refreshing breath of perspectives; importantly, it leads to the best possible outcome for clients.

He chose elder law because “I deeply appreciate helping a segment of our population escape from the financial ruin that can result from a lack of planning or unexpected illness. Crafting refined solutions to the age-old goal of passing assets from one generation as effectively as possible allows clients to protect their assets from being depleted by taxes, fees, and nursing home costs. The end result is clients who feel safe, knowing that their wishes will be heard and their plans executed, so they can get on with enjoying their lives. Helping a family in need, when all seems lost, affords unparalleled personal rewards.”

Stewart represents clients throughout California with estate, disability, and Medi-Cal planning; he is a member of the California Bar, San Diego County Bar Association, California Advocates for Nursing Home Reform, National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys; and serves on the Board of Directors for the Glenner Alzheimer’s Family Centers. He conducts regular educational programs and seminars on elder law topics throughout Southern California and appears regularly on various news channels, both radio and television.

Break out groups are held for a time of sharing, coffee and refreshments after the program. The meeting is held in support of persons with Parkinson’s disease, care partners and people interested in improving the world of those affected by Parkinson’s disease.

FUESD trustees considering $5.4 million budget

Rick Monroe
Special to the Village News

There were no public comments Monday, June 6, at a hearing for the 2022-2023 budget of the Fallbrook Union Elementary School District. Trustees were presented a report by Cindi Martin, associate superintendent, business services, who said the final budget should be adopted at the next board meeting on June 21.

Martin said the proposed budget is 2.8% greater than last year's document. It shows total unrestricted revenue from the general fund to be $54.4 million. That includes $4.5 million from federal funds and most of the rest from state money, including $9 million earmarked for learning recovery from the impact of COVID-19.

Unrestricted expenditures in the general fund proposed budget is $55.6 million. Nearly half of that – $26.5 million – is for teacher salaries. Another $9.5 million is for classified salaries. Employee benefits amount to $16.1 million.

Again, this year, the district has budgeted more expenditures than its revenue, but Martin explained it is a “planned deficit.”

“It’s called careful planning,” she told the board members. She said there won’t be an actual $1.2 million deficit, but that by budgeting the funds as “committed,” the money can be saved for use in the future.

Gov. Gavin Newsom’s state budget hasn’t been approved yet. That should come in early July, Martin said, but the state is in good financial shape and a healthy budget windfall is expected.

Martin said the district’s budget has a $4.6 million reserve and an additional special reserve fund of $9.4 million that have been committed. Combined, that is a total reserve of $14.0 million, or 15.8% of the budget.

“The state’s current financial projections trigger the law that caps school district’s reserves for 2022-23 at 10%, including assigned and designated funds,” Martin’s report said. “Rather than assigning our reserves, we will be committing our reserves.”

Martin further explained the difference between committing and assigning balances. Commitments require formal action by the board and may only be changed with formal board action. Assignments represent the intention of the use of the fund balance for specific purposes.

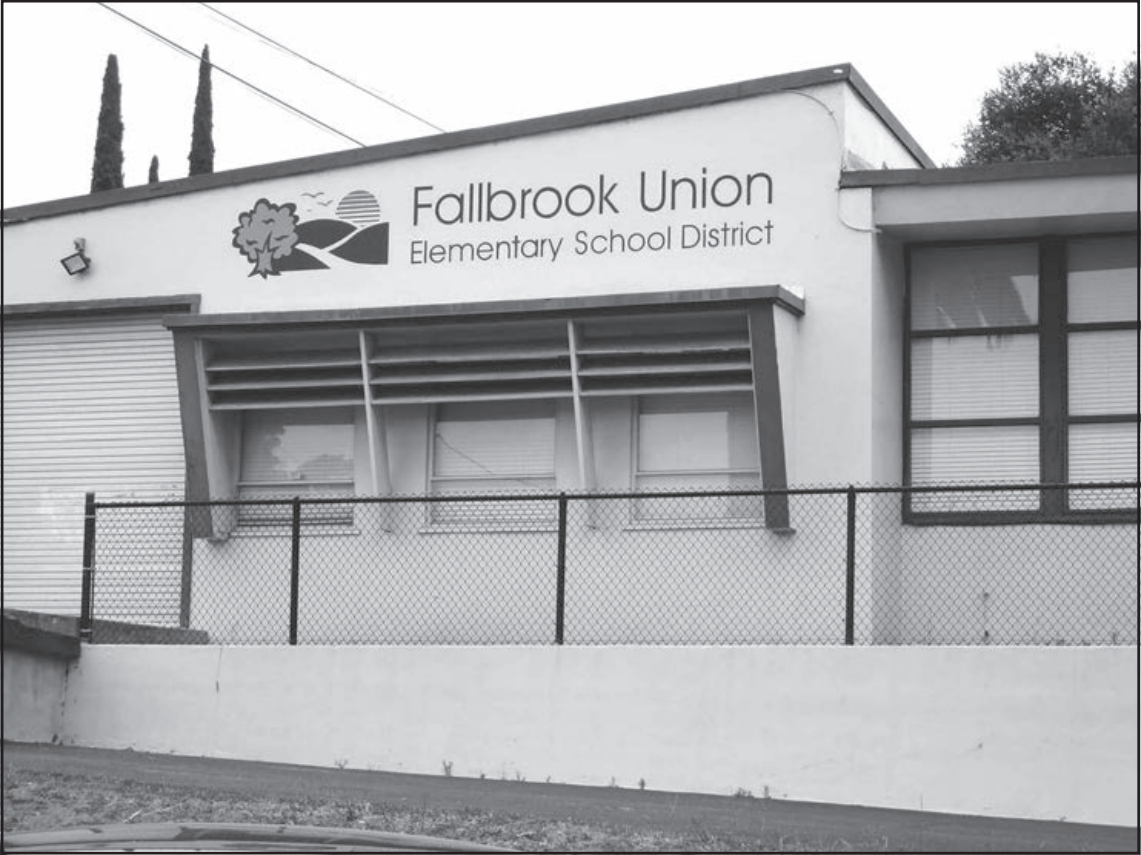

“While this is a technical change, it is not a change in our protocol as we bring the assignment of funds to the board,” she said.

