Fire mitigation
fee rates increased

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

The fire mitigation fee rates paid by developers to fund the cost of fire department facilities serving the new development will increase for fiscal year 2018-2019.

The fee for nonagricultural construction will increase from 56 cents to 58 cents per square foot, and the fee for agricultural buildings without sprinklers was changed from 15 cents to 16 cents per square foot. The fee for agricultural buildings with fire sprinkler systems remains at two cents per square foot, and the fee for poultry and greenhouse buildings is still one cent per square foot.

A first reading and introduction of the ordinance was approved by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors on a 5-0 vote, May 8, and a 4-0 vote, May 15, with Kristin Gaspar absent approved the second reading and adoption. The supervisors also accepted the Fire Mitigation Fee Review Committee’s annual report and found that the 20 participating fire agencies were in conformance with the county Fire Mitigation Fee Ordinance for fiscal year 2016-2017.

“It was good to see the board move forward in approving the fire mitigation annual report, and we look forward to continued

FALLBROOK – The Fallbrook Vintage Car Club (FVCC) invites all ladies and gentlemen to start their engines! It’s that time of the year again, as the club celebrates its 53rd annual Vintage Car Show on the grass at the Pala Mesa Resort, Sunday, May 27. It is literally, just around the corner, so mark it on the calendar; it will be a great event for the Fallbrook community.

To update the progress of the Porsche T1 Speedster at California Porsche Restoration (CPR), it has left the body work stage and is now in the paint preparation stage (see photos).

The underside was double-checked for authenticity, sealed and coated with a factory-style undercoat to reduce noise and protect from moisture. The underside is now complete and the car is awaiting its turn to be sealed and primed with final adjustments following shortly thereafter. To the untrained eye, the progress may seem agonizingly slow, but in reality, it is coming along

On May 19, members of FVCC took eight cars to the KUSI TV studios in San Diego, for a live TV broadcast, showcasing cars and their upcoming car show. Dave Stall, who has an automobile spot every Saturday on KUSI was their host. It was a great success. To see the show, go to www.kusi.com/dave-stall-fallbrook-vintage-car-show/. KUSI may also broadcast segments of the car show live.

There are over 450 cars pre-registered. Therefore, registration is closed. There will be no registration at the show.

credentials

Tom Ferrall
Staff Writer

The primary election is quickly approaching – polls will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 5 – and of particular interest to North County voters is who will replace termed out San Diego County supervisor Bill Horn, who for 23 years has served District 5.

The candidates looking to take over for Horn are Jacqueline Arsivaud, Jim Desmond, Michelle Gomez and Jerry Kern. The two candidates garnering the most votes in the primary will advance to the November election, unless one of the candidates wins the seat outright by earning more than 50 percent of the votes.

In the 38th Senate District, three candidates are running to replace Senator Joel Anderson, who is serving his second and final term. The candidates are Jeff Griffith, Brian Jones and Antonio Salguero.

Warriors
reach CIF volleyball final

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

For the first time ever since the CIF San Diego Section began holding boys volleyball championship tournaments in 1988 Fallbrook High School reached the CIF final.

The Warriors followed a first-round bye in the CIF Division III playoffs with victories over San Marcos and Valhalla before taking top-seeded Classical Academy to five games in the May 18 final at St. Augustine High School.

“I’m very happy,” said Fallbrook coach Chip Patterson. “The boys have never ever been to a championship game.”

The Warriors had a 16-8 regular-season record including a 5-3 figure in Valley League play which shared second in the final standings. Sage Creek was undefeated in eight league matches, including April 11 and April 16 wins over Fallbrook. San Dieguito Academy defeated the Warriors in an April 25 match in Encinitas, but the May 4 contest in Fallbrook ended in the Warriors’ favor.

Sage Creek reached the Open Division championship match, but Patterson believes the Bobcats weren’t invincible during league play.

“We could have beat them multiple times,” said Patterson, adding that he didn’t believe the Warriors were physically outmatched. “We were inconsistent in the games we played against them. A lot of times we played with sheer emotion. We were up and down.”

Patterson does believe that because the Warriors played Sage Creek in back-to-back matches, the ability to adapt was limited by the total of two practice days between the matches. “There was no real chance to make any change,” Patterson said.

The learning from the mistakes against Sage Creek would instead be applied during the four ensuing league matches, all of which were

Earthquake concerns for proposed high school site

October 17, 1989. Cupertino, Calif. We just sat down to watch the World Series between Oakland Athletics and San Francisco Giants when the house started to shake. The Loma Prieta earthquake was under way. The epicenter was 18 miles from the house. We had a real shaky time but suffered little damage. The house was built on good ground.

In San Francisco and Oakland, 55 miles north, it was an entirely different story. The Cypress structure of the freeway collapsed, dropping the upper level on top of the cars below. The Oakland – San Francisco bridge had a section collapse. The Marina District in San Francisco had severe damage. Sixty-one people died

The structures in San Francisco and Oakland that failed were built on alluvial soil. The proposed site of the Bonsall Unified School District High School on Gird Road is alluvial soil. As in the San Francisco Bay Area (and Northridge) there is ground water at a shallow depth. The alluvial soil with the ground water and the earthquake motion becomes liquefied and amplifies the destructive force.

So, why would you build a school on such precarious soil when a viable, essentially no risk (bed rock) location at the Sullivan site is available? Certainly the Lilac fire caused a great deal of discern but, per Cal Fire, the Sullivan site is a moderate fire hazard zone. The Gird site is very high.

BUSD officials, you have the Leighton 4-22-16 report and access to the Cal Fire data. What are you thinking??

Batching doesn’t deprive public of separate hearings

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

The Fallbrook/Bonsall Village News has recently heard from readers concerned that the County of San Diego’s “batching” process for approving general plan amendments rushes projects through. We understand the concerns of our citizens, but our experience gives us confidence that each project will be considered separately.

I have covered the San Diego County Board of Supervisors since early 1998 and the county’s Planning Commission since December 1999. I am thus familiar with the Board of Supervisors’ procedure which allows the county to comply with state law limiting a jurisdiction to no more than four general plan amendments in a year. The county’s Department of Planning and Development Services (formerly the Department of Planning and Land Use) dockets multiple items for a single Board of Supervisors meeting and county supervisors take a single formal vote on multiple projects, but separate hearings occur both by the Planning Commission and by the Board of Supervisors for each project.

All proposed general plan amendments other than for projects placed on the ballot by citizens initiative are initially brought to a community planning group or community sponsor group if one of those exists in the project area, and if a project straddles multiple community planning areas the advisory groups in all of those areas will hold hearings. The planning or sponsor group vote is advisory, but that vote and the minutes pertaining to the project are included in the Planning Commission information. In some cases the planning or sponsor group input is used as feedback and the developer modifies the proposed project based on the community sentiments. The revised project may or may not return to the planning group for another vote, but if those changes improve the project’s conformity with community group desires that information is also provided to the Planning Commission.

Each proposed general plan amendment, other than those which qualify for the ballot by the initiative process, is a separate Planning Commission agenda item. This includes major projects, minor projects, and the general plan clean-up process which addresses primarily mapping errors or changes of land from private to public or tribal trust. The Planning Commission may hear multiple projects on the same day, and the Planning Commission has the option to continue a hearing to a subsequent meeting if testimony lasts long enough into the afternoon or if questions arise which merit research for a response. Even if the projects are batched for a single Board of Supervisors vote, a separate Planning Commission hearing occurs for each proposed general plan amendment.

If general plan amendment proposals are batched at a Board of Supervisors meeting, the general plan amendments are docketed as a single agenda item with subitems covering each project or other general plan amendment request. Planning Commission recommendations and environmental statement adoptions are listed for each subitem.

What the county supervisors will do is hold a hearing on each subitem, with public comment, and take a tentative vote prior to taking an official vote for the batched general plan amendment. The Board of Supervisors meeting of July 23, 2008, indicates the ability of a “line item veto” on a project. The general plan amendment proposal on that day’s agenda involved a condominium project in the Lake Jennings area of Lakeside (for those who remember the Marshal Scotty’s amusement park, that was in the Lake Jennings area) and a development in Jamul.

The supervisors first took a tentative vote on the Jamul project which had a 5-0 result in favor. Concerns about the Lake Jennings project led to a 4-1 vote, with Ron Roberts opposed, to direct county staff to work with the developer on an alternative project. The supervisors then trailed the general plan amendment while directing staff to prepare a resolution removing the Lake Jennings project from the amendment while including the Jamul development. After an errata sheet was prepared the 4-1 official vote, with Roberts opposed, approved the Jamul general plan amendment, rezone, and tentative map.

The Lake Jennings project was revised to address the concerns and the proposal including the general plan amendment returned to the Board of Supervisors on August 5, 2009, when it was batched with a Rancho San Diego boundary adjustment which required a rezone and general plan amendment and with a general plan amendment pertaining to farm worker housing. This time the three projects passed on a 5-0 vote.

One final 5-0 vote followed a pair of tentative 5-0 votes on May 19, 2010, when a single general plan amendment proposal covered a property in unincorporated Escondido and a development proposal in Rancho San Diego.

In the case of the August 4, 2010, Board of Supervisors meeting some Ramona residents had a doubleheader as the 417-home Montecito Ranch project was batched with the proposed tiered winery ordinance which has benefited many Ramona winemakers but created concerns among neighbors, and that day’s general plan amendment also included a density bonus in reaction to state legislation to encourage affordable housing. The supervisors first tentatively approved the tiered winery ordinance on a 5-0 vote. They then tentatively approved the density bonus with the 5-0 vote including direction to the county’s Chief Administrative Officer to express the county’s dissatisfaction with the state. A 5-0 vote approved the errata sheet version of the Montecito Ranch project. A single formal vote approved the general plan amendments.

Developers don’t benefit from the batching any more than they would from separate official votes. The biggest beneficiaries of the batching process are the restaurants in Little Italy, as the Board of Supervisors meetings might last all day and the supervisors recess as close as possible to noon before reconvening at 2 p.m.

Saying that projects are rushed through because they are approved by the Board of Supervisors in a combined vote is like saying that the Village News rushes through issues when a Board of Supervisors story and a North County Fire Protection District story run on the same page. The batching process does not reduce citizen input at Planning Commission or Board of Supervisors hearings.

Loss of Democracy

It is not a coincidence that at the same time Trump pulls out of the Iranian Deal he also celebrates the opening of the United States Embassy in Jerusalem. He is not interested in peace in the Middle East or anywhere for that matter. His only interest is in money and power. He does not care that Europe asked him not to pull out because it would cost them their economic business dealings with Iran, which

Mystery on Olive Hill Road

Those who travel Olive Hill Road may have noticed toward the end of April, a new fence on the west side starting a little north of the Orchid Lady and continuing for about two-tenths of a mile north.

A beautiful fence, I assume built to retain this very steep area which burned during the Lilac fire. Well built, it was over eight feet tall with heavy three-inch stanchions four feet on center, heavy chain like fencing and I believe all stainless steel.

Now, here is the mystery part. Don’t go looking for it! Seems like sometime around the first of May it disappeared overnight. Not a trace left behind except for all 132 or so receivers in the ground that were once stanchions. I couldn’t believe what I saw. I even turned around and drove back to investigate, and sure enough it was all gone.

A few days later I tried, in vain, to find out from the county what had happened to that fence. So I called Supervisor Bill Horn’s office and explained what I witnessed. I’m patiently waiting for an answer. I only wish I had been more observant as to who – government or private contractors – did the installation as I did notice the installation work being done on two occasions.

Fred Ragland

we have none. He ignored the leaders of France, Germany and the U.K., in favor of chumming up with the enemies of Iran: Saudi Arabia, and Jerusalem. These are the wealthier more powerful countries that he wants as American allies like Russia and now China.

The Palestinians have no clout. He does not care what they think of us or that many have been killed by his decision. He does not care that there are no civil or women’s rights in Saudi Arabia or that Russia is ruled by a dictatorship. He is not interested in bringing peace to the Middle East through a two state solution because peace will not bring him the power and money he values more than human rights, freedom of religion, democracy or the United States constitution. He is not interested in “draining the swamp.” His only interest is in draining all he can from the weak, the poor and the middle class. America is no longer an “honest broker of peace in the Middle East.” We have lost all credibility by Trump’s actions and will no longer be looked up to as a trusted example of democracy.

Interim District Attorney Summer Stephan is being challenged for the DA position by Geneviève Jones-Wright, and San Diego County Assessor-Recorder-Clerk Ernest Dronenburg is seeking a third term while being opposed by Matt Strabone.

Board of Supervisors – District 5

JACQUELINE ARSIVAUD

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I am a no-nonsense business leader not beholden to any party or special interest, with 20 years of successful business experience in both small and large companies. This is relevant because this is an executive level job co-managing 17,000 employees and a $6 billion budget. I am already elected in District 5, on the Elfin Forest Harmony Grove Town Council since 2005, and on the San Dieguito Planning Group since 2009. I bring a deep level of understanding of County-specific issues, unrivaled by the other candidates, in the areas of land use, housing, budgeting and fire protection.