Trustees learned that class size was an important factor in figuring the number of teachers needed. Martin said the district’s goal is a 21:1 ratio for grades TK-3, 26:1 for grades 4-6, and 21:1 for grades 7-8. For PK, the ratio is 12:1 with a teacher and aide.

Revenue for transportation and special education does not cover those expenses, Martin said. Transportation, which is not required, is allocated $781,898 from the state, the same amount since 2013.

Pension expenses are another issue with more people retiring early and living longer; $12 million goes for transportation and pensions.

Martin noted that the district gave the largest raise in the county this year, 2% across the board. “We value our employees,” she said.

Looking ahead, the district’s revised budget will be considered in July-August. Then in September, the unaudited actual budget to close out the fiscal year will be presented.

The board also had a public hearing – with no public input – and heard a report about the district’s Local Control and Accountability Plan, a three-year plan that describes the goals, actions, services, and expenditures to support positive student outcomes that address state and local priorities.

Dr. Candace Singh, superintendent, said LCAP was an analysis and gives direction for the district. This school year, the district is completing the first year in the cycle.

Julie Norby, assistant superintendent of educational services, made the presentation to the board in one of her final responsibilities before retiring.

She noted that the statewide dashboard should be returning in November or December, showing how the district compares statewide.

Among the positive changes for the next school year were more visual and performing arts programs and additional intervention teachers. Looking at state test scores, she noted that reading scores were better.

The goal, she said, was for a 3% improvement each year following a decline in learning due to COVID-19 restraints.

Grades 3-8 are on target, she said, and that math scores were very good.

“It’s exciting to see progress,” Norby said.

She reminded the board that “this is still a COVID year” with 17,000 days missed by students and staff.

Norby said she considered retiring early in March, but she was pleased to work with staff on the report because, “this is the fun part, recognizing our accomplishments.”

Financial Focus: What’s your investment risk tolerance?

FALLBROOK–Risk is a normal part of investing. If you didn’t take on any risk, you wouldn’t have the potential to achieve higher returns. But how much risk should you accept?

You don’t want to incur unnecessary risk. So, you’ll need to assess the amount of risk you’re comfortable taking and then determine if this risk level supports your ability to achieve your long-term goals.

Here are some of the key factors in determining your own capacity for investment risk:

- Personality – We all have different personalities. And your individual personality can certainly affect your comfort level with risk. If you enjoy taking chances or pushing yourself outside your comfort zone in other aspects of your life, you could be more likely to accept greater investment risk, too, because you know that greater risk means greater potential reward. Conversely, higher-risk investments also carry greater potential for volatility, including steep short-term declines.

- Time–Risk tolerance can change over time. When you are first starting out in your career, with decades to go until you retire, you may feel comfortable with a certain degree of investment risk, knowing you have time to potentially overcome the inevitable downturns in the financial markets. But as you near retirement, you might consider lowering your risk level and investing more conservatively, because once you do retire, you’ll likely have to start withdrawing money from your retirement accounts, which means you may need to liquidate some investments – and, ideally, you won’t want to have large fluctuations in value at that time. However, even during retirement, you may want your portfolio to include some growth-oriented investments to help keep you ahead of inflation.

- Type of goal – You might have different risk tolerances for different goals. For example, if you know you need a specific amount for a particular goal in two years – such as buying a new car or taking an overseas vacation – you may want to put away money in a low-risk, liquid vehicle. This type of investment might not have much growth potential, but for this goal, you are less interested in achieving a high rate of return than you are in being reasonably sure the money will be there when you need it. So, in this instance, you may have quite a low tolerance for risk. But for a long-term goal, such as a comfortable retirement, you may be prepared to take more risk in the hopes of greater returns, given the longer time horizon.

By understanding your risk tolerance and knowing how it can change over time and under different circumstances, you can be better prepared to face investment volatility. And there are certainly things you can do to mitigate risk. By owning a variety of investments – domestic and international stocks, bonds, mutual funds, government securities and so on – you can reduce the impact of market volatility on your portfolio. (Keep in mind, though, that diversification can’t prevent all losses or guarantee profits.)

In any case, the biggest risk of all is simply not investing. If you are going to achieve your financial goals, you need to invest for them. By understanding your own risk tolerance, and by making wise choices along the way, you can stick with an investment strategy that can work for you in the long run.

Planning Commission approves Gheen Reservoir wireless permit

Joe Naiman
Village News Reporter

The county’s Planning Commission approved a Major Use Permit for a wireless telecommunications facility at the Fallbrook Public Utility District’s Gheen Reservoir.

A 4-0 Planning Commission vote June 10 with Yolanda Calvo, Ginger Hitzke, and Thomas Hough absent, approved the permit which will allow T-Mobile to continue to operate and maintain an existing wireless communication facility. The permit will allow T-Mobile to remove the existing 35 foot tall false pine tree and install nine panel antennas and six remote radio units on an existing 40 foot tall water tank.

The project the Planning Commission approved will also relocate the existing ground equipment so that the supporting infrastructure can be closer to the water tank, and a six foot tall chain link fence with privacy slats will enclose the equipment.

The parcel in the 2100 block of East Mission Road totals 3.76 acres. It has A70 Limited Agriculture zoning and the SR-1 Semi-Rural Residential land use designation. A Major Use Permit is now required to site a wireless communication facility on land with agricultural zoning but, prior to 2003, a Minor Use Permit could allow wireless facilities and such a permit was issued for the Gheen Reservoir site in October 2001.

Sections 6985 and 6991 of the county’s Zoning Ordinance stipulate that permits for high-visibility wireless facilities in a residential or rural zone have a maximum term of 10 years for facilities valued between $10,000 and $500,000 and 15 years for facilities valued at $500,000 or more.

False trees are included in the county’s definition of high-visibility towers. The permit may be extended in the case of economic hardship or if no smaller or less visible technology to replace the facility is available or feasible.

The 15-year period for any facility approved prior to April 30, 2003, began on that date and thus expired on April 30, 2018. The Santa Margarita River Conjunctive

Use Project involved a second and taller water tank on the Gheen Reservoir property, and initially that was the proposed location for the new T-Mobile facilities once the second tank was completed. Nearby residents expressed concern about the separation distance, so the wireless facility location was revised to place the antennas and radio units on the existing tank which is further north.

Although the facility will be visible to nearby residents as well as to motorists along East Mission Road, approximately 135 feet south of the antennas and radio units, the facility will be painted to match the color of the existing tank so that it will blend in with existing structures.

The facility will no longer be considered high-visibility, so the new Major Use Permit has no time limit. The nearest residence is approximately 160 feet south of the project and the nearest property line is more than 75 feet away. The fence surrounding the equipment will enclose 225 square feet.

The February 2021 Fallbrook Community Planning Group meeting included a 12-1 vote with one abstention (Stefani Baxter, whose husband is on the FPUD board, recused herself) to recommend approval of the new facility.

GRADUATION SECTION

Fallbrook HS Salutatorian chooses UCLA

Rick Monroe

Special to the Village News

Maintaining high grades takes determination and work, said Jett Leeman, salutatorian for the Class of 2022 at Fallbrook High School.

"It's not that difficult but you have to put in the work," he explained in a recent interview on the campus. "Some of my friends had really good grades but put in zero study, so they didn't achieve as much."

Leeman certainly achieved much. His GPA of 4.4762 was one B grade lower than that of Marco Arias, valedictorian.

"We had a good, healthy rivalry for grades and always got along," Leeman said about Arias. "It feels great being salutatorian. It's an amazing accomplishment and I'm very honored."

The high grades are the result of taking all AP classes his final three years.

"I took AP classes to push myself to the highest level, but I really wasn't aiming to have the highest GPA," he said. "The high grades were a product of my effort."

The grades – and his SAT score of 1560 – resulted in a scholarship to UCLA. (1600 is the maximum score on the SAT exam.)

Why UCLA? "It's a very great university, the best offer, and it's a match with my major. I toured the campus and it's beautiful."

He plans to study chemical engineering at UCLA but may switch to environmental engineering. His said his career path is still unclear. He expressed an interest in the oil industry and said he would like to find a positive way to serve his generation.

Leeman said he had strong support from his parents, Joel and Jamie Leeman.

"Their biggest factor was when I was very stressed," he said. "They were a solace for me. They didn't give me incentives but were very supportive of my self-motivation. My mom has a degree in communications, and she was a very helpful, especially in my understanding of literature in the 1600s

His sister, Jaylyn, is two years older and is transferring this year from Palomar College to Cal State San Marcos. "We have different interests," Leeman said. "She's more into books and arts, and I'm STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics), and love hanging with my beach friends, playing spike ball."

With an active sports and beach schedule, Leeman said a lot of his studies were late at night with the music going. "That's when I was the most creative," he said.

He said his toughest class was AP Chemistry, taken as a sophomore, but it was also most rewarding.

"Mrs. (Marin) Pinnell was amazing," he said. "The class was so challenging because it taught me a lot. There was a second semester AP test, in the middle of COVID, but Mrs. Pinnell kept us engaged with 'meets' – which is like a study group."

Some of the other classes are more of a chore, he admitted.

"It depends on the subject or the teacher," he admitted. "I'm more interested in science and relevant classes for me, and less interested in things like psychology."

For younger students wanting to achieve in high school, Leeman recommended a balanced lifestyle, having a strong support system, and pushing yourself.

"Explore extracurricular options and find your niche," he said. "Discover your intrinsic motivation."

Valedictorian heading to Massachusetts

Rick Monroe

Special to the Village News

By taking all AP classes during his final three years at Fallbrook High School – and acing each one – Marco Arias achieved a GPA of 4.4961 to claim the honor of valedictorian of the Class of 2022.

"I'm really excited about being valedictorian," he said during a recent interview at the school. "It is something I wanted since I was a freshman when I set my path."

There were plenty of difficult classes, but one of the most challenging, he said, was his freshman world history. Freshmen are not allowed to take AP classes, but the instructor made this class rough. The instructor was his namesake, Marco Arias.