What would be your top three priorities on the Board of Supervisors?

No. 1: Prevent San Diego from turning into Orange County by reining in urban sprawl and building according to the General Plan for land use near existing infrastructure, while focusing on innovative solutions to housing affordability to address the shortage of moderate income housing. No. 2: Reduce traffic congestion and gridlock by developing a forward-looking transportation vision incorporating world-class best practices. No. 3: Protect public safety via investment in fire protection and emergency medical services, and by focusing on evacuation planning

How would you help unincorporated communities, specifically Fallbrook?

As the only candidate from the unincorporated area, I understand how difficult it is to get our voice heard. I will prioritize residents’ voices, instigate evening meetings and investigate ways for residents to participate remotely. I will protect the integrity of the General Plan, which means no Warner Ranch further clogging up 76, and protection for Rancho Guejito. I will require a full emergency evacuation model including existing residents as a condition of adding density anywhere in the unincorporated area. I will work to help design local programs to assist Fallbrook’s homeless population. And promote avocado toast, one of my favorite foods.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I am a farmer’s daughter from a small farm in France who actually worked in the fields and mucked dairy cows daily – I understand farm values. I am also a product of the American dream, whose love for this country stems from gratitude for opportunity. Jim or Jerry represent two versions of the leadership we’ve had for 24 years. I represent prudent change; fiscal strength is a legacy I will continue, but I will change direction on housing and transportation, refuse developer contributions, and restore public trust. We will not turn into Orange County on my watch.

JIM DESMOND

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I have been mayor of San Marcos for 12 years, balanced budgets, strong reserves and sound infrastructure, and accomplished pension, healthcare and infrastructure reforms.

I am a Navy veteran and a former small tech-business owner. I am a SDSU graduate (electrical engineering) and was a pilot/captain for Delta Air Lines for 32 years. I am endorsed by Supervisor Bill Horn, Sheriff Bill Gore and the San Diego Deputy Sheriff’s Association.

What would be your top three priorities on the Board of Supervisors?

No. 1: Safety of the residents by providing law enforcement and fire services the resources they need. No. 2: Protecting your tax dollars, having strong bond ratings and reserves for emergencies. No. 3: Increasing quality of life by building and maintaining infrastructure.

How would you help unincorporated communities, specifically Fallbrook?

By holding scheduled meetings with stakeholders in the community to stay up on local issues. By continuing to fund the Fallbrook Library, Chamber of Commerce, veterans programs and the arts. By repairing and maintaining public infrastructure. By helping nurseries and agriculture with technical advancements at the county. By preserving Fallbrook’s rural charm, enhancing the boutique character and growing the economy.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

As a pilot, Mayor, engineer, husband and father, I’m an honest, hard-working, common sense practical decision maker. As a fiscal conservative, I have a long record of protecting taxpayers’ dollars. For more information: www.desmondforsupervisor.com.

MICHELLE GOMEZ

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I am a longtime community advocate with a history of standing up for women, veterans, military and other working families, and looking out for the public health and wellbeing.

In my professional capacity as a legislative analyst, I review and educate on legislation and help to draft sound policy. I would like to combine my passion for community service with my professional experience in regulatory compliance and business ethics in order to reform our Board of Supervisors into a force for good for all San Diego County residents.

What would be your top three priorities on the Board of Supervisors?

My top three priorities are, No. 1: Protect our County General Plan to stop overdevelopment of our neighborhoods and rural lands, while increasing access to affordable housing to address our county’s housing crisis; No. 2: Ensure access to Public Health and Human Services to include wrap around services in order to protect public health for all; address the homeless crisis through increased mental health and substance abuse services, job training and placement, and social services; No. 3: Protect our coastline and strengthen fire and environmental protections to preserve our pristine open space

How would you help unincorporated communities, specifically Fallbrook?

It’s important to me that our unincorporated communities are allowed to retain their rural charm. That is why I support our County’s General Plan, which outlines a commitment to sustainable growth near to services, and infrastructure that can support this new housing.

Fallbrook faces unchecked growth if the County Supervisors bundle projects and force them on us. I support the residents of Fallbrook who seek to ensure that new conversions require a two-acre minimum. I see this as a fair compromise, which demonstrates the tremendous character of Fallbrook residents, and their willingness to embrace smart growth.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

As current city and county Commissioner, founding board member of a healthcare nonprofit and a legal professional with a background in executing policy, I feel that I have a breadth and depth of experience that will allow me to be the strong voice that the working families of our county need to represent them on the Board of Supervisors.

I look forward to representing my constituent’s goals and values rather than holding closed-door meetings, which determine the fate of real people’s everyday existence. I will work tirelessly to ensure that our County Supervisors work for those who depend on it.

JERRY KERN

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I have served on the Oceanside City Council for 12 years, the largest full-service city in North County. I have dealt with all the issues that I will face as County Supervisor, traffic, growth, homelessness, and bureaucratic inertia in solving these problems. I have also worked on regional issues. I am on the executive board of the Community Engagement Panel for the decommissioning of San Onofre and I have been working on removing the nuclear waste from the site. I have served on SANDAG and the San Diego County Water Authority. I know the issues that face North County and can hit the ground running.

What would be your top three priorities on the Board of Supervisors?

No. 1: Improving roads and infrastructure. For decades the County of San Diego has neglected North County’s infrastructure. When it comes to funding roads and infrastructure, you can bet I will fight to ensure Fallbrook receives every last penny this community deserves. No. 2: Expand healthcare access. As a supervisor, I’ll work with the county, healthcare providers, non-profits, and other government agencies on ways we can expand physical access to healthcare into Fallbrook. No. 3: Protect public safety. As your supervisor, it will be my priority to focus on ensuring our Sheriff and Probation Department is staffed at the levels necessary to maintain safety for all of Fallbrook residents.

How would you help unincorporated communities, specifically Fallbrook?

It’s my strong belief that for too long, the County Board of Supervisors has neglected to care for the backcountry communities like Fallbrook to the extent that it should.

The further away from downtown San Diego you get, the fewer services and resources you receive. If elected as County Supervisor, it will be my primary goal to change that and make sure the every resident, no matter where they live, receives the county services they deserve and pay for.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I have a reputation for being engaged, being accessible and solving problems. I am a leader who will work to improve your lives by making county government more responsive to you. Please read my plan for Fallbrook at https://www.kernforsupervisor.com/my_plan_for_fallbrook.

State Senate – 38th District

JEFF GRIFFITH

What are your credentials to serve in this office?

Public service is my life. As a fire captain/paramedic for 30 years, I have served North and East County residents and know area communities. I am dedicated to reducing fire risks; to ensuring that victims receive the best care possible. Seven years ago, I was elected to the Palomar Health Board, the largest healthcare district in California and a major regional employer. Healthcare providers face enormous challenges; I want to use my expertise to find solutions. I volunteer for Medical Corps and have served on the County Health Services Advisory Board that provides a link between local communities and the Board of Supervisors.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

My priorities include, No. 1: providing quality and affordable healthcare for all and handling more effectively the opioid crisis affecting our communities; No. 2: enhancing fire protection for all residents, including building the necessary infrastructure to manage traffic congestion and access to communities in times of crisis; and No. 3: finding a way to reduce or eliminate college debt and also providing energetic vocational education programs that will lead to careers with middle class wages.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

Since healthcare can be a matter of life and death, my goals are to support access to quality care for all. I will work to ensure that medical coverage is expanded, continues to exist for those with pre-existing conditions, and that community clinics, professionally staffed by doctors and nurses, are established throughout the region. To curb drug costs, I am ready to sponsor legislation that will provide transparency and fairness in prescription drug pricing. Further, I will sponsor a bill to provide clinical support and treatment options for those suffering from the scourge of opioid addiction.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

Even with my commitments, family time remains the most important aspect of my life. I’m proud of family accomplishments. My wife works within the Escondido School District as an office manager; my oldest daughter is a sheet metal workers’ apprentice as well as a state certified welder, and my youngest is a behavioral therapist who works with autistic children. I’m not a career politician. I’ve been trained to act in emergencies, and our state now faces so many of them. I want to tackle them on your behalf. I am the only candidate endorsed by the Fallbrook Firefighters Association Local 1622.

ANTONIO SALGUERO

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I am a millennial and business owner. I have a unique insight into the issues that younger generations and business owners are facing. As a business owner, I know what it takes to create jobs and wealth for others. And, as a millennial, I know the difficulties we face in finding good paying jobs and housing, along with other social issues that we face today.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

California has the second largest prison population in the country. Not only is it a drain on the economy but the majority of individuals incarcerated are in for non-violent crimes. Criminal justice reform is one of my top priorities. Californians bear some of the highest taxes for both individuals and businesses. My second priority is to address the lack of economic opportunity through tax regulatory reform. My third priority is cost of living and housing. Tax and regulatory reform will address a portion of this. But, we need to strengthen property rights in order to incentivize new housing construction.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

Healthcare is one of the most regulated industries in the U.S. Unfortunately, there isn’t much that can be done at the state level but to oppose universal healthcare or single payer healthcare efforts. In order to make healthcare affordable, the federal government would need to allow insurance companies to provide service across state lines.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I am the youngest candidate running for this office on the platform of improving California for future generations. As a young Californian, I have an inherent interest in improving California’s business and economic climate, as well as improving the standard of living for all Californians.

U.S. Representatives – 50th Congressional District

JOSH BUTNER

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I am a 23-year veteran of the Navy SEAL Teams, prior enlisted Lieutenant Commander where I learned the importance of teamwork and service driven leadership. I am the father of three grown children that continue to teach me the importance of family, community, and caring for one another. I have an undergraduate degree in workforce education and development, graduate degree in defense analysis and another in national security affairs. I have seven years in business leading a global division, and experience with a small business partnership with my sister. I am an elected official on the Jamul–Dulzura School Board, crafting public policy and advocating for the future of our children.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

No. 1: Ensure that healthcare is affordable and accessible, benefiting all Americans, not just the insurance and pharmaceutical companies. No. 2: Take on Washington special interests to ensure that everyday Americans are heard in the halls of Congress. No. 3: Be the fierce advocate our community needs for quality education for our children.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

I believe healthcare is a right, not a privilege, but skyrocketing premiums are putting middle-class families at risk even as pharmaceutical companies score record profits. But those in Washington that want to tear the whole system down, eliminating healthcare for tens of millions of Americans while the 1 percent pockets the savings, have it dead wrong. Instead of repealing the Affordable Care Act we should reform and expand it by putting American families first, not the insurance and pharmaceutical companies. We should allow Medicare to negotiate drug prices down, reducing costs while making healthcare more accessible and affordable for all Americans.

What is the most important thing voters should know about

I have one purpose and one purpose only in running for Congress. I am running to serve my country, my district, my community, and my neighbors. I am simply running to serve.

AMMAR CAMPA-NAJJAR

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I’m a local business owner and the only candidate challenging congressman Hunter Jr., who has federal government experience. From my first job in church ministry to working for a presidential campaign; from serving in the White House to advocating for small businesses; from fighting for workers to running for Congress – I’ve devoted my life to service. As a Labor Department official, I served working families. As a business owner, I know the burdens we face. Washington may have lost its way, but I haven’t. I’m ready to bring our district’s common values and common sense to serve the common good.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

Jobs, housing, and healthcare: CA50’s unemployment rate is double San Diego County’s, and residents commute for hours to get to work and are barely getting by. At the Labor Department, I worked on the only program both Democrats and Republicans could agree on: apprenticeship jobs training. The average apprentice makes $70,000 a year – double the average American’s income. Having an apprenticeship job would make healthcare, housing, and education more affordable. If elected, I’ll invest in projects and programs to train our district’s workers to fill America’s six million job vacancies in renewable energy, construction, manufacturing, healthcare, education, IT and cyber-security.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

By taking best practices from the public and private sector to expand Medicare for all. TRICARE, the military’s healthcare program, and Medicare both provide more affordable care than the private insurance system. We can fund Medicare for all by requiring billionaires and major corporations to pay their fare share. In the meantime, I would take immediate action to: No. 1, allow Medicare to negotiate lower prescription drug prices; No. 2, provide a public option to compete with the private-sector based lowest costs and highest quality service; and No. 3, allow individuals ages 50-64 years old to buy into Medicare earlier.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I was born in San Diego, the son of a working class mother who taught me how to work hard. I’ve spent the past 15 months campaigning, listening to voters. Thanks to voters who have devoted their labor and love to this campaign, polls show we stand the best chance at defeating Hunter. We’ve outraised congressman Hunter without corporate money. We’re funded by people, for people. After 40 years of the Hunter dynasty, we deserve new leadership. If given the opportunity to serve the working families of CA50, I’ll take on the big challenges and never stop fighting for you.