"My parents are first generation college graduates because they wanted a better future," the FHS student said. "They gave me a really solid foundation. My dad's history class was rough. He was really strict with me!"

The valedictorian proudly said his mother is a principal in the elementary school district.

"My parents' encouragement was very important," he noted.

Arias said his toughest AP class was chemistry as a sophomore in a class that concluded with online sessions because of COVID-19. "I was overwhelmed because it was a really hard class," Arias admitted.

In the fall, he will be attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology, located across the Charles River from Boston.

The last couple weeks at FHS, you would frequently see him wearing a MIT sweatshirt. Arias said he selected the university because of its academic reputation.

"Their engineering department is the best," he said. "I'm leaning towards an environmental engineering degree. I was able to visit during spring break and really like how the students work together, helping better each other. They're all top students."

Arias said he envisions a future as a design engineer or product designer. As a youth, he loved Lincoln Logs and Legos. He said he could also see himself working for a company like Reebok in designing shoes.

As a high school student, he said late evenings were his favorite time for studies because he liked the quiet time. The top grades didn't come easy, he noted, saying that staying up to 1 or 2 in the morning was not uncommon.

"That's when I underestimated the time needed and had to really push myself," he explained. "Some classes are more interesting – a lot depending on the instructor but most (information) you need to know just for the class. However, more and more I've seen how the earlier classes applied to classes the last two years, especially this year. So yes, I got something out of each class."

Arias said he and Jett Leeman, whose four-year GPA was a fraction behind – 4.4961 to 4.47662 – were pretty good friends and they would sometimes help one another, sometimes with a text message late at night.

"We were competing for the GPA, but we were always willing to give a helping hand," Arias said.

Arias had a GPA of 4.0 as freshman, 4.67 as sophomore, and 5.0 as junior and senior.

Passing AP exams with a score of 3 or better can earn college credits. On the 1-5 scale, a score of 5 means the student is extremely well qualified to receive college credit for that course. A score of 4 means the student is well qualified and a score of 3 indicates that the student is qualified.

Trusted perspective. Skilled negotiation. Personal service. Proven results.

Congratulations to All of the Graduates of 2022!

Indeed your accomplishments were compounded by the extra requirements we all faced with the COVID restrictions and protocols. As you all now have completed this great milestone, we strongly encourage and support you through the next phase of your life, and for your continued successes. It is important to remember that we learn by being humble and teachable, and when we do not achieve a task...we have not been defeated as long as we keep persisting through. Perhaps you are joining the service, going to college or a vocational school, but whatever you decide...please remember that GOD is always watching over you and will always be there for you. Graduation is not the end of a tough journey...it is the beginning of a beautiful one.

THE BEST IS YET TO COME! – Ken

“Fun Fact” I was a teacher!

So, many people know me as a Realtor, but a “fun fact” about my earlier life: I was a high school and middle school science teacher! As a result, I truly appreciate the effort and dedication that goes into being a graduate! My own children, twins, both graduated from Fallbrook High School! I truly enjoyed being on the parent side vs. the teacher side! And I can truly say, it will be amazing what all these new graduates will do next!

I’m excited for you and proud of you just like I was when my own children walked the field on graduation! Congrats and sending the very best to you as you take the next steps of life into adulthood!

If you can do this, you can do anything you desire! There are no limits! If you ever need inspiration, I’m here for you! Always here to talk about your future!

I’M HERE FOR YOU! – Sharon

Trust in the Lord with all your heart,

In all your ways acknowledge Him,
And He shall direct your paths.

ARIAS

Every college sets its own policy about AP credit. Some schools only give credit for scores of 4 or 5. Arias received three scores of 3, and test scores of 4 in physics, research and U.S. history. He received a score of 5 in the AP language and calculus tests.

His PSAT score was 1340 in 10th grade and his SAT score was 1550 – 750 for reading/writing and 800 in math.

Arias was able to maintain high grades while also participating in sports. He played football as a freshman and pole vaulted as a sophomore and junior, but his primary sport was wrestling. He wrestled for four year, the last as team captain.

He also competed with the school’s academic team for grades 9-11 and as a senior was on the academic decathlon team.

Arias was a personal math tutor for students in grades 6-12 and with a special needs student. He also volunteered as a virtual peer tutor in his junior and senior years for chemistry and math up to calculus.

For students approaching high school age, Arias said there is not one definition for success.

“You need to find what you want to do in life and what motivates you,” he said.

LEEMAN

His first name, Jett, was his dad’s idea, naming him after former Olympic sprinter and NFL receiver James Jett.

Leeman has some speed, too, focusing on soccer, which he has played most of his life and may continue as a club sport at UCLA.

“They’re a top school in the NCAA so I don’t think I’ll play, but I may try as a walk-on,” he said.

At FHS, Leeman was a three-year varsity starter and, as a senior, was team captain and earned all-league recognition.

He also played baseball and football as a freshman, and volleyball in grades 10-12.

Leeman has worked for 75 hours as a private tutor. “My experience in advanced math has allowed me to simplify the subject for tutees and other students that have been referred to me,” he said.

Maletych is BHS valedictorian, Calderon earns salutatorian

Ezekiel Maletych had the highest cumulative grade-point average among the 2022 Bonsall High School graduates this year, to earn the distinction of being the valedictorian, while Andrea Calderon received salutatorian recognition for having the second-highest grade point average.

Maletych graduated from Bonsall High School with a 4.52 grade point average.

“He’s a hard-working young man. He has a really good focus on education,” said Bonsall High School Principal Jason Fowler.

Fowler noted that Maletych let his actions rather than his words influence others. “He’s one of those kids who’s so quiet,” Fowler said.

Calderon had a cumulative grade point average of 4.47.

“Andrea’s a real leader around the school. She’s a role model for other students,” Fowler said. “She’s been a big part of the planning process for a lot of our clubs and events.”

Maletych plans to attend California State University San Marcos during 2022-23.

Calderon plans to continue her academic activities at the University of California, San Diego.

“I’m very proud of the senior class,” Fowler said. “They’ve had an unusual education.”

The coronavirus outbreak in March 2020 caused Bonsall High School to transition to distance learning.

“They really had to mature a lot over the course of the last year and a half, and they’ve done a great job,” Fowler said.

Ezekiel Maletych is the Bonsall High School Valedictorian for the class of 2022.

Andrea Calderon is the Salutatorian of Bonsall High's 2022 graduating class.

Palomar College celebrates Class of 2022 in annual commencement

SAN MARCOS – In a ceremony filled with moving tributes and stories of perseverance, Palomar College honored a new class of graduates with its first in-person commencement exercises in three years on Friday, May 27.

The ceremony was also the first to be conducted by Dr. Star Rivera-Lacey, who joined the Palomar Community College District as Superintendent/President in summer 2021. Hundreds of spectators gathered on the football practice field with graduates, faculty and college staff on a picture-perfect evening on the San Marcos campus. For those who couldn't attend, the event was live-streamed on Palomar's website and can be viewed online.

"I can't help but reflect on all that we have been through over the past two years," Dr. Rivera-Lacey told students. "Yet, despite all these obstacles, here we are today. You have shown incredible resilience and dedication in your relentless pursuit of your academic goals," she continued.

Approximately 400 students participated in the ceremony. In all, the college awarded 4,429 degrees and certificates approved during the 2021-22 academic year.

The keynote speaker on Friday was Richard Albistegui-Dubois, Ph.D, winner of the 2020-21 Distinguished Faculty Award for full-time faculty. Dr. Albistegui-Dubois teaches human physiology and is Chair of the Biology Department at Palomar.

Palomar's 2022 Alumna of the Year, Julie Moss, also addressed the graduates. Moss is an Ironman and USA Triathlon Hall of Fame inductee who attended Palomar in the late 1970s and rose to fame when she crawled across the finish line at the 1982 Ironman World Championship. Her memoir, "Crawl of Fame," was published in 2018.

Many of those who graduated on Friday persevered through the turbulence of the COVID-19 pandemic to earn their degrees and certificates – a fact noted by several of the speakers who addressed the audience during the ceremony.

"The perseverance, the dedication, sometimes the painful, stressful moments that got you here, they will serve you very well," said Moss. "Because it's the hard things, the things that are super-challenging, that force you to dive deep within yourself and ... get down to the core values of who you are."

This year's Valedictorian was Citlalli Solorio, whose story illustrated the extraordinary determination with which the class of 2022 pursued their higher education.

"Most of us – dare I say all of us – have had to overcome a number of challenges to be able to stand here this afternoon," said Marie-Therese Mouawad, Palomar's 2021-2022 Associated Student Government President. "Despite all of the setbacks and challenges, today we cross that finish line. You are an inspiration to the people around you."

Markets tumble worldwide, bear market growls on Wall Street

Stan Choe
The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP)—Fears about a possible recession pounded markets worldwide Monday, June 13 and Wall Street’s S&P 500 tumbled into the maw of what’s known as a bear market after sinking more than 20% below its record set early this year.

The S&P 500 dropped 3.8% in the first chance for investors to trade after getting the weekend to reflect on the news that inflation is getting worse, not better. The Dow Jones Industrial Average was down 879 points or 2.8%, at 30,513, as of 11:08 a.m. Eastern time, and the Nasdaq composite was 4.5% lower.

The center of Wall Street’s focus was again on the Federal Reserve, which is scrambling to get inflation under control. Its main method is to raise interest rates in order to slow the economy, a blunt tool that risks a recession if used too aggressively.

Some traders are even speculating Federal Reserve Wednesday, June 15, may raise its key short-term interest rate by three-quarters of a percentage point. That’s triple the usual amount and something Federal Reserve hasn’t done since 1994. Traders now see a 34% probability of such a mega-hike, up from just 3% a week ago, according to CME Group.

No one thinks Federal Reserve will stop there, with markets bracing for a continued series of bigger-than-usual hikes. Those would come on top of some already discouraging signals about the economy and corporate profits, including a record-low preliminary reading on consumer sentiment that was soured by high gasoline prices.

It’s all a sharp turnaround from earlier in the pandemic, when central banks worldwide slashed rates to record lows and made other moves that propped up prices for stocks and other investments in hopes of juicing the economy.

Such expectations are also sending U.S. bond yields to their highest levels in years. The two-year Treasury yield shot to 3.23% from 3.06% late Friday, its second straight major move higher. It’s more than quadrupled this year and touched its highest level since 2008.

The 10-year yield jumped to 3.32% from 3.15%, and the higher level will make mortgages and many

*A pedestrian walks past the New York Stock Exchange, Jan. 24, 2022, in New York. Stocks opened sharply lower on Wall Street Monday, June 13, as inflation worries mount, pushing the S&P 500 closer to a bear market decline of 20% from the peak it reached early this year. other kinds of loans for households and for businesses more expensive. It has more than doubled this year.