DUNCAN HUNTER

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I am a former small business owner and a Marine Corps combat veteran, serving three tours in Iraq and Afghanistan. As a member of the House Armed Services Committee, I have worked to provide our military with the resources to meet their responsibilities and ensure America’s national security goals are met domestically and across the globe. As Chairman of the Coast Guard and Maritime Transportation Subcommittee, I have worked to protect funding for the U.S. Coast Guard that has led to the interdiction of over 220 metric tons of illegal narcotics in 2017. I have consistently voted to cut taxes, eliminate overbearing government regulations and streamline policies that hamper business growth and investment.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

My primary responsibility is the protection of the American people and I will continue working to rebuild the military, making it more efficient and capable in meeting our national security goals. The U.S. must have a secure international border which continues to be porous in protecting against illegal immigration, drug and sex trafficking and terrorism. Finally, we must proactively invest in the American worker and their jobs. This includes eliminating unnecessary regulations that prevent younger people from entering the workforce, providing more flexibility for individuals to use their educational resources for vocational training and advocating new innovative maritime technologies in what we call the “blue economy.”

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

The Affordable Care Act created an over-bureaucratic healthcare system with reduced choice and greatly increased costs. Premiums continue to rise, particularly in California, and competition has collapsed. It is for this reason I supported the American Health Care Act when it passed the House, which would cut bureaucratic red tape, lower prices, increase access to care, and most importantly, give patients choice over their health care decisions by allowing them to participate in programs across state lines. In doing all this, common sense protections would remain, including access to coverage for those with preexisting conditions and allowing children to stay on their parent’s insurance until age 26.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I have a 10-year voting record which voters can utilize to determine if I share their values. I have one of the highest percentages of successfully passing legislation compared to my California colleagues and my office has a strong reputation of providing constituent services with federal agencies, particularly with veterans and active duty military personnel. I am consistent and unapologetic in my support of rebuilding the military, protecting the border, cutting taxes, investing in small business, eliminating wasteful government bureaucracy, defending life, the Second Amendment and benefits for our nation’s veterans and I will continue my efforts in all these important areas.

RICHARD KAHLE

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I grew up in Ramona when it had just one stoplight, and graduated San Marcos High when the city was half today’s size. After earning my commission as an Army officer, I immediately volunteered for an Army-Navy Provincial Reconstruction Team in Kandahar, Afghanistan. Most of my military duty was in foreign service, with the last three years stationed in the Korean Peninsula. I have an engineering degree from UCLA and a master’s in government policy. I care about the math, and I am the only candidate with a plan to cut the budget deficit and restore Social Security.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

Our campaign confronts the nation’s trillion-dollar deficits with a specific, detailed approach to cut next year’s deficit by $405 billion while restoring Social Security for all future retirees. Our campaign will never accept contributions from corporations, registered lobbyists, political action committees (PACs), or any other interest group. As your representative and a combat veteran, I will exercise humility and restraint when voting to deploy our military force. I will stand against any unnecessary and wasteful war.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

Some policies I support are limiting medical malpractice claims, and renegotiating brand-name drugs for Medicare, Medicaid and the Veterans Health Administration. Also allowing private health insurance policies to be sold across state lines, will improve competition within insurance markets and reduce consumer premiums and costs.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

Most of my time in service was deployed, and from afar I watched the political parties slowly divide our country. As you serve in uniform, you want the nation to work together, not tear each other down. I think most voters are exhausted by today’s political anger and are far more sensible and moderate than either party. Now, more than ever, we need calm, reasonable independents, free of lobbyist influence. My candidacy as a moderate independent for California’s 50th U.S. Congressional District is a step in that direction.

PATRICK MALLOY

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I have experience representing people in our district in the most important transaction of their lives, purchasing and selling homes. The industry which I work in is highly regulated, and my record therein has no blemishes. I’ve run in this race before, and surpassed all other previous democratic challengers with over 103,000 votes. The district needs a moderate who can work both sides of the aisle. I do that every day in my job. I work with buyers and sellers, towards a shared common goal. Compromise is how both sides get most of what they want, and that is progress.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

Impeach Donald Trump. Pass Medicare for all. Initiate gun safety legislation within the framework of our Second Amendment that will stand up to judicial review: States regulate via permitting and licensure with written and field tests, and insurance mandates. Federal government maintains registration requirements in a searchable electronic database, shared with both state and local authorities. Thereby enabling due process of the law for a law officer to obtain a warrant and impound a weapon of an at risk individual. If we can license, register and insure 263 million cars in the U.S. we can license, register and insure guns.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

Over 53 percent of your federal taxes go to defense and 5 percent on health. Passing Medicare for all can be achieved with either a 5 percent increase in income tax of people earning over $200,000/year, or budgetary offsets on both sides, namely military and government. I too believe in smaller government, especially when we get a healthier and wealthier middle class out of it. Canada can offer Universal Healthcare for $35/month. Some 600,000 Americans will go medically bankrupt this year, while zero Australians will.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I worked in NYC during September 11, gave blood the following day and decided to teach English overseas in a developing Islamic Country to find out firsthand what makes them tick. They feel that it’s their natural resources and they don’t want us to take it. We all saw a lack of coordination between federal, state and local authorities may have enabled 9-11. We saw that again in Parkland, too. If federal, state and local authorities coordinate, we will be safer. Let’s stop blowing money overseas on other people’s problems; we have problems to address right here at home. Visit: www.patrickmalloyforcongress.com.

SHAMUS SAYED

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I’m an experienced business owner who will cut through Washington’s red tape and block job-choking regulations. I know what it means to expansively grow a company and meet a payroll having run a company for over a decade. I am the Republican in the race voters can depend on and trust to put the amazing residents of the 50th District first. I’m proud to be running as a business leader from San Diego to balance the budget, invest in local infrastructure, take care of our vets, and keep Americans safe.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

As former President of FBI Citizens Academy Alumni Association and board member of the Captain’s Advisory of the San Diego Police Department, I understand what it takes to keep our families safe; it will be my top priority. We must fix our broken immigration system and we have to stop allowing undocumented immigrants who commit crimes to remain on our streets. We are a country of immigrants but I will not tolerate lawlessness. I’ll slash regulations and end policies that hold back small business growth, paving a path to success for business owners to create jobs and grow our economy.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

I will repeal and replace Obamacare because, as an entrepreneur, I know how badly it hurt San Diego’s working families and small businesses. We owe every American guaranteed access to quality, affordable healthcare. It’s non-negotiable. I will work towards meaningful systematic reform that gives patients control of their own health choices, and does not turn people away or burden them with excessive costs.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I reject Washington’s career politicians – I am an outsider, small business owner and lifelong San Diegan.

BILL WELLS

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

My life has not followed a path of privilege having come from an impoverished and broken home with a family history plagued by alcoholism and mental health challenges. Yet, as a conservative Republican mayor with more than a dozen years in public office who’s dedicated my life to mental health care, in Washington, D.C., I will prioritize reducing the national debt, rejecting tax increases and unburdening workers and small business owners to realize their full potential. I am running for the 50th Congressional District because as a trusted leader and problem solver, I can bring conservative Republican values to Congress.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

During my tenure in the 50th Congressional District, we would address the mental health crisis in a meaningful way as it relates to not only the Second Amendment but also homelessness. We would restructure the path to business ownership leading to greater economic freedom for the American business owner and worker. Lastly, we would adopt a comprehensive means of protecting the homeland from terrorist activities that protects, not punishes American citizens. As a lifelong mental health care professional and small business owner, who represents a border city, these three issues would be of greatest importance for Congress under my watch.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

The health care system lacks transparency, making the role of patients increasingly harder to make wise decisions about their health with available resources. Two areas where we can make healthcare more affordable would be to arm patients with more information on services and costs at the available service providers. In some countries, doctors and facilities display the costs of services on their office walls. Another cost saver growing in favorability would allow Medicare to negotiate prescription drug costs for patients. Many believe this would reduce costs considerably.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

My story has been one of triumph over struggle. Managing life as a single dad with sole custody of my two young children while working the graveyard shift at the hospital. Losing my father to suicide at a young age. Studying in the campus bookstore because I could not afford books. All the hard-earned lessons were worth it to earn a doctorate in psychology, and become a public servant, a father and a husband. I have faced tough challenges and I’m ready to go to work for you. I humbly ask for your vote for the 50th Congressional District.

State Assembly – 75th District

ALAN GERACI

What are your credentials to serve in this position?

I’m a consumer attorney, father, youth sports coach, and community leader, married with six children, two grandchildren. As San Diego Deputy City Attorney, I helped create the first-ever Domestic Violence Prosecution Unit and fought developers to preserve open space creating 5,800-acre Mission Trails Regional Park. Unlike the 20-year career politician who is rarely seen in our communities, I fought and spoke out against Fallbrook Utility District’s water rate hike. I stood up to big banks to protect homes of 300 families from foreclosure, the Voter Registrar who improperly audited our ballots, and against Escondido’s unlawful privatization of the public library.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

I’ll fight every day at the State Capitol for hard-working families, not the big banks and special interests. My top priorities include, No. 1: strong public schools utilizing local control funding formula including music, art, and sports programs for our kids; No. 2: A healthcare system that provides quality healthcare services for all Californians, drives down the cost, and streamlines the payment process for our doctors and providers; No. 3: Smart growth plans that bring affordable housing to our region while addressing traffic relief, including building a Sprinter Light Rail from Temecula to Mission Valley, and a sustainable renewable energy grid by 2030.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

Healthcare should take care of patients needs first. Unlike my opponent, I support quality, affordable healthcare for all (SB 562) as a key component toward a healthcare payment system that puts patients first, not insurance profits. I support AB 394, establishing specific nurse-to-patient ratios for acute care, acute psychiatric, and specialty hospitals throughout California, enforcing the number of patients that may be assigned to an RN during a shift. Premature discharges of patients are wrong and benefit insurance companies and hospital bottom lines – not consumers. I will always vote for laws that emphasize healthcare access and treatment for patients first.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I’ve spent my entire career fighting powerful special interests on behalf of everyday citizens and winning to ensure we all get a fair deal. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tom Torlakson and California Teachers Association have endorsed me because of my strong record on education. I’ll continue fighting for good paying jobs and living wages and against forces that drive up the costs of healthcare, education, food and housing. I’ll fight for the public safety of our communities that prioritizes our children and families. With your vote, we can retire a career politician and send a consumer advocate to Sacramento.

support of the program,” San Diego County Fire Authority director Herman Reddick said. The county established the Fire Mitigation Fee Program in 1986 to provide funding for fire protection and emergency medical services in the unincorporated communities. Although local fire agencies lack the legal authority to impose mitigation fees on new development, the county collects a fee from building permit applicants on behalf of 18 independent fire protection districts and two county service areas with fire protection responsibility. The mitigation fees are distributed quarterly to agency accounts and must be used for capital projects or to purchase firefighting equipment or supplies which will serve new developments. The Fire Mitigation Fee Review Committee reviews the annual reports of the participating agencies to confirm that the improvements are necessary to serve new development. The committee consists of two fire chiefs – currently Bill Paskle of the Alpine Fire Protection District and Tony Michel of the Rancho Santa Fe Fire Protection District, one elected director of a fire protection district – currently Ken Munson of the North County Fire Protection District, one county Service Area staff member – currently Susan Quasarano, one San Diego County Fire Authority staff member – currently Kelsey Chesnut and one representative apiece from the Building Industry Association – currently Matt Adams, the San Diego County Farm Bureau – currently executive director Eric Larson and the county’s Planning Commission – currently David Pallinger. The county Fire Mitigation Fee Ordinance allows fee ceilings to be increased or decreased in proportion to changes in the cost of construction index. The ordinance also requires an evaluation of the base fee every five years based upon dividing the average cost in current dollars to construct a fully-equipped fire station within the county’s unincorporated area by the average square footage of structures served by that average fire station. That result becomes the new base fee and was last adjusted in 2014. A 11.05 percent increase in the cost of construction index between October 2014 and October 2017 led to the new fee structure. The North County Fire Protection District received $111,677.72 of Fire Mitigation Fee Program revenue in fiscal year 2016-2017. The Vista Fire Protection District, which includes part of Bonsall as well as unincorporated Vista, collected $152,930.18. The San Diego County Regional Fire Authority, which includes DeLuz, had $101,839.42 of mitigation fund revenue. Because the funding is used for capital improvements, it is not required to be spent in a particular fiscal year and funding can be used for debt service payback. The fiscal year 2018-19 planned capital expenditures approved by the Fire Mitigation Fee Review Committee include North County Fire Protection District debt payback for a new fire station and for apparatus, construction of a new Vista Fire Protection District fire station and renovation of the San Diego County Regional Fire Authority’s Mount Laguna station.

revitalization and was North County Transit District representative. Served four years as honorary chairman of the California Business Advisory Council advocating on behalf of California’s small businesses to Congress. A small retail/manufacturing business owner of a apparel company for 24 years, I and my husband are raising a high-school aged son and continue to run the business.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

Public safety, infrastructure (including traffic congestion mitigation/water reliability) and affordable healthcare. Public safety: My AB 1983 requires schools to consult with law enforcement on threat assessments in their emergency plans. I am endorsed by PORAC (Police Officers Research Association), CA Highway Patrol Officers Association, and Cal Fire. Agriculture, local economy, all businesses and our homes rely on a reliable, affordable water supply. I support key legislation to upgrade water infrastructure. Traffic congestion affects our economy and quality of life. I have authored legislation to commit transportation dollars to expand our roads. Access to quality healthcare for all our residents that is affordable is a priority.