The gap between the two-year and 10-year yields is also narrowing, a signal of increased pessimism about the economy in the bond market. If the two-year yield tops the 10-year yield, some investors see it as a sign of a looming recession.

The pain for markets was worldwide as investors braced for more aggressive moves from a coterie of central banks.

In Asia, indexes fell at least 3% in Seoul, Tokyo and Hong Kong. Stocks there were also hurt by worries about COVID-19 infections in China, which could push authorities to resume tough, business-slowng restrictions.

In Europe, Germany’s DAX lost 2.7% and the French CAC 40 fell 2.8%. The FTSE 100 in London dropped 1.8%.

Some of the biggest hits came for cryptocurrencies, which soared early in the pandemic when record-low interest rates encouraged some investors to pile into the riskiest investments. Bitcoin tumbled more than 18% and dropped below $22,700, according to Coindesk. It’s back to where it was in late 2020 and down from a peak of $68,990 late last year.

On Wall Street, the S&P 500 was 21.7% below its record set early this year. If it finishes the day more than 20% below that high, it would enter what investors call a bear market.

Bears hibernate, so bears represent a market that’s retreating, said Sam Stovall, chief investment strategist at CFRA. In contrast, Wall Street’s nickname for a surging stock market is a bull market, because bulls charge, Stovall said.

The last bear market wasn’t that long ago, in 2020, but it was an unusually short one that lasted only about a month. The S&P 500 got close to a bear market last month, briefly dipping more than 20% below its record, but it didn’t finish a day below that threshold.

This would also be the first bear market for many novice investors who got into stock trading for the first time after the pandemic, a period when stocks largely seemed to go only up. That is, they did until inflation showed that it was worse than just a “transitory” problem as initially portrayed.

Michael Wilson, a strategist at Morgan Stanley who’s been among Wall Street’s more pessimistic voices, is sticking with his view that the S&P 500 could fall to 3,400 even if the U.S. economy avoids a recession over the next year.

That would mark another nearly 10% drop from the current level, and Wilson said it reflects his view that Wall Street’s earnings forecasts are still too optimistic, among other things.

With soaring price tags at stores souring sentiment for shoppers, even higher-income ones, Wilson said in a report that “the next shoe to drop is a discounting cycle” as companies try to clear out built-up inventories.

Such moves would cut into their profitability, and a stock’s price moves up and down largely on two things: how much cash the company is generating and how much an investor is willing to pay for it.

The Fed’s moves factor heavily into that second part because higher rates make investors less willing to pay high prices for risky investments.

Economists at Deutsche Bank said they expect Federal Reserve to hike rates by larger-than-usual amounts on June 15, again in July, then again in September and a fourth time in November. Just a week ago, before Friday’s wake-up call of an inflation report, Wall Street was debating whether Federal Reserve may take a pause on rate hikes in September.

Senate group, including 10 Republicans, announce breakthrough on gun control deal

Jack Phillips
The Epoch Times

A bipartisan group of senators June 12 announced a legislative package of gun control measures that include more resources for mental health needs, school safety and more.

The proposal has the support of 10 Republican senators, which is needed in the 50–50 Senate to overcome any legislative filibuster. It was praised, notably, by Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-New York), a longtime proponent of gun control measures.

The plan calls for an “enhanced review process” for younger gun buyers.

“For buyers under 21 years of age, it requires an investigative period to review juvenile and mental health records, including checks with state databases and local law enforcement,” according to their statement.

The bill also will provide support for state crisis intervention, protections for domestic violence victims, funding for school-based mental health and supportive services, investment in children and family mental health services, clarification of the definition of federally licensed firearms dealers, penalties for “straw purchasing” of guns and telehealth investments.

Notably, the framework bill includes a so-called red flag provision, allowing for “resources to states and Tribes to create and administer laws that help ensure deadly weapons are kept out of the hands of individuals whom a court has determined to be a significant danger to themselves or others,” according to a June 12 statement by the group.

Currently, 19 states and Washington, D.C., have red flag laws on the books, which have been described as unconstitutional because they violate the Constitution’s due process clause and give too much power to judges.

In the statement, the group said its plan “increases needed mental health resources, improves school safety and support for students and helps ensure dangerous criminals and those who are adjudicated as mentally ill can’t purchase weapons.”

Republicans who support the measure include Sens. Lindsey Graham (South Carolina), Mitt Romney (Utah), John Cornyn (Texas), Thom Tillis (North Carolina), Richard Burr (North Carolina), Roy Blunt (R-Mo.) Bill Cassidy (Louisiana), Susan Collins (Maine), Rob Portman (Ohio) and Pat Toomey (Pennsylvania).

A number of Democrats also backed the measure, including Sens. Chris Murphy (Connecticut), Richard Blumenthal (Connecticut), Corey Booker (New Jersey), Kyrsten Sinema (Arizona), Mark Kelly (Arizona), Chris Coons (Delaware), Martin Heinrich (New Mexico), Joe Manchin (West Virginia) and Debbie Stabenow (Michigan). Sen. Angus King (I-Maine) also signaled his support for the measure.

Murphy and Cornyn had been tapped by Schumer and Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.), respectively, to come to a deal following several high-profile mass shootings in recent weeks. The Republicans who announced their support for the measure likely will face blowback from other GOP lawmakers and some of their constituents.