How will you work on the problem of the high cost of healthcare?

A member of Select Committee on Universal Healthcare Delivery, I work on a bipartisan effort to achieve efficiencies in delivering quality healthcare at a reasonable cost. While 97 percent of Californians have health coverage, that does not equate to care. Access to care, including Medi-Cal, is important in our rural districts. Tackling the issue of the 3 percent without coverage, improving provider reimbursements to bring more doctors into Medi-Cal, reducing fraudulent billing, streamlining prior authorizations and expanding new technologies like telemedicine, making health coverage more competitive with consumer choice will help bring down premiums.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I am a mom, a wife and a person of faith. I believe in honest work, helping my fellow man and leaving the world a better place than I found it. As your Assemblymember, I work hard in Sacramento to make our district’s voice heard and have been successful in passing legislation to help hardworking families, improve healthcare access and addiction services, and am fighting high cost regulations and taxes.

Sheriff

BILL GORE

Why should someone vote for you rather than your opponent?

Over the last eight years, I’ve worked closely with my partners at the federal, state, and local level to make San Diego the safest urban county in America. We are a diverse border county that boasts the largest land border crossing in the world and we’ve worked hard to make sure San Diego remains a safe place.

I think my three decades in the FBI, as Special Agent in Charge of the San Diego Office, give me a unique insight into the effective use of technology and community policing approaches that have helped stop crime before it happens.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

No. 1: Combat the opioid epidemic by targeting the source of these dangerous addictive drugs. No. 2: Stop human trafficking, which has become the second-largest criminal enterprise in San Diego County. No. 3: Work with the county to find better alternatives for the homeless – those suffering from mental health problems, and those struggling with addiction – than our county jails, which are not equipped to provide the level of treatment and care they deserve.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I take the most pride in being a native of San Diego and spending my life serving my country and my county. After the Navy, I was very fortunate to have the opportunity to serve in the FBI for three decades, rising to assistant director in the DC office. I innovated cyber security and anti-terrorism programs and was Special Agent in Charge of the Seattle and San Diego offices. As Sheriff the last eight years, I’ve been able to use those decades of experience and relationships throughout law enforcement to help make us the safest urban county in America.

DAVE MYERS

Why should someone vote for you rather than your opponent?

I’m the only candidate to work my way up the ranks as deputy, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, and now commander. I know what a day in the life of a deputy is like because I served as a deputy. Trust between the department and the communities we serve has suffered as a result of multiple scandals. My opponent’s mistakes have cost the department over $24 million in legal settlements. I am prepared to establish a culture that is more appropriate for 21st century law enforcement and to bring a return to true community oriented policing.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

No.1: Take accountability for department scandals and restore trust with our communities. No. 2: Fight manufacturers, distributors, high-level dealers of meth and opioid epidemics. No. 3: Reform our jails to address the high number of deaths and meet acceptable standards for disease prevention and women’s health.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I have 35 years of law enforcement experience, with 33 years at the Sheriff’s Department. I have managed nearly every law enforcement function of the department and have worked throughout the county, including our backcountry. I have coordinated teams of local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies to fight crime along the border. I believe that a successful sheriff finds a way to strike a balance between public safety and personal freedom.

District Attorney

GENEVIEVE JONES-WRIGHT

Why should someone vote for you rather than your opponent?

I’m the best candidate for District Attorney because it’s time for change. As a veteran public defender, I know that safety doesn’t have to come at the expense of our constitutional rights. The DA has the biggest role in the intersections of criminal justice reform and public safety. San Diego deserves a DA who is committed to keeping the county safe, implementing common sense reforms and honoring the will of San Diegans. I have seen first-hand the shortcomings of the judicial system and will bring a much-needed balanced perspective, something that my opponent lacks as a lifelong prosecutor.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

No. 1: Break the cycle of crime. Poverty isn’t a crime. I won’t criminalize homelessness and will put resources towards community programs for rehabilitation, treatment, and prevention, and end the unjust practice of cash bail. No. 2: Bring justice to victims. The current administration failed the county by creating a backlog of untested rape kits. When I am elected, I pledge to never have a rape kit backlog again. No. 3: Be a bridge to accountability. No one is above the law, including corrupt politicians, government agencies, and law enforcement. We aren’t safe when the people who are elected to protect us are corrupt themselves.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I am a native San Diegan, a proud foster parent, and a wife to an active-duty Navy corpsman. I am running to make San Diego safe for everyone because I care about this county. After moving back home from law school, I made the conscious decision to buy a home in the community I grew up in and chose to raise my family here. San Diego is a home to all of us, and I want to make it safe for everyone, regardless of their gender, ethnicity, orientation, income, or zip code.

SUMMER STEPHAN

Why should someone vote for you rather than your opponent?

It is an honor to serve as your District Attorney. For over 28 years, I’ve prosecuted murderers and rapists and fought for justice for victims. I rose through the ranks serving as Chief of Sex Crimes and Human Trafficking, North County Branch Chief Deputy DA. I’m endorsed by law enforcement and victims. My opponent is a criminal defense attorney who has never prosecuted a single case, has pledged to not prosecute entire crime categories, and not seek the death penalty. My opponent is backed by $1.5 million from billionaire George Soros. We need experience to stay safe, not an experiment.

What would be your top three priorities?

As District Attorney, I will fight to keep us one of the safest urban counties in America through strong collaboration between law enforcement and our neighborhoods. I’ll prioritize our prevention and prosecution of crimes against seniors. As a national leader in the fight against human trafficking, I’ll step up our efforts to dismantle gangs and traffickers who prey on our children for sex trafficking. My Safe Schools Initiative to safeguard our schools from threats is being implemented, along with my plan to reduce homelessness through smart interventions. Another priority is preventing at-risk youth from criminality through anti-truancy and mentorship strategies.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

Serving our San Diego County region for the last three decades as a prosecutor and public safety leader is not just my profession, it’s my passion. I believe people deserve to be safe in their home, school, work and worship places. Being able to look in the eyes of a victim who feels terror because of what they’ve been through and bringing them justice drives me. I’m not a politician, I’m someone who has dedicated my entire professional life to holding some of the most violent criminals accountable for their actions, supporting crime victims, and protecting our neighborhoods.

Assessor/Recorder/Clerk

ERNIE DRONENBURG

Why should someone vote for you rather than your opponent?

This office requires the Assessor be a legally certified Property Tax Appraiser. I’ve been legally certified for over 10 years, my opponent is not. I have seven years experience as your Assessor and 20 years as your taxpayer advocate. My opponent has no property tax experience. When elected in 2010, the office was a mess – 415 employees lacked leadership and a $68 million budget misspent. Today, we have a 98.2 percent positive customer rating and return on average $3.2 million in budget savings annually. I’ve taken customers “from in-line to online” saving you trips to county offices by offering online forms with electronic-signature.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

No. 1: Expanding Taxpayers’ Rights Advocate program. I established the Taxpayer’s Bill of Rights law in California with a Taxpayer Advocate office specifically to protect you. I’m creating one now in San Diego County. No. 2: Operate ethically. My opponent, an “ethics attorney,” accused my office of not informing 150,000 taxpayers about the homeowners exemption. The law requires we mail everyone (we mail twice) that may qualify for the homeowners exemption an application. He knowingly ignores the law and lacks the technical understanding for why some don’t qualify. Despite his dishonest accusations, I will continue to operate with integrity. No. 3: Lower your taxes.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

I have lived in San Diego County over 60 years, the last 14 years with my wife on a Fallbrook flower farm. We care about affordable housing through less taxes. I wrote the rules for Prop 13 as a member of the BOE. Prop 13 is under attack and I have the technical expertise to protect it and keep our property taxes low. My opponent is from New York City, he moved to downtown San Diego three years ago. We need someone who knows all of us and understands the needs of all of us in San Diego County.

MATT STRABONE

Why should someone vote for you rather than your opponent?

Vote for me because San Diego County deserves better. Vote for me if you want to receive all the property tax exemptions you deserve. Vote for me if you agree that spending taxpayer money on personal trips to Sacramento rather than on upgrading the quality of service in the Assessor-Recorder-Clerk’s office is wrong. Vote for me if you believe we deserve a government that works for us, that’s transparent and accountable, that provides excellent service, and that saves you money.

If elected, what would be your top three priorities?

No. 1: I will help you pay less property tax. More than 140,000 homeowners in San Diego County aren’t getting all the property tax exemptions they deserve. I’ll fix that. No. 2: I will make it easier to access non-sensitive public records. I’ll drop the $2 per page fee for these records and I’ll make them available for free online. No. 3: I will expand outreach and hold public workshops in every community across San Diego County to lend homeowners a helping hand with their property tax bill and show residents how to access public records they might need.

What is the most important thing voters should know about you?

Voters should know that I keep my promises. I’m an ethics attorney, and ethics is something the Assessor-Recorder-Clerk’s office is lacking right now. If we ask nothing else of our elected officials, we expect that they will follow the law, never misuse public funds, and never abuse the public trust. I promise to always follow the rule of law. I also promise to never use the office as a personal fiefdom: I won’t spend taxpayer money on personal trips, I will avoid insider trading, and I will treat everyone the same and never play favorites.

Fallbrook victories, and in the CIF playoffs.

“I think that taught us a lot about ourselves,” said Patterson of the Warriors’ play against the Bobcats.

The May 5 CIF seeding and selection meeting gave Fallbrook the third seed in the CIF Division III playoffs. “I think that was the best seed for us,” Patterson said.

Patterson and his players were hoping for a top four seed which included a first-round bye as well as a quarterfinal home match. The third seed also put the Warriors in a different bracket than the top seed. “We didn’t have to face Classical right off the bat,” Patterson said.

Sixth-seeded San Marcos defeated Del Lago Academy in the first round of the playoffs. The Knights traveled to Fallbrook for the May 11 quarterfinal.

Fallbrook had traveled to San Marcos for an April 30 non-league match which ended as a 25-23, 29-27, 25-23 Warriors victory. “They were all close games,” Patterson said.

The Warriors won 25-22, 25-20, and 25-20 sets in the playoff match. “When they came to us for the playoffs it was a little easier,” Patterson said. “We were at home. We had more confidence.”

Miles Dewhirst led the Warriors with 20 kills and James Prahm added 18 kills. Eric Leon set for 35 assists.

The Warriors as a team had 24 blocks. “We dominated the middle,” Patterson said.

Prahm had 12 solo blocks along with five assisted blocks. “When James Prahm was up front they couldn’t stop him,” Patterson said.

Dewhirst had 18 digs, which also led the team. “They couldn’t stop him. He was all over the court,” Patterson said.

James Brodak provided 16 digs, and Logan Sim contributed 15.

“They played phenomenal,” Patterson said. “They had their eyes set on that championship.”

Fallbrook’s defense was also able to minimize the success of the Knights’ leading offensive threat. “He’s a phenomenal hitter, but they shut him down,” Patterson said.

Coronado had the second seed and hosted seventh-seeded Valhalla in another May 11 quarterfinal, but both of Coronado’s starting outside hitters were injured in that match and Valhalla won in four sets. That made Fallbrook the higher-seeded team in the semifinal. “That made it easier,” Patterson said.

The match against the Norsemen was played in Fallbrook May 16. “The gym was packed,” Patterson said. “It was noisy in there.”

Fallbrook began the match with a 25-17 victory. “We jumped out early on them,” Patterson said.

The Warriors prevailed by a 25-23 score in game two. The 2-0 advantage in games allowed Patterson to change the lineup for the third game, which was a 25-23 Valhalla triumph. “It still was a close game,” he said.

A 25-17 Fallbrook win in the fourth game ended the match. “We made sure that we closed them out in the fourth set,” Patterson said. “They got the job done.”

Dewhirst had 19 kills against Valhalla and Prahm provided 18 kills. Prahm had seven solo and four assisted blocks while Sean Wenzel recorded five solo and three assisted blocks. Brodak contributed 25 digs, Sim had 14 and Cristian Cruz added 13.

Leon had 45 assists. “Eric was setting out of this world,” Patterson said.

The CIF San Diego Section had scheduled the semifinals for May 15, but multiple Fallbrook players had a religious confirmation service that night so Valhalla agreed to the May 16 date. That gave the Warriors one day of practice before the semifinal and the championship match.

“That also gave Classical an opportunity to watch us play,” Patterson said. “Their team showed up at our game.”

The Caimans defeated Clairemont in the other Division III semifinal. The team coached by Jon Goodman entered the final with a 27-7 season record, including a 6-0 mark in Coastal League play.

“He’s been doing great things with that program,” Patterson said of Goodman.

Classical Academy began the championship match with 25-18 and 25-19 victories.

“I knew that they were going to go to their middle a lot,” Paterson said. “The first two sets of the championship that’s probably where they were beating us down the most.”

Fallbrook then took a 25-19 victory.

“After going down two games they fought back and won the next two, and they were in the fifth game,” Patterson said. “No doubt in my mind I was proud of them.”

Patterson went to a one-on-one blocking format for the third game. “I think that was the difference maker,” he said. “We kept their middle from performing.”

When Prahm blocked three consecutive balls Goodman abandoned the emphasis on the middle and tried attacking from the outside. “We just took the angle approach,” Patterson said.

Patterson had called up two players from Fallbrook’s junior varsity for the playoffs, including junior Dominik Torrescano, who had a timely block against the Caimans.

“The guys in the back just played tremendous defense,” Patterson said. “They stood in there. They fought.”

Fallbrook’s 25-21 win in the fourth game forced a fifth set to 15 points. A Classical Academy serving ace gave the Caimans a 4-1 lead. “It got us out of sync a little bit,” said Patterson, noting that the deficit prevented the Warriors from making lineup changes.

The Warriors narrowed the gap to 10-9 before hitting a ball out of bounds to give Classical Academy an 11-9 lead. “We really didn’t recover,” said Patterson. “We still fought, but we didn’t recover.”

The score progressed to 13-9 before the Warriors obtained their final point. Had the Warriors obtained an additional sidout, Fallbrook would have had a favorable rotation as Prahm would have been in the front row and the Classical Academy middle blocker would have gone to the back row.

“If we had got that 11th point that would have beat them,” Patterson said.

A Fallbrook error gave the Caimans match point. The final point occurred after a rally and Classical Academy’s placement of the ball into the Warriors’ side of the court.

“They just caught us totally out of position,” Patterson said. “None of us could get to it to play it.”

Not only had Fallbrook never previously played in the CIF championship match, but the Warriors hadn’t advanced past the first round of the CIF playoffs since 2008. The 2017 team which lost in the first round of the post-season was the next Fallbrook squad to reach the playoffs.

Patterson’s first year as the Warriors’ coach was 2014, when Fallbrook lost all 18 matches. After Fallbrook lost its first five matches of the 2015 season, a victory over Mount Miguel broke a 71-match losing streak dating back to 2010. Fallbrook won five matches in 2015 and finished with a final season record of 5-20.

The Warriors won two non-league matches in 2010 and one non-league match in 2009. The Warriors had a 3-82 record from 2009 through 2014 and a 5-102 mark between 2009 and 2015.

Fallbrook won three league matches in 2016; the first of those was the Warriors’ first league triumph since 2008 and broke a 73-match league losing streak. The Warriors’ 11-15 record in 2016 included a 3-7 statistic in Valley League play.

The 17-11 record of the 2017 Warriors included the first-round loss in the CIF Division III playoffs as well as a 5-3 league mark which shared second place among Valley League teams.

This year’s overall record, including the three playoff matches, was 18-9.

“I’m ecstatic about the season,” Patterson said. “We are extremely proud of them.”

Leilani Patterson, who works with the players on passing skills, was Chip Patterson’s only assistant coach for the varsity team.

Patterson expects the 2019 Warriors to have five returning players from the 2018 regular season, including three returning starters. “I see us making a run at it again next year,” he said.

Please HELP THE KITTENS!

FAS has now reached 80 kittens! It costs FAS an average of $125 to Spay or Neuter, microchip and vaccinated each kitten. That is $10,000! Add to that the daily care, food and litter, etc.

We are sending out a plea!

If just 80 people donated $125 each that would cover the medical costs that we are about to have. Or if 160 people donated $62.50 that would cover the medical costs. How about if 240 people donated $42, that would cover the medical costs.

Will you help us help these kittens?

We now have more than we did last kitten season and unless we can raise money for Spay & Neuter, we will not be able to accept any more which will leave so many kittens vulnerable.

Fashion shows brings back magical memories

BONSALL – The Bonsall Woman’s Club’s annual “Magical Memories Fashion Show” charmed a very delighted audience at the Vista Valley Country Club on May 11. The event was truly a magical affair. Beautiful fashions from each decade beginning in the 1920’s were represented in a way that brought back many fond memories from yesteryears.

Lunch consisted of Vista Valley’s signature pear salad with chicken, rolls and dessert.

The outfits, and accompanying accessories, were from Peggy Scudder’s collection, which she has maintained for over 20 years. Also displayed were some of today’s fashions from high end designer Roberto Cavalli and from Aston’s Boutique in Bonsall.

The tables were adorned with magnificent centerpieces provided by Mike’s Flowers in Fallbrook. The event was chaired by BWC member Renee Barnes, who led a group of hard working fellow members. The event also included a variety of silent auction items up for bid and several themed baskets in the opportunity drawings.

DJ Cory Carrier of ACE Mobile Music added an extra touch, playing era specific music as each model made her way through the audience. Members of the BWC acted as models.

All proceeds will be distributed to local charities and scholarships. For more information on BWC, visit www.bonsallwomansclub.org.

County plans ahead with Age Well San Diego initiative

Tom Christensen
County of San Diego
Communications Office

The county of San Diego took one more step toward being prepared for the future as the region faces a dramatic increase in the number of older adults.

The county board of supervisors approved moving forward with Age Well San Diego, a plan that merges the AARP age-friendly Communities and dementia-friendly America's Dementia-friendly Communities programs.

The county's Health and Human Services Agency has been assessing the needs of older adults in the county and holding community meetings the past two years to develop a blueprint for the challenges that lie ahead with an aging population. In 2010, there were just over 600,000 residents in San Diego County over the age of 55. That number is estimated to double to more than 1.2 million by the year 2030.

Age Well San Diego will begin implementing a plan over the next three years that addresses the key areas of health and community support, housing, social interaction, transportation and dementia-friendly environments.

Some of the goals of the plan include:

- Using and increasing access to technology
- Increasing affordable housing and programs to prevent homelessness
- Creating and expanding intergenerational programs
- Community involvement opportunities
- Ensuring a variety of transportation options are available and making communities more walkable
- Making the community dementia-friendly
- Working with the Alzheimer's Project to maximize efforts

The county will be working with AARP, the San Diego Foundation and community groups and residents as the plan moves forward.

County releases hepatitis A outbreak report

Tom Christensen
County of San Diego
Communications Office

The county of San Diego recently released an after action report that summarizes the county's response to an unprecedented hepatitis A outbreak that began in early March 2017.

A local public health emergency was declared Sept. 1, and stayed in effect until Jan. 23.

The purpose of an after action report is a self-evaluation to document an agency's response after an emergency. The "Hepatitis A Outbreak After Action Report" looks at the county's response to the local health emergency and actions taken during the outbreak to assess what worked well, what could be improved and a plan for making recommended improvements.

Among the 21 recommendations in the report:

- Enhancing the use of an incident command structure to coordinate regional actions, including convening a group of county and regional executive leadership from affected areas that meets regularly
- Ensure more county staff not normally assigned to emergency situations are trained so that they may be utilized for large-scale, long-lasting or unique public health emergencies
- Work with local health care providers to ensure that people who work with homeless individuals and drug users receive the HAV vaccine and that all health care providers enter the vaccinations into the immunization registry

- Educate all county jail inmates on hepatitis A risk and encourage them to be vaccinated

The report also highlights several novel approaches taken to combat the outbreak including the use of foot teams. The teams paired up county Health and Human Service Agency public health nurses with homeless outreach workers and public safety officers who were deployed to provide vaccinations and education in homeless encampments, difficult to reach areas near river beds, in canyons and at locations that provide services to homeless people.

Good mental health is essential to overall health

HENDERSONVILLE, Tenn. – May is Mental Health Awareness Month, an annual observance designed to increase awareness about mental health and mental illness.

According to Mental Health America, the 2018 theme is "Fitness#4Mind4Body." The theme "is a call to pay attention to both your physical health and your mental health, which can help achieve overall wellness."

Good mental health is essential to overall health and personal well-being. It also contributes to the ability to lead a healthy, balance and productive life. Emotional problems can impair a person's thinking, feelings and behavior, and over time, it can become increasingly serious and disabling.

Unfortunately, many people do not seek treatment for mental health issues for a number of reasons. They may not be completely aware of the extent of their problem, they may be hesitant to make contact with a mental health professional because they fear they will be stigmatized or they may not know how to access services. Yet, overall the quality of life is greatly improved when a person with a mental health concern or problem seeks help and receives appropriate treatment from a qualified professional.

Numerous suicides and suicide attempts have been attributed to undiagnosed and/or under treated mental illness. For this reason, The Jason Foundation supports the efforts of Mental Health America and Mental Health Awareness Month.

The Jason Foundation is a nationally recognized leader in youth suicide prevention and awareness and provides programs to all 50 states at no cost through their National Network of Affiliate Offices. The programs are designed to help the public recognize when a young person is struggling with thoughts of suicide and where they can go for help.

NCFPD receives grant for chemical detox chambers

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

The North County Fire Protection District will be receiving $16,350 of District Five Neighborhood Reinvestment Program funding for chemical detox chambers.

A 5-0 San Diego County Board of Supervisors vote, May 8, approved the use of the Neighborhood

Reinvestment Program grant for two chemical detox chambers which are used by firefighters who have exposed themselves to hazardous materials during their fire suppression activities.

“Firefighters put their lives on the line daily to protect us and our property,” Supervisor Bill Horn said. “Flames from the fires are deadly, but just as dangerous are the toxins that are released when structures burn.”

Chemical detox chambers have been proven to reduce the risk of cancer in firefighters exposed to chemicals while fighting fires.

The Neighborhood Reinvestment Program is intended to provide grants to nonprofit organizations for the furtherance of public purposes at the regional and community levels. In addition to nonprofit organizations, county supervisors can also fund schools and fire departments, and supervisors can also use money from their budgets to supplement other county funding for specific county projects such as parks, roads and libraries.

Each member of the board of supervisors has an annual $2 million Neighborhood

Reinvestment Program budget for projects which promote public benefit and recommends the allocation of their Neighborhood Reinvestment Program funds, although those allocations must be approved by a majority of the board. Horn recommended the use of District Five funding for the fire department’s chemical detox chambers.

KC and the Sunshine Band to play at Pala

KC and the Sunshine Band will perform at Pala Casino Spa & Resort’s Starlight Theater, Sept. 14

Courtesy photos

PALA – Rhythm and blues and funk legends KC and the Sunshine Band will perform at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 14, at Pala Casino Spa & Resort’s Starlight Theater.

KC and the Sunshine Band are still as widely popular now as they were when they first danced into the music scene 40 years ago. Harry Wayne Casey, KC for short, developed a unique fusion of R&B and funk, with a hint of a Latin percussion groove, giving fans an impressive string of hits like “Get Down Tonight,” “That’s The Way (I like it)” and “Shake Your Booty.”

KC and the Sunshine Band – with sales of over 100 million records, nine Grammy nominations, three Grammy Awards and an American Music Award – was one of the most progressive bands of the 70s and is credited with changing the sound of modern pop music.

KC and the Sunshine Band play over 100 live shows annually, circling the country and playing dates regularly throughout Europe, Australia and South America. In 2008, KC celebrated 35 years of entertaining, writing songs, performing around the world and he has no intention of stopping. KC’s songs have stood the test of time, and thousands of fans spend the entire concert on their feet, dancing and shaking their booties.

The band released its latest single, “Movin’ Your Body,” June 2, 2017. Written by KC, the song impacted the Billboard Dance Chart at No. 46 giving him his fourth consecutive Billboard Dance charting single.

“With all the tension in the world right now, I wanted to write a song to help people escape and leave their worries behind,” KC said. “I want people to get onto the dance floor and shake their booty, like we did in the old days and are still doing today.”

The deluxe remix collection features hot versions of the single served up by a who’s-who of dance floor deliverers, including the legendary Tony Moran and Brian Cua, Ralph Rosario, Eric Kupper, Bob Rosa, LA Rush, Vauxhill, Joe Gillan, Serbiscaan and Mark Hagan.

KC and the Sunshine Band released, “Feeling You! The 60s,” in March 2015, their first album in over a decade. The album is a tribute to the era that shaped KC into the revolutionary artist he became in the 70s, as a young person becoming acquainted with the world around him. Just like the rest of America during that time, he was shaped by the music, conflicts, innocence, sex, social and political movements and counterculture of the era – which led to him founding the Dance Revolution and teaching the world how to boogie.

“The widespread social and political issues of the 1960s was, in part, the inspiration to do something that would make people forget about their problems and be happy,” KC said. “People were looking for something that would divert their attention from the negative aspects of everyday life surrounding them.”

Part one of the two-part “Feeling You!” project, the release featured covers of songs by 60s legends Bob Dylan, Ben E. King, The Kinks, The Righteous Brothers, Jackie DeShannon, Aaron Neville and many more.

“I’m excited for my fans to hear this album,” KC said. “I really went outside of the box vocally and creatively. “Feeling You! The 60s” is autobiographical, showing how I feel about love, life and the world through the music of that era.”

Tickets are now on sale with no service charge at the Pala Box Office, www.palacasino.com and (877) 946-7252. Tickets also are available at www.startickets.com and (800) 585-3737.