There was no mention of more controversial provisions that have been proposed by some Democrats, including unilateral bans on semi-automatic rifles or bans on magazines that hold more than 10 rounds.

“Today, we are announcing a commonsense, bipartisan proposal to protect America’s children, keep our schools safe and reduce the threat of violence across our country,” Murphy, Cornyn, and other senators said in the statement. “Families are scared, and it is our duty to come together and get something done that will help restore their sense of safety and security in their communities.”

Schumer, in a statement, praised the deal and said that “Congress is on the path to take meaningful action to address gun violence,” without mentioning that some cities with significant gun control laws have some of the highest firearm-related homicide rates in the United States.

“After an unrelenting wave of gun-related suicides and homicides, including mass shootings, the Senate is poised to act on commonsense reforms to protect Americans where they live, where they shop and where they learn,” he added. “We must move swiftly to advance this legislation because if a single life can be saved, it is worth the effort.”

CNN, CBS, NBC, ABC Sunday shows don't cover attempted murder of Supreme Court justice

Zachary Stieber
The Epoch Times

Many news networks June 12 omitted mention of the recent attempted murder of Supreme Court Justice Brett Kavanaugh, even though some touched on issues facing the nation's top court.

All Sunday morning shows on CNN, CBS, NBC and ABC did not cover the attempted killing, which took place June 8.

Fox News covered the topic during “Fox News Sunday.”

Several shows brought up the Supreme Court in other contexts.

On CNN's "State of the Union," host Dana Bash noted that the Supreme Court is poised to strike down Roe v. Wade before asking Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (D-New York) about the upcoming midterm elections. Bash also mentioned the nation's top court declined to take up a case involving elections in Pennsylvania.

Chuck Todd, host of NBC's "Meet the Press," only mentioned the Supreme Court once, when asking Rep. Elaine Luria (D-Va.) about Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas' wife.

The Supreme Court was not brought up on CBS's "Face the Nation" or ABC's "This Week."

“It is stunningly unprofessional of major media outlets to consciously ignore news of the threat to Justice Kavanaugh,” Jeffrey McCall, a communications professor at DePauw University, told The Epoch Times in an email, describing what happened as “the journalism of omission.”

The safety of Supreme Court justices is a highly important topic, especially with looming decisions on gun rights and abortion, McCall said.

Representatives for the outlets did not respond to requests for comment.

The bulk of coverage on the four shows was of the Jan. 6, 2021, breach of the U.S. Capitol, Television crews film near the home of Supreme Court Justice Brett Kavanaugh, in Chevy Chase, Md., Wednesday, June 8, 2022. Officials say an armed man who threatened to kill Justice Brett Kavanaugh was arrested near the justice's house in Maryland. primarily through the lens of a House of Representatives hearing on the matter that took place Thursday.

A day earlier, according to court documents and a 911 call, a California man was dropped off by a taxi outside Kavanaugh's home in Chevy Chase, Maryland, with the intention of breaking into the abode and murdering the justice.

The man, Nicholas John Roske, walked down the street when he spotted law enforcement officers standing outside the house, and called the police on himself.

On Fox News, host Bret Baier brought up the attempted murder when interviewing Sen. Chris Coons (D-Del.), a close ally of President Joe Biden. Baier noted that the lower chamber has yet to act on a bill that the Senate unanimously passed, which would increase security for all nine justices on the Supreme Court.

“The House is working to add a provision that would allow the marshal of the Supreme Court to decide to extend protection to the staff and families of staff of the Supreme Court. I think that’s appropriate that’s an acceptable compromise. More than anything I think the House needs to take it up and pass it early next week, and I’m optimistic after several conversations with House leadership that they will,” Coons said, before pivoting to the Jan. 6 hearing.

Baier pressed Coons on protesters appearing outside the homes of Kavanaugh and others being in violation of federal law, which bars protesting outside the homes of judges with the intent of influencing them, as protesters have made clear is their intent.

“We have to strike the right balance here between protecting freedom of speech in this country and ensuring that our justices and judges are safe,” Coons said. “I do think we need to take stronger action to make sure that our federal judiciary is safe because that's part of making sure our democracy is safe, which really is the core issue of the Jan. 6 hearings, is how do we make sure that the fundamentals of our democracy, the safety and security of Congress, the peaceful transfer of power and I would also add the safety and security of our federal judiciary is ensured, we should act."

OBITUARIES

The deadline for Obituaries is Monday, noon. Email to villageeditor@reedermedia.com.

Aileen Kathryn (Halton) Sheppard passed away peacefully on May 31, 2022.

Aileen was the daughter of Mary and James Halton and sister to five siblings. She grew up in Ontario, Canada where she met and married the love of her life, David Sheppard.

They were married nearly 73 years. In 1955, they moved to Torrance, California where they raised their children. Aileen and Dave retired to Fallbrook, California 33 years ago. They have been active members of the community and dedicated parishioners of St. Peter the Apostle Parish.

Aileen was a college graduate and a talented artist and poet, mother of eight and their spouses, grandmother to 14 children and great-grandmother to 17. Family was her hallmark, but she also touched the lives of so many with her endearing spirit, strong faith, beauty and grace. She will be truly missed.

Visitation will be Wednesday, June 15, from 4-8 p.m. at Fallbrook's Berry-Bell & Hall Mortuary. St. Peter's mass in Fallbrook will be held in her honor on the 16th at 11 a.m. with a reception following on site. All who knew her are welcome to attend.