DINING

Try making ‘Z’paghetti’ instead of spaghetti

FALLBROOK – Spaghetti is a staple of many family dinner tables, and that can lead to pasta burnout. Home cooks who want to veer away from traditional pasta without giving up their love of marinara can try the following zucchini-inspired alternative to traditional spaghetti, “Z’paghetti Marinara with Shrimp,” courtesy of Lisa Lillien’s “Hungry Girl Clean & Hungry” (St. Martin’s Press).

Z’paghetti Marinara with Shrimp

Makes 2 servings

- Ingredients:
28 ounces (about 4 medium) zucchini
8 ounces (about 16) raw large shrimp, peeled, tails removed and deveined
1/4 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
1 cup Clean & Hungry Marinara Sauce (recipe below)
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

- To make:
1. Preheat the oven to 375 F. Lay a large piece of heavy-duty foil on a baking sheet and spray with nonstick spray.
2. Using a spiral vegetable slicer, cut zucchini into spaghetti-like noodles. (If you don’t have a spiral veggie slicer, peel zucchini into super-thin strips, rotating the zucchini after each strip.) Roughly chop for shorter noodles.
3. Place zucchini noodles in the center of the foil and top with shrimp. Sprinkle with seasonings. Top with marinara sauce and Parmesan.
4. Cover with another large piece of foil. Fold together and seal all four edges of the foil pieces, forming a well-sealed packet.
5. Bake for 25 minutes, or until zucchini noodles have softened and shrimp are fully cooked.
6. Cut packet to release hot steam before opening entirely.

7. Transfer packet contents to a large bowl, and toss to mix.

Clean & Hungry Marinara Sauce

Makes 6 servings

- Ingredients:
3 cups canned crushed tomatoes
1/4 cup tomato paste
1 tablespoon white wine vinegar
2 teaspoons Italian seasoning
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon black pepper

- To make:
1. Combine ingredients in a large sealable container. Mix until uniform.
2. Seal, and refrigerate until ready to use.

Espresso-Chocolate Chip Angel Food Cake impresses

FALLBROOK – Entrées might be the focal point of a meal, but dessert provides the final impression people will have after sitting down to break bread together. Home cooks who want their guests to leave the dinner table patting their bellies in appreciation of a fine dessert can try the following recipe for “Espresso-Chocolate Chip Angel Food Cake” from Emily Luchetti’s “Classic Stars Desserts” (Chronicle Books).

Espresso-Chocolate Chip Angel Food Cake

Serves 10 to 12

- Ingredients:
2 teaspoons instant espresso powder
1 1/3 cups cake flour, sifted
1/8 teaspoon kosher salt
1 3/4 cups (about 12 large) egg whites
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 3/4 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 1/4 teaspoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
3/4 cup bittersweet chocolate chips, coarsely chopped

- To make:
1. Preheat the oven to 350 F. Have ready an ungreased 10-inch nonstick angel food cake pan.
2. Sift together the espresso powder and flour onto a piece of parchment paper or into a bowl. Add the salt and set aside.
3. Put the egg whites in the large bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the whip attachment and whip on medium speed until frothy. Add the cream of tartar, increase - the speed to high and continue whipping while slowly pouring in the sugar until the whites are firm and satiny, about three minutes.

4. Reduce the speed to low, add the vanilla and lemon juice and then add the dry ingredients. When the flour mixture is almost completely incorporated, remove the bowl from the mixer stand and fold in the chocolate chips with a spatula. Make sure that the chips are spread evenly throughout the batter and that the flour mixture is evenly incorporated. But be careful not to overmix, or you will deflate the batter and the cake will not rise fully in the oven.
5. Pour the batter into the cake pan. Cut through the batter a few times with a table knife to break up any air pockets. Bake until a skewer inserted into the center comes out clean, 40 to 45 minutes. Invert the cake and let cool completely upside down in

- the pan. (If the pan does not have feet, balance the inverted pan on the neck of a bottle or rest the edge of the pan rim on three or four ramekins.)
6. To unmold the cake, run a long knife around the inside edge of the pan. Then, holding the center tube, free the cake from the pan sides. Slip a knife between the cake and the bottom of the pan to loosen the cake and gently flip the cake over, letting it fall onto a platter. (If the pan does not have a removable bottom, release the sides with the knife, then place a platter on top of the cake. Gently invert the platter and the cake together. Lift off the pan.)
7. To serve, cut into slices with a serrated knife, using a gentle sawing motion.
8. Planning ahead: The cake may be made a day in advance. Wrap in plastic wrap and store at room temperature.

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. REAL ESTATE & HOME AND GARDEN

Real Estate Round-Up: Time to create defensible space

Kim Murphy
Murphy and Murphy Southern California Realty

Last week I wrote about the attacks on home ownership. They are real and we must be vigilant. But there is one more thing every homeowner must be vigilant about and it is fires and creating defensible space around our homes.

It's hard to believe that we are approaching the summer selling season for real estate. Every week more homes come on the market hoping to take advantage of the summer months when people decide to move to a new home in a new location.

We've had such a cool spring, that it is hard to imagine that we will be experiencing some pretty warm days in the near future. With that warm, dry weather comes the risk of fires. The brush around our homes is kindling when combined with fire and wind. With that in mind, it's time to take a look at how you are maintaining probably your most important financial asset, your home. I'm specifically talking about making sure you have defensible space around your home.

I'd like to think, like I'm sure many of you would, that we can't possibly have a fire run through our community again. But there is a slogan that applies here and is most applicable and appropriate: "it is better to be safe than sorry". So, let's talk about defensible space and make sure we literally "brush" up on it.

Defensible Space Zones

Two zones make up the required 100 feet of defensible space.

Zone 1

- Zone 1 extends 50 feet out from buildings, structures, decks, etc.
- Remove all dead plants, grass and weeds (vegetation).
- Remove dead or dry leaves and pine needles from your yard, roof and rain gutters.
- Trim trees regularly to keep branches a minimum of 10 feet from other trees.
- Remove branches that hang over your roof and keep dead branches 10 feet away from your chimney.

- Relocate wood piles into Zone 2.
- Remove or prune flammable plants and shrubs near windows.
- Remove vegetation and items that could catch fire from around and under decks.
- Create a separation between trees, shrubs and items that could catch fire, such as patio furniture, wood piles, swing sets, etc.

Zone 2

- Zone 2 extends 100 feet out from buildings, structures, decks, etc.
- Cut or mow annual grass down to a maximum height of 4 inches.
- Create horizontal spacing between shrubs and trees.
- Create vertical spacing between grass, shrubs and trees.
- Remove fallen leaves, needles, twigs, bark, cones, and small branches. However, they may be permitted to a depth of 3 inches.

Memorial Day is upon us and the 4th of July not far behind, so don't get so wrapped up in the fun of summer and forget about taking care of that home you love. Defend your home, and then relax and have fun!

* Check with your local fire department for any additional defensible space or weed abatement ordinances.

Supervisors approve Clemmens Lane Park improvements

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors authorized the advertisement for bid and subsequent award of a contract to provide improvements for Clemmens Lane Park.

A 5-0 board of supervisors' vote

May 9, authorized the director of the county's Department of Purchasing and Contracting to take the necessary actions to advertise and award a construction contract, designated the director of the county's Department of Parks and Recreation as the county officer responsible for administering the contract and found the project categorically exempt from California Environmental Quality Act review.

"I think the community of Fallbrook will really enjoy updates to Clemmens Lane Park," Supervisor Bill Horn said.

Clemmens Lane Park opened in 2009 and currently has a small soccer field, a sand volleyball court, a picnic area with barbecues and a children's playground with shade sails. The Department of Parks and Recreation has monitored usage of the 0.56-acre park and has determined that a restroom and additional soccer space is needed while also deeming the volleyball court to be underutilized by the community.

In April 2017, the board of supervisors approved the county's 2017-2018 Community Development Block Grant funding plan which included $257,083 to design and construct a synthetic turf soccer field and a restroom at Clemmens Lane Park. That funding included $7,083 for environmental review – the federal funding from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development made the project subject to National Environmental Protection Act review, so $250,000 is still available for that project.

The volleyball court will be converted into the synthetic turf soccer field. The restroom will replace an existing disturbed plant bed and will also include sewer utility connections to Clemmens Lane. The contract will also install vertical cushion panels on the existing perimeter fencing surrounding the soccer field.

The estimated construction cost including contingency is $200,000, and the remaining $50,000 will cover design, construction management, inspection and project administration expenses. Construction is scheduled to begin in summer 2018 and be complete in fall 2018.

Time extension granted for Lilac Del Cielo tentative map

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

A time extension for the Lilac Del Cielo tentative map has been approved.

Mark Wardlaw, the director of the county’s Department of Planning and Development Services, made a preliminary decision May 1 to change the map’s expiration date to April 4, 2023. Wardlaw’s decision was subject to potential objections at a hearing of the county’s Planning Commission, but no member of the Planning Commission or the public objected at the May 11 Planning Commission meeting so the time extension became final and effective immediately.

The Planning Commission approved a tentative map and three site plans for 55.9 acres at West Lilac Road and Camino Del Rey, April 4, 2008. The tentative map would subdivide the property into an 8.6-acre lot which would be the site of 76 condominium units and a 47.3-acre lot which would be dedicated as permanent open space.

The project would be accessed by private roads off Camino

Del Cielo. Any tentative map which includes a rezone or plan amendment must be approved by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors, and because the zoning was changed to align the zoning density with the general plan density, the project was heard by the board of supervisors in May 2008 and approved on a 5-0 vote.

A tentative parcel map becomes a final map after all conditions of the tentative map, other than those for which permits cannot be issued until a final map is recorded, are fulfilled. A final map is required for grading and building permits, although the conditions of a final map include a grading plan.

The standard county procedure is to require the final map within three years of the tentative map approval, although the deadline to record the final map may be extended. The initial expiration date for the Lilac Del Cielo map was April 4, 2011, but due to the statewide economic and market situation state legislation automatically extended the map three times and the previous expiration date was April 4, 2017.

If an application for a time extension is filed before the map’s expiration the owner is not in default if the extension is granted after the expiration date. A tentative map only creates legal lots and does not grandfather a project against updated stormwater or other regulations enacted before grading and building permits are obtained.

Bonsall Group, which owns the property, applied for a time extension Feb. 24, 2017. The time extension will allow Bonsall Group to address changes in stormwater regulations and to obtain state and Federal environmental permits.

Wardlaw’s decision also amended conditions of the map. The developer will be required to prepare and implement a haul route plan to ensure that roads are not damaged by heavily loaded trucks, and an addendum to the previous environmental Mitigated Negative Declaration was certified.

Properties within 300 feet of the West Lilac boundaries were notified of the time extension application. The Bonsall Sponsor Group voted 4-1 in favor of recommending the time extension, April 3, 2017.

May, July peak months for grilling fires

QUINCY, Mass. – Grilling season is here, and grill gurus everywhere are preparing for many family parties and barbecues. The National Fire Protection Association encouraged grillers to pay attention to safety during the spring and summer months when home fires involving grilling incidents occur most often.

In 2011-2015, fire departments responded to an average of 9,600 home fires involving grills, hibachis or barbecues each year. That number included 4,100 structure fires and 5,500 outside or unclassified fires, according to NFPA. These fires caused an average of 10 civilian deaths, 160 civilian injuries and $133 million in direct property damage per year.

July is the peak month for grilling fires followed by May, June and August. According to the Hearth, Patio & Barbecue Association, 73 percent of consumers grill on the Fourth of July, 60 percent on Memorial Day, 58 percent grill on Labor Day, and 45 percent grill on Father’s Day.

According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission’s National Electronic Surveillance

System, grills caused an average 4,500 nonthermal contact burns in patients seen at emergency departments in 2012-2016. Children under five suffered 1,600 or 35 percent of these burns. This type of injury typically occurred when someone bumped into, touched or fell on the grill, grill part or hot coals.

NFPA reminded everyone that all types of grills pose a risk for fires and burn injuries. Place the grill well away from siding and deck railings and out from under eaves and overhanging branches, per manufacturer’s instructions. According to NFPA’s most recent fact sheet, 11 percent of home grill structure fires began when an outside wall caught fire and in roughly one of every five fires, the grill had not been cleaned.

“As grilling season approaches, it is important that grillers review basic safety tips to ensure they are grilling properly and safely,” Lorraine Carli, vice president of Outreach and Advocacy for NFPA, said. “Failing to properly clean the grill or having the grill too close to something that could burn are the leading causes of fires. Good practice dictates that home chefs check for damage before using the grill for the first time each year, and to check the entire grill regularly.”

Here are additional grilling fire safety tips:

- Propane and charcoal barbecue grills should only be used outdoors.
- Children and pets should be at least 3 feet away from the grill area.
- Keep the grill clean by removing grease and fat buildup from the gates and trays below.
- Never leave the grill unattended.

For additional information and resources including tips for outdoor cooking with portable grills, visit www.nfpa.org/grilling.

Matilija poppy is queen of California flowers

A close-up shot of a matilija poppy shows the looks of a fried egg.

Matilija buds and flowers grow in the Boddaert garden.

A bee collects rich pollen from a matilija poppy.

Roger Boddaert
Special to the Village News

Matilija poppy has been called the “Queen of California flowers” in the words of Mary Parsons in her book “The Wildflowers of California,” 1897.

It seems more appropriate for this beautiful California native in lieu of the “Fried Egg Plant,” a name which I never thought this elegant and stately plant deserved.

Botanically speaking, it is a Romney coulteri, and Matilija is pronounced “ma-til-li-ha.” It is one of most recognized of California flowering native plants.

With some basic understanding and horticultural care, the plant can really be marvelous in a landscape if you have space. It is a perennial native plant that might take a bit to get it growing, but once it becomes established it’s a “no mess with plant.”

The flowers are borne atop long slender blue-gray foliage and are really spectacular in spring to early summer, along with so many other California plants.

The plants can be found in habitats of sunny chaparral and coastal sage scrub in coastal and inland regions of Southern California and down into Baja California.

Although one of California’s real unique natives its range is not wide in the wilds. Although it can be grown in many planting zones besides California; I have seen it growing in Oregon, Washington state and up in British Columbia. But it is the English gardener who found great joy and pride in growing the queen of flowers; maybe it has something to do with royalty.

The basic needs for this queen

Roger Boddaert stands among his matilija poppies.

The California state flower, Eschscholzia californica, is a cousin of the matilija poppy.

poppy are well-drained soils, like a sandy loam or decomposed granite. It enjoys a site with full hot sunshine and can be very drought tolerant once established.

Be very careful when removing the plant from the nursery container, for this plant has very sensitive roots, and if disturbed, it will fail quickly. Dig the planting hole large enough to fit the root ball of the plant and gently ease it into the hole. I do not suggest any type of amendments when planting this native.

Morning sunshine lights up matilija poppies.

The older clumps in my garden have been in the ground some 10 years now and are standing a good 8 feet in height adorned with flowers bending in the season’s breeze and a faint aroma.

The two species of Romney coulteri and R. trichocalyx were crossed by Theodore Payne up in the San Fernando area many decades ago, and he developed a larger flower named “White Cloud” that is a real show stopper.

They can be propagated from cuttings, root divisions and seeds, but it takes a knack to master their reproduction via these techniques.

The California state poppy flower – Eschscholzia californica – is also in bloom at this time of year and is a kissing cousin to the Matilija poppy.

I have seen some wonderful watercolor paintings of Matilija poppies over the years, and it’s a neat form, shape and texture to capture on canvas.

“Flowers are one of nature’s true gems to behold.”

Fallbrook High elects one-of-a-kind prom king and queen

Natalie Weber
Writer

Fallbrook High School’s upperclassmen donned their formal attire, April 21, for the 2018 prom “Finding Neverland.” The event was held at The New Children’s Museum in San Diego, a whimsical venue perfectly fitting the whimsical theme. Some of the highlights included a DJ and silent disco, churros, raffle prizes and of course, the crowning of the prom king and queen.

The prom court, for the boys, consisted of James Brodak, Kaipo Cavanh, Liam Cahill, Michael Gross and Nathan Chalut and for the ladies, Viviana Miramontes, Emma Christopherson, Sydney Porter, Desiree Jones and Hayley Lawson.

This year, Fallbrook High School elected a prom king and queen that do not fit the typical mold. Prom king Kaipo Cavanh and prom queen Sydney Porter are not the average prom royalty, but nonetheless, they are well loved by their peers.

Cavanh is highly involved in the Fallbrook High Associated Student Body as pep commissioner and blood drive commissioner, which means he plays integral roles in planning and organizing pep rallies and blood drives.

“ASB takes up most of my time, in and out of school, but I enjoy every moment of it,” Cavanh said.

Cavanh also participates in the school’s dance program and has performed in and choreographed various shows. He fully enjoyed his time on the prom court, he said.

“Being on prom court was amazing,” Cavanh said. “I never thought I would have been on the prom court, let alone be crowned king. I moved here during my sophomore year thinking I would never be popular or well-known, so just seeing how I’ve grown in that social aspect has made me very happy.”

Cavanh said that his favorite memory was the traditional kidnapping of the prom court and the subsequent goofy costume wearing that happens the Friday before the event.

“I live farthest from Fallbrook, so I was picked up at 2:40 a.m.,” he said with amusement.

Porter keeps busy as an active member of the Fallbrook Future Farmers of America where she serves as chapter president. She is also a cadet in Fallbrook High’s Marine Corps JROTC program and enjoys weightlifting and CrossFit in her free time. Porter said jokingly of her being crowned prom queen, “My first thought was, ‘I’m probably the most masculine prom queen my school has had in a while.’”

“When I was crowned, I was excited because my friend Kaipo also won, Porter said.

Porter discussed her experience on the prom court.

“I really enjoyed being on prom court. Everyone on the court had a lot of fun together,” Porter said. “My favorite part was all of the court going out to breakfast together the morning before prom.”

To Porter, prom was the icing on the cake of a wonderful senior year.

“My favorite part of senior year is seeing my friends getting ready for the next step in their lives,” she said. “I love watching the people I grew up with reaching their goals and transitioning to the next chapter.”

Cavanh and Porter have their own transitions ahead.

“Currently, my plans are to attend Palomar, then transfer to a university to study visual communications or advertising-marketing,” Cavanh said.

Porter’s future plans align with her school involvement.

“I enlisted in the Army last October and will be shipping out this summer to begin my service. I have the MOS of 68c, or practical nursing specialist,” Porter said.

Camp Pendleton gets a Lyft

Cpl. Dylan Chagnon
Marine Corps Installations West –
Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton

In collaboration with Marine Corps Community Services, rideshare company Lyft is introducing a new program to increase access to transportation for individuals on Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton, California.

The program, “Base Mode,” creates a special category for individuals requesting rides into and out of the base, connecting them to drivers with access on and off the installation.

“We’re really excited to give our military members and their families a very convenient and economic method of transportation,” Hao Meng, the San Diego market manager of Lyft, said. “We’re always looking to grow our relationship with military and veteran organizations and are happy to provide transportation services.”

Lyft is under a one-year test contract with MCCS, serving as a trial run to develop an official transportation contract with the company.

“This program is meant to provide an additional opportunity for service members, retirees and their families.” Roberto Chavez, the business manager of services and vending for MCCS Camp Pendleton, said. “A lot of Marines are here for (temporary additional duties) or schooling and may not have a privately owned vehicle, so anytime we can offer a service to the Marines and sailors, it is a good thing for us.”

Camp Pendleton is the first Marine Corps installation to receive this program after it has showed promise on other installations, such as Fort George G. Meade in Maryland, with the end goal of providing convenient and affordable transportation to service members.

“We want to unlock opportunities for Marines to have access to get around the base and the region,” Maj. Brandon Newell, the chair for mobility transformation at Marine Corps Installations Command, said. “We are looking for means (of transportation) that are smarter, cheaper and more efficient for all of our personnel.”

The program was officially launched on the Lyft mobile app, May 18.

For more information about the program, visit <http://www.mccscs.com/lyft>.

Grants will put mobile data computers in Cal Fire rigs

SAN DIEGO – In an action that will improve communications and awareness for first responders during wildfires and other natural disasters, the San Diego County Board of Supervisors, May 15, accepted two grants totaling $164,500 for the installation of 70 mobile data computers on Cal Fire firefighting rigs in the backcountry.

The donations provided by the San Diego Fire-Rescue Foundation and the San Diego Regional Fire Foundation were made possible by San Diego Gas & Electric and will be instrumental in protecting the region and its communities from future fires.

Mobile data computers are an instrumental dispatch tool used by the Fire Authority to provide navigation, display pre-plans identifying potential hazards and a way to communicate with dispatchers in realtime during an emergency, further enhancing situational awareness.

“One of our goals is to make San Diego the most natural-disaster resilient region in the nation,” Supervisor Ron Roberts said. “Over the past decade, the board has collaborated with local agencies, SDG&E and nonprofit foundations to improve wildland fire prevention and response efforts. Today, our region’s wildfire preparedness is unrivaled.”

Partnering with SDG&E, the San Diego Fire-Rescue Foundation and the San Diego Regional Fire Foundation, the donation is set to provide new mobile data computers, further upgrading the tools that the region’s first responders have to serve rural communities.

“In San Diego County, we live with the year-round threat of wildfires, so these donations are instrumental to our brothers and sisters who respond to calls every day,” Chief Tony Mecham, San Diego County fire chief, said. “We know that partnerships like this are truly making an impact when we can measurably reduce response times and fire damage to private properties.”

San Diego Gas & Electric

provided a $131,600 grant to the San Diego Fire-Rescue Foundation and another $32,000 grant to the San Diego Regional Fire Foundation to cover the total cost of the computers on unequipped county fire rigs, benefiting residents countywide.

“It was not that long ago when our hard-working first responders were using nothing more than a paper map and radios to pinpoint locations of emergencies. Now, using MDCs, our firefighters are equipped with navigation and real-time communications with dispatchers further enhancing situational awareness and improving response times,” Scott Drury, president of SDG&E, said. “This partnership is making a regional impact by changing the way firefighters respond to emergencies and protecting our communities.”

To date, SDG&E has donated more than $5 million of shareholder dollars through its SAFE San Diego initiative – a program that provides funds to fire agencies, fire safe councils, Community Emergency Response Teams and other organizations that educates the public about fire prevention, encourages emergency preparedness, carries out response and recovery and strives for resiliency in the face of disaster.

“This is collaboration at its finest and this new equipment will create a safer environment for our firefighting heroes every day,” Wendy Robinson, executive director of the San Diego Fire-Rescue Foundation, said.

At the San Diego Regional Fire Foundation, Executive Director Joan Jones said, “We have made it our mission to ensure our first responders have the equipment and training they need to protect our region, and these grants are putting us one step closer to a more resilient community.”

Fallbrook Regional Health District boosting job growth

FALLBROOK – The Fallbrook Regional Health District began reviewing dozens of proposals bidding on work for help in the demolition and renovation work for the new $1.8 million Fallbrook Regional Wellness Center at 1636 E. Mission Road.

The 8,000 square foot former church facility spreads out across 4.6 acres, and both the CEO and district board envision the facility to be renovated into an interactive, indoor-outdoor facility designed to build healthy families through science-based approaches.

Like the model site, Olivewood Gardens and Learning Center in National City, visitors will participate in organic gardening and cooking classes, as well as other programs through the new ‘Blue Zones’ concept of creating a longevity hot spot in Fallbrook.

“The Fallbrook Regional

Wellness Center demolition and renovation is just the beginning of realizing our dream for the community to create longer, healthier lives,” said Bobbi Palmer, CEO of the Fallbrook Regional Health District. “Job growth and creation comes first and we’re prioritizing local jobs for local people.”

The Fallbrook Regional Health District began issuing Requests for Proposals April 23 to assist in the demolition and renovation of the property. The district is actively pursuing proposals from more than three dozen architects, contractors and engineers in and around San Diego County. Learn more about the construction Requests for Proposals at www.fallbrookhealth.org.

After the district board of directors finalizes the construction selections, work on the site will kick off with a ceremonial first shovel of dirt being turned over this summer. The district anticipates a soft opening by the end of the year and a grand opening after the New Year.

“We cannot wait to put some deserving architects, contractors and engineers to work for our community,” Palmer said. “It’s the start of big things for the health and well-being of our neighbors.”

The Fallbrook Regional Health District is a special district covering affordable community health needs for the low- and fixed-income residents of Bonsall, De Luz, Fallbrook and Rainbow. The roughly $1.6 million collected in voter-approved taxes supports more than $850,000 annually in full spectrum community health services addressing top health disparities, including behavioral health, cancer, diabetes, heart disease and stroke.

THREE MEET RECORDS BROKEN AT 47TH ANNUAL DON DORNAN GAMES

FALLBROOK – The Don Dornan Games is a long-standing Fallbrook tradition. The track meet began 47 years ago when Mr. Dornan, a teacher at Fallbrook Street School, organized the meet as a year-end celebration of the P.E. program and a way to showcase outstanding athletes.

This year’s event featured fourth through sixth grade student-athletes from all of Fallbrook Union Elementary School District’s elementary schools. There were over 70 volunteers, the most ever, with more than half of them being Marines from Camp Pendleton.

Three new meet records were set as the students boldly accepted Don Dornan’s challenge of each athlete doing their best, whether running, jumping, throwing or tugging. Maie Ellis was awarded the Marciano Gonzales Memorial Sportsmanship Trophy.