Donations can be made to Catholic Relief Services: support.crs.org.

Roberta (Bobby) Hill, 95, passed away peacefully on Sunday, June 5, 2022.

Bobby was predeceased by her parents, Leon E. and Benedictine Kowalski; her husband, Wallace Hill, M.D.; and her brothers, Leonard, James, and Leon E. (Jr.) Kowalski.

Bobby is survived by her children: David Hill (Elizabeth Leader); Michael Hill; and Margaret (Steven) Cernak. She is also survived by her grandchildren: Matthew (Julie) Hill; Kathryn Hill (Vivek Venugopal); and Peter, Robert, and Daniel Cernak. Bobby also was blessed with four great-grandchildren: Andrew and Aurelia Hill; and Malaika and Annika Venugopal. In addition to her immediate family, Bobby is survived by many cherished nieces and nephews, with whom she remained close through her 95th birthday.

Born April 14, 1927, Bobby grew up in South Bend. After she graduated from South Bend Catholic High School, Bobby attended the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Bobby was awarded her R.N. degree in 1949.

Bobby wed Wallace Hill on April 3, 1948, with Fr. Ted Hesburgh presiding. Bobby and Wally were married for 52 years until Wally's death in 2000. Fr. Hesburgh joined them for their 50th wedding anniversary celebration.

Although Bobby lived in South Bend most of her life, she traveled the globe. She passed on her love of travel to her children, culminating in them taking a Paris-Normandy cruise when Bobby was 90 years old.

In addition to travel, Bobby loved gardening and reading, and she was a terrific seamstress. Bobby hosted lively dinners for friends and family, and on holidays she made it a point to include those who otherwise might be alone.

After Wally passed, Bobby moved to Holy Cross Village, where she rekindled old friendships and made new ones. More recently, she moved to Fallbrook, California, where she continued to enjoy scenic drives, watching sunsets at the beach, and the Fallbrook Art Center.

The family plans to hold a memorial service, celebrating Bobby's life, at a future date at Holy Cross Village, Notre Dame, Indiana.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Fallbrook Art Center, 103 S Main Ave., Fallbrook, CA (Tax ID 33-0504176).

Pat Jean Stein, passed away on June 1, 2022, a longtime resident of Fallbrook sadly succumbed to her enduring battle with cancer. She was a beautiful wife, mother and friend to everyone that had the good fortune to be close to her.

Born in Galion, Ohio by her parents Howard and Margaret Whitesell on Dec. 20, 1932.

She loved life and always tried to encourage her family to be kind and respectful to others.

A Poem for My Wife
*It's always hard to say goodbye,
The more we love, the more we cry.
You are my wife, my friend, my woman, mi amour,
My love for you continually grows... forever more.
And when my time comes to a farewells end,
Our love for each other, we'll meet again.*

Craig

Pat was a beautiful woman with a kind heart and an abundance of love to share, a person that was always the first to help, regardless of money.

She leaves behind her husband, Craig Smith; children: Barron, Victoria and Andrea and grandchildren: Logan, Kira, Marley and Lisa.

She was an avid ballroom dancer for more than 20 years and her favorite dance was the Argentine tango which she loved everything about from the passionate embrace to its' final corte.

Pat was a Certified Public Accountant and owned her business in Torrance, California.

She was a graduate of Ohio State University, a brilliant woman with high standards in education. Pat always encouraged her family to excel in higher learning. Pat was especially proud of her grandson Logan Kelsey for going to Idaho

State University and achieving the Dean's Honor list while majoring in mechanical engineering. She was a longtime member with the Delta Gamma Sorority out of Cleveland, Ohio which she dearly loved being a part of for almost 70 years.

She yearned to travel and at an early age she left Ohio alone, and with little money in her purse, she managed to sail to Europe, and as she always said, "It was the best experience of my young life." The exciting moments and adventures she encountered thrilled her and encouraged her to visit many countries around the world throughout her life.

A quote by Keanu Reeves [on death] – "I know that the ones who love us will miss us."

My love for Pat will never end, I will miss her forever, I loved her with all my heart, I adored her.

Craig Smith

UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale, to the highest bidder for cash, (cashier's check(s) must be made payable to National Default Servicing Corporation), drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a cash or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state; will be held by the duly appointed trustee as shown below, of all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described below. The sale will be made in an "as is" condition, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. Trustor: Jimmie D Mc Mullen and Nina W Mc Mullen, husband and wife, as joint tenants Duly Appointed Trustee: National Default Servicing Corporation Recorded 05/07/2007 as Instrument No. 2007-0309857 (or Book Mullen) of the Official Records of San Diego County, CA. Date of Sale: 07/11/2022 at 10:00 AM Place of Sale: At the entrance to the East County Regional Center by statue, 250 E. Main Street, El Cajon, CA 92020 Estimated amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $1,114,023.66 Street Address or other common designation of real property: 1948 Cresthaven Drive Vista, CA 92084 A.P.N.: 171-390-26-00 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The requirements of California Civil Code Section 2923.5(b)(2)923.55(c) were fulfilled when the Notice of Default was recorded. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those who do not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call or visit this Internet Web site www.ndscorp.com/sales, using the file number assigned to this case 21-00088-RM-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT*: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 888-264-4010, or visit this internet website www.ndscorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 21-00088-RM-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. *Pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code, the potential rights described herein shall apply only to public auctions taking place on or after January 1, 2021, through December 31, 2025, unless later extended.