Fallbrook’s Fellmann will be back in pit at Indy 500

Dave Aranda-Richards
Special to the Village News

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. – Kaspar Fellmann of Fallbrook will be the tire specialist for the A.J. Foyt Racing team’s car No. 33 when Chris Hemsworth, the hammer-wielding Asgardian in the “Avengers,” raises the white flag Sunday, May 27, to start the 102nd running of the Indianapolis 500. More than 300,000 spectators will be in attendance at Indianapolis Motor Speedway for the “Greatest Spectacle in Racing,” which will be televised live on ABC beginning at 9 a.m. Fellmann, who will be marking his 24th year at the “Brickyard,” is excited to have 27-year-old Australian James Davison in the driver’s seat. “James crashed into the wall (May 17) going 260 miles per hour at the trials, but fortunately was not hurt,” said Fellmann. “We stayed up all night rebuilding the car, and he impressed all by bringing us from last place to the nineteenth starting position the next day. “We have won more classics than any other team – four – and feel very optimistic with James and this car,” continued Fellmann. “Believe me, we hate losing more than we like winning.” Fellmann said the Indy 500 is an amazing race. “This is the fastest race in the world,” Fellmann said. “Just imagine a five-lane freeway from Main and Fallbrook streets to Fisherman’s Wharf in San Francisco with 33 of the world’s fastest cars racing to get there in less than two hours. That is an easy trip compared to racing in a two-mile oval always drifting left for 250 laps.” Fellmann’s whirlwind schedule had him in Lexington, Ohio, – where his team won the Mid-Ohio Sports Car race May 5 – and returning to Fallbrook for one day before leaving for Indy, where he supervised the building of the team’s garage. “After Indy, I will be in fabulous Fallbrook (May 30) when my fiancée, America Wilson, and our friends will hit Mariscos El Pacifico for their incredible shrimp dishes,” Fellmann said. “Then I repack and leave the next day for Paris and the 24 Hours of Le Mans race. My family, in my home country of Switzerland, is having a family reunion on my day off in Paris, and I’ll be there.” Fellmann is hoping the people of Fallbrook will back his team at the Indy 500. “Tell all my fellow villagers to root number 33 to victory,” Fellmann said.

Kaspar Fellmann of Fallbrook, right, and driver James Davison are looking forward to competing in the Indianapolis 500 Sunday, May 27. Fellmann is a tire specialist for the A.J. Foyt Racing team’s car No. 33.

Hughes wins Demo Cross heat race

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

Weston Hughes won his Demo Cross heat race, April 28, at Perris Auto Speedway. The 2006 Fallbrook High School graduate had a winning time of 2:19.12 in the six-lap heat race. “Heat race is better than no win,” Hughes said, who did not finish the main event. The race was also the first for Hughes in the 1985 Jeep Grand Cherokee he drove. Hughes was in the second Demo Cross heat race. He started the race on the pole and took the initial lead. Fallbrook driver Ryan Welfle was second after one lap, and Norco’s Earl Cox was third. Welfle would finish fourth, while Cox would take the checkered flag in third place. Homeland driver Garrett McCourt moved into second during the fifth lap and finished immediately behind Hughes. Hughes’ winning time was 11 seconds faster than that of the other heat race which included his father, Tod, and was won by Kyle Cox. Demo Cross is similar to demolition derby in that drivers are allowed to take each other out. It differs in that it is run on an oval track, which at Perris means half-mile laps, and that the race ends when the remaining drivers complete a specified number of laps rather than when only one car is still running. A driver cannot back up to hit another driver, whereas a Demo Cross driver can run in reverse if they are unable to move the car forward, but it must be in the same direction as the other cars. Another difference between Demo Cross and demolition derby is that prior to the Demo Cross main event, track officials place obstacles such as tires, boats and water barrels on the track. Debris from cars along with inoperable cars themselves add to the original obstacles, and while a red flag may be thrown to stop the race for safety purposes, there are no yellow flag cautions to remove debris or inoperable cars. McCourt began the 22-car main event on the outside of the front row along pole sitter Austin Kinnane of Riverside. Hughes started on the outside of the second row. After the first lap, McCourt held the lead and Hughes was in second. “I was chasing Garrett,” Hughes said. Hughes also had to pass lapped cars, and during one maneuver, the Cherokee made contact with a jetski on the track. “The lapper was around me when I hit that ski,” Hughes said. That contact didn’t stop Hughes. “I hit the ski and I still was holding second,” he said. A red flag was thrown on the 10th lap. On the restart Hughes was seeking to pass McCourt but stopped in turn three. “I went to get around him, and I tapped the wall,” Hughes said. Kinnane took the lead from McCourt in the 19th lap and won the race with McCourt finishing second. Only six cars finished the race. Tod Hughes was given eighth place, Weston Hughes had 11th-place status, and Welfle took 12th place. Hughes also competed in the Trailer Figure 8 race. The Trailer Figure 8 event does not have heat races, and Hughes began the competition on the pole. He took the lead, but the rules require the trailer to stay attached to the car, and when Hughes’ trailer became disconnected, he was disqualified. “It was doing so well,” Hughes said. Perris Auto Speedway allows drivers to borrow trailers for the races, and Hughes used one of those. “It’s cool that they supply you with a trailer,” he said. Hughes made his racing debut with motorcycles in 2014 and first raced at Perris Auto Speedway, June 6, 2015. He initially drove a 1984 Ford Taurus, which was one of the smallest Night of Destruction vehicles, for his Perris races and brought out his 1992 Jeep Grand Cherokee in 2016. Tod Hughes first raced at Perris, March 18, 2017, in a Lincoln Town Car which had been donated by Fallbrook Taxi. Weston Hughes put his father in the 1992 Jeep Grand Cherokee for the April 28 races, which were the first Night of Destruction events at Perris Auto Speedway in 2018 due to the scheduled March 17 races being rained out and gave the 1985 Grand Cherokee a race-day test on the track. “I couldn’t be happier with how it turned out,” Hughes said.

Warriors reach second round of boys lacrosse playoffs

Joe Naiman
Village News Correspondent

Fallbrook High School’s boys lacrosse team not only reached the CIF playoffs for the first time since 2015 but also advanced to the second round of this year’s post-season. “It’s definitely something we’re proud of,” said Fallbrook coach Brian Kimmell. “We definitely had a successful season.” The Warriors opened their post-season May 9 with a 17-4 victory over San Dieguito Academy. Canyon Crest ended Fallbrook’s 2018 competition with a 10-3 victory May 12 on the Ravens’ field. “I was really proud of our effort,” Kimmell said. The Warriors finished the regular season with a 13-5 record, including a 2-3 mark in Valley League play. The league record placed Fallbrook fourth among the league’s six teams. “We’ll take it,” Kimmell said of fourth place. “We’ve got two of the Division I teams in our league.” One of those is Valley Center, whose April 16 home game against Fallbrook was a 12-10 Jaguars victory. A Fallbrook goal with a minute remaining created a 10-10 score before Valley Center scored twice. “That may have been one of our best games of the year,” Kimmell said. San Marcos is the other Valley

League team which is in Division I for playoff purposes; the Knights won a 17-2 match April 25 at Fallbrook. The Warriors’ only league loss to a Division II team was a 9-7 home defeat April 23 against El Camino. “We were really close,” Kimmell said. Last year’s league match between the Warriors and Wildcats was a 14-7 El Camino win. “We performed against them much better than we had in the past,” Kimmell said. El Camino and Fallbrook had a non-league game April 4 at El Camino which ended as a 9-4 Wildcats victory. The non-league 2017 game had a 17-4 final score in El Camino’s favor. The Wildcats won 9-3 and 8-2 games in 2016. The four Valley League teams in 2015 had two league games against each other; Fallbrook captured 5-2 and 7-6 triumphs against the Wildcats. Valley Center prevailed by a 19-1 score in the Jaguars’ 2017 game against Fallbrook and won by a 19-3 margin in 2016. The Jaguars accounted for Fallbrook’s only two league losses in 2015, winning 20-8 and 12-5 matches. Last year the Warriors had an 8-8 overall season record and were seeded 13th among Division II teams. The 12 top seeded Division II teams compete in the CIF playoffs, so the Warriors missed the 2017 post-season by one seed. “That was a good reminder this year,” Kimmell said. This year the Warriors were given the seventh seed among Division II teams. “Making the playoffs was our goal,” Kimmell said. “We were able to accomplish it.” The 2015 season, in which Fallbrook reached the CIF Division II championship game, constituted the only other invitation to the playoffs in the program’s history. Other than the three league losses and the non-league loss to El Camino, Fallbrook’s only regular-season defeat of 2018 was against San Diego Academy, who won a 10-9 game March 13 in Encinitas. In the playoff match Fallbrook took a 9-4 halftime lead against the Mustangs. “We held them scoreless the second half,” Kimmell said. Kimmell called up some of his junior varsity players for the post-season, and the large lead allowed them to obtain varsity experience. “That was nice to be able to get them in there,” Kimmell said. The Warriors had 25 players on their playoff roster including the junior varsity call-ups, and also including junior Hunter Stites, who was injured and was not on the field during the post-season. “It was really nice for the boys,” Kimmell said of the win over San Dieguito. “Getting that kind of performance in the playoffs made the loss to Canyon Crest a little easier.” Canyon Crest was seeded second in the Division II playoffs. “It was a close game earlier on,” Kimmell said. During the early part of the game the Warriors also had senior Michael Ponce, who was injured in the second quarter and missed the remainder of the game. The Ravens were too skilled for the Warriors to get away with the mistakes Fallbrook made. “They capitalized on those mistakes. We made a couple too many,” Kimmell said.

Temecula Valley Southern California Wine Country releases tribute video celebrating 50th anniversary

Annette Brown
VISIT TEMECULA VALLEY

Temecula Valley Southern California Wine Country recently wrapped up another successful Grape Day, hosted by the Temecula Valley Winegrowers Association and attended by winemakers and growers across the U.S. Now in its 35th year, the one-day conference features in-depth seminars on the latest advancements in enology and viticulture. This year's event also unveiled a celebratory 50th anniversary video, featuring vintage photographs of the region's pioneers and the land as it was being cultivated and built into the successful destination it is today.

“As we showed the video for the first time to our local winemakers and visiting industry peers, I had multiple people tell me they got goosebumps,” TVWA Executive Director Krista Chaich said. “Building on the theme of the ‘People, Passion and Perseverance,’ of our 50th anniversary programs, it’s a moving look at where we have come from and everything that we have accomplished over a half-century. I know I am not alone in being immensely proud of this region and can’t wait to unveil additional videos that tell our story throughout the year.”

Since 2015, the TVWA has annually inducted one influential figure into the Wine Country Hall of Fame. This year's inductee was Ely Reeves Callaway, Jr. Ely Callaway's grandson, Pete Callaway, received the honor on behalf of his grandfather who died in 2001.

In introducing the young Callaway and the award, fellow wine country pioneer, Phil Bailly, owner of Bailly Winery, said, "In 1974, Ely Callaway established the first winery in the Temecula Valley and produced the first commercial wine made in the Temecula Valley from Temecula Valley grapes. His extraordinary dedication to producing wines of the highest quality brought acclaim and respect to the region. In addition, his creative merchandising of Callaway wines and the region resulted in the Temecula Valley being recognized far beyond what would have been expected in a region so young and small."

Take a magical flight over picturesque wine country

TEMECULA – Guests of the Temecula Valley Balloon & Wine Festival, June 1-3, are invited to take the most picturesque flight over Southern California Wine Country in a hot air balloon. Be whisked over the pristine landscape of Lake Skinner in a corner 14,000 acres of a multi-species reserve. Outside of the preserve, rolling hills of vineyards will fill the vista – a protected agricultural wine district.

The flight, also, gives the passengers something they can't get any other day of the week – a chance to fly with 40 other balloons. It is a photographer's dream, the perfect setting for proposals and the ultimate "check" to a bucket list wish.

Balloon flights from the festival are scheduled approximately 6:30 a.m., weather permitting, Saturday and Sunday of the event. Occasionally cloud cover may force the balloons to launch off-site and at times it provides another unique experience of landing at the festival.

Festival guests can catch a flight for $225 which includes admission, a Champagne, juice or water toast, souvenir certificate, a three-hour adventure and a 45-60-minute flight. Book these flights in advance online at www.hotairtours.com or by calling (800) 965-2122.

For guests who want to “try” their wings without letting go of terra firma, the festival offers free tethered rides Saturday and Sunday morning after the launch. These balloon rides are about 10 minutes long and are free, thanks to a sponsorship from Toyota.

Late sleepers and families often enjoy the close-up view that the Friday and Saturday evening balloon glow offers. The balloon spectacular starts at sunset or approximately 8:30 p.m., as up to a dozen balloons inflate in the wine gardens but remain tethered to the ground. As the colors fade from the evening sunset, the balloons begin their “glow” by simultaneously igniting the burners. Placed up against a black velvet sky, the luminous orbs of colorful canopies appear to dance to the beat of selected music. A crowd favorite, the balloon glow highlight occurs when the entire crowd shouts their plea of “glow” and the entire field alights with color.

Sponsored by Riverside County Economic Development Agency, Southern California Toyota Dealers and the city of Temecula, the event is held annually at Lake Skinner Recreation area in wine country. For more information, contact the festival at (951) 676-6713 or visit the website at www.tvbwf.com.
